REBELS TRAP LOYALISTS IN HILLS AROUND SANTANDER

Insurgents Say 25,000 Government Soldiers, Unaware That Seaport Has Surrendered, Have Been Bottled Up.

VICTORS FORMALLY ENTER THE CITY

British Woman Refugee, Picked Up at Sea, Declares Anarchists Pillaged Town and Shot Citizens Before Capitulation.

By the Associated Press.

HENDAYE, French-Spanish Border, Aug. 26.—Spanish insurgent columns moved into Santander today in formal occupation of the Government's last important city on the Northwestern Spanish coast.

The city was hung with the red and gold flags of the insurgents. The streets were jammed with cheering people.

Formal occupation came at 11:45 a. m.

Insurgent sources said that half of the Government's defeated army of some 50,000 was caught in a 15-mile-square trap in the rolling country southeast of Santander, still unaware that the city had surrendered yesterday.

Tales of thirst and hunger, of pillage and shooting by anarchist terrorists in the streets reached the French shores of the Bay of Biscay. Fleeing men, women and children streamed into France on any craft that could carry them over the water. The sea was the only exit from Santander. And even there Gen. Francisco Franco's navy was on patrol. Hundreds of refugees took to rowboats, using sheets for sails and boards for oars, to make their escape.

Government Army Encircled.

While Franco's advance guard waited for the command to occupy Santander, supporting columns occupied Ramales and Ampuero to complete encirclement of those parts of the Government army that had not already surrendered or fled to the west before the insurgents blocked the route to Oviedo Province.

Fifteen thousand Government militiamen had surrendered in Santander, insurgent headquarters said. They bowed to demands for capitulation made by members of the Santander civil guard, civilian insurgent sympathizers and even a part of the city's police yesterday when the first insurgent spearhead was shoved against the city's western edge.

Leaders of the revolt within Santander sent envoys with a white flag to the insurgent forces. They carried a letter asking insurgents to send troops into the city as soon as possible to check looting and other lawlessness.

Gen. Fidel Davila, Franco's aid for the Santander drive, pushed his lines east and west of Santander, an official communique said, leaving the capital under control of a brigade of Navarre Requetes (Carlists) and police troops until the Italian Black Arrow brigade could join the march into the city. The Black Arrows were marching west from Santona.

The communique called yesterday's operations a "successful conclusion" to the Santander campaign, "leaving the enemy without recourse except to submit to discreet surrender."

Castilians Take Ramales.

Ramales, about 25 miles southeast of Santander and a corner of the quadrangular trap around the thousands of Government soldiers, fell before an attack of a force of Castilians.

Santander's stubborn defenders in the hill country, bordered by lines between the provincial capital, Laredo, on the coast to Santander's east, Ramales to the southeast and Villacarriedo to the south, were at the mercy of "mop-up" units of Franco's army of 100,000 men.

Slightly southwest of Santander the insurgents marched toward the sea through a network of roads around Revilla, the communique added, and "isolated and dislodged" Government bands still operating in the vicinity of Astillero, east of Revilla.

On the coast, between Santander and Laredo, the insurgents were drawing a net around the enemy, pushing the Government militiamen to a promontory between the

BENTON LAW COLLEGE TO SUSPEND SEPT. 1

Night School in Existence for 40 Years; Has Awarded Diplomas to 1000.

Benton College of Law, night school at 3630 Grandel square, which has given law diplomas to more than 1000 graduates since it was established in 1896, will suspend Sept. 1, it was announced today by George L. Corliss, dean.

In a letter sent to members of the school's faculty, Dean Corliss said that, at the age of 64, he found it necessary to give up night work. He is chief owner of the school, an unendowed private institution. The first school in St. Louis to give night instruction in the law, it has now two competitors in this field.

Former Circuit Judge Eugene McQuillin, John B. Edwards and William H. Barnes are the senior members of the faculty, all having lectured to the Benton classes more than 25 years. Former Circuit Judges Robert W. Hall and Frank Landwehr, graduates of the school, were lecturers there last year, as were John C. Vogel, Frank B. Coleman, Walter L. Metcalfe, Edwin C. Luedde, Richard F. Ralph, Glen Storckman, Byron Babbitt, William H. Armstrong, Cullen Coil, Albert Cunliff and George S. Roudebush.

The graduates include Circuit Judges Harry F. Russell and Robert J. Kirkwood, former Judges Clyde C. Beck and Harry Rosskopf, Walter W. Smith, president of the First National Bank, Alfred Fairbank, vice-president of the Boatmen's Bank, and the late William Baer, widely known criminal lawyer.

Dean Corliss said his plans for the future had not been made. He started his night law classes in Central Y. M. C. A. Building, then at Grand boulevard and Franklin avenue, and removed in 1918 to a former residence on Delmar boulevard, now on Grandel square.

ITALIANS TAKE ALL CREDIT FOR FALL OF SANTANDER

Fascist Press Says Men Fighting for Franco Will Be Sent to Another Front.

By the Associated Press.

ROME, Aug. 26. — Italy's press gave full credit for the fall of Spanish Santander today to the Italians fighting with the insurgent General, Francisco Franco, and said the men now would be thrown in another direction for a "decisive advance."

Informed Fascists predicted the Italians, who form the Black Arrow brigade of Franco's forces, would remain in Spain until the insurgents are victorious everywhere.

Said La Tribuna: "The victory (at Santander) is essentially and typically Italian."

Blackshirts and members of Fascist youth organizations were summoned to their headquarters last night to listen to radio broadcasts telling of the insurgent victory. Orchestras in cafes played Fascist hymns.

RAIL UNIONS WAIT ON U.S. MEDIATORS TO AVERT STRIKE

Heads of Five Organizations Say They Will Take No Action Pending Federal Inquiry.

Trainmen's Leader Had Announced It Previously—Road Officers Accept Offer of Arbitration.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—Presidents of five railroads operating labor unions announced today their organizations would take no action regarding a threatened nationwide strike pending peace moves by the National Mediation Board. The railroads already had agreed to the board's offer of mediation.

In a joint statement, the union leaders, representing 350,000 employes, said:

"The National Mediation Board has taken jurisdiction of the dispute and has advised it will be prepared to begin mediation proceedings in Chicago Saturday. Pending the outcome of the mediation, further action by the organizations (brotherhoods) will be held in abeyance."

The unions' decision was announced after a day's discussion of what steps should be taken following rejection of their demands for a 20 per cent wage increase.

While the discussions were in progress, A. F. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, announced at Cleveland the strike would start Labor day, Sept. 6. His colleagues here denied this, and Whitney later said the mediation offer was "the reason the committee at Chicago did not set the strike date they had agreed on.".

The joint statement was signed by the chief executives of the five operating unions, the conductors, engineers, firemen, switchmen and trainmen. A representative of Whitney signed for his brotherhood.

In offering its services to the disputants, the National Mediation Board directed Dr. William M. Leirerson, one of its members, to begin the proceedings here Saturday if the railroads and the unions accept the board's offer. Acceptance of its services by both parties was necessary, otherwise the board would have had to await a request for mediation from one party or the other.

Chairman H. A. Enochs of the Carriers' Conference Committee, composed of spokesmen for 86 railroads, announced he had sent a telegram to the board that said in part: "The proffer of your services is accepted."

The National Mediation Board, failing to arbitrate the dispute, may request the President to create an emergency arbitration committee which must report within 30 days. Neither side may take action until 30 days have elapsed after its decision.

'SPOT' REAGAN IS DENIED MURDER APPEAL REHEARING

Supreme Court Refuses Application of St. Louisan, Serving 15-Year Sentence.

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 26. — John J. (Spot) Reagan, who is serving a 15-year sentence for the murder of Clifford Appler, was denied a rehearing of his appeal today by the Missouri Supreme Court. Reagan has been at the Jefferson City Penitentiary since June 29.

He shot and killed Appler May 11, 1933, in an alley near Reagan's home at 4253 Maryland avenue, St Louis. The shooting occurred after Reagan had ordered Appler and two youths to stop playing ball in a vacant lot next to his home.

Reagan, former professional bondsman and saloonkeeper, fled from St. Louis after the shooting and was not arrested until two years later, when detectives found him in Kansas City.

HUNGARY SOON TO BEGIN PAYING U. S. POST-WAR DEBT

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26. — The White House announced today that the Government of Hungary had notified the United States it would begin payments soon on its post-war debt to this country.

Stephen T. Early, presidential secretary, said the payments, which would be small, would be on money lent to Hungary to purchase flour to feed those in need in that country after the end of the war.

Calling newspapermen to his office while a cabinet session was on, Early said he had some news that might be looked upon as a "silver lining" in the dark clouds hovering over Europe and the Far East.

GUFFEY SPOKE ONLY FOR SELF, FARLEY ASSERTS

Democratic Chairman, at First Press Conference in Eight Months, Again Denies Reprisals.

"NEVER INTERFERES" IN PRIMARY RACES

However He Intimates He Is Relying on People to Chastise Those Who Opposed Court Scheme.

A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26. — In the name of the Administration, James A. Farley, Postmaster-General and Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, late yesterday repudiated responsibility for the recent radio address in which Senator Joseph F. Guffey sought to read out of the party such opponents of the President's Supreme Court bill as Senators Wheeler, Burke and O'Mahoney. As this was the first press conference the Postmaster-General had held in eight months, surmises spread that he called it in part for the purpose of uttering the above disclaimer.

The chief engineer of the Roosevelt political machine repeated the view expressed by himself in a radio talk at the same hour as Guffey's onslaught—namely, that neither the administration nor the Democratic National Committee would seek reprisals against White House adversaries in Senate or House. As for the committee, he declared that it never interferes in primary fights, and that, once a Democratic candidate is nominated, it is bound to give him utmost support. He added this practical maxim: "You never get anywhere in politics trying to get even."

Guffey's White House Visit.

Whether the Postmaster-General spoke by direct authority of the President could not be learned. It was recalled that Senator Guffey was a White House visitor a few hours before he spoke over the radio, but that Roosevelt, at Tuesday's press conference, affirmed he had not read the Pennsylvanian's address. Political wiseacres here declare that Friday night's simultaneous statement of opposite policies, by men close to the presidential ear, was admirably calculated to keep Roosevelt's antagonists on the uneasy seat.

"Senator Guffey's speech," said Farley in answer to a question, "did not represent the administration's policy. Joe spoke only for himself. As a Senator, he has a right to say whatever he sees fit. It isn't for me to criticise anything a Senator says. It isn't down my alley."

Denies Arranging Time.

Reminded of Senator Wheeler's charge on the floor of the Senate that Guffey's "time" had been arranged by the Democratic National Committee, Farley replied that neither he himself, nor, to his knowledge, any member of the committee, had anything to do with the matter.

But if the administration does not directly seek to punish the President's enemies, the Postmaster-General intimated broadly that it is relying on the people to chastise them.

"In my opinion," said the cabinet officer, "the Senators and Representatives who opposed the Roosevelt program are going to have a lot of difficulty explaining to the voters. During the last three months I have visited every state east of the Mississippi, with the exception of Florida and South Carolina. I have talked with business men, farmers and laborers. They are in favor of the Roosevelt policies through and through. They don't even care what they are.

"Don't Be Foolish."

"The court fight never reflected upon the President's popularity and voting strength, and did not represent the sentiment of the people. I am convinced that if an election were held tomorrow, he would carry as many states, by as large a majority, as in 1936.

In the course of his remarks, Farley predicted that no third party, "which would be effective," will make an appearance in the 1940 campaign, and referred to the White House all inquiries as to whether Roosevelt would run for a third time. Asked whether the President could get the nomination if he wanted it, the Democratic "boss" replied enigmatically: "Don't be foolish!"

Farley also declared that, "in my own time and way," he would take an active part in the current primary battle in New York City. "How could I keep out?" he de-

BAR ON BOND SALE TO BE CARRIED TO SUPREME COURT

ATTORNEY-GENERAL TO DRAFT PETITION

He Wants Kansas City Private Buyers to Post Bond to Protect State From Loss in Litigation.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 26—Gov. Stark and other members of the State Board of Fund Commissioners decided today to apply to the Supreme Court for a writ of prohibition against Circuit Judge Nike Sevier of Cole County whose temporary restraining order bars the board from accepting the bid of St. Louis banks and bond firms for the $3,000,000 of State building bonds sold privately last month to a Kansas City bond firm.

Attorney-General Roy McKittrick, a member of the board, said he would prepare the application for the writ of prohibition as quickly as possible, and would file it, possibly, late today. Under the Supreme Court's rules a stop order will be issued immediately, restraining both sides of the controversy from further action, and Judge Sevier will have five days in which to file his answer to the application.

Wants Bond Posted.

The Supreme Court may then issue a provisional writ of prohibition, pending argument on the question of whether an absolute writ should be issued. The court might, in issuing a provisional writ, require bond to be furnished. McKittrick said he would endeavor to compel Baum, Bernheimer & Co., the Kansas City bond firm which bought the bonds at private sale, to post a bond which would protect the State against any loss if the litigation should end in favor of the State, but after the St. Louis bid had been withdrawn.

The St. Louis syndicate offered the State a premium of $150,500 for the $3,000,000 in bonds, or $50,500 more than was offered by Baum, Bernheimer & Co. in the private sale. When the St. Louis offer was submitted, last Saturday, Baum, Bernheimer & Co. filed the injunction suit under which Judge Sevier issued his temporary restraining order.

To Obey Sevier's Injunction.

Members of the Board of Fund Commissioners decided at their meeting today to obey Judge Sevier's order, although McKittrick does not believe the Circuit Court may legally enjoin the Fund Board. In the State's application for a writ of prohibition, the principal contention will be that the Circuit Court is without jurisdiction to issue any such restraining order.

I. A. Long, representing the St. Louis syndicate, was at the Capitol but declined to say whether its offer would be withdrawn if not acted on before tomorrow noon. This was one of the stipulations of the syndicate's offer.

Also present during the conference, but not participating in it, was M. L. Friedman of Kansas City, attorney for Baum, Bernheimer & Co. Both Friedman and Long were told by Gov. Stark that sale of the bonds would not be considered at the meeting because of Judge Sevier's restraining order.

When permission to speak at the meeting was refused him, Friedman mar gave reporters a long statement contending that the private sale contract negotiated by Baum, Bernheimer & Co. was "legal and valid." Its repudiation, he said, would be "a proclamation that any contract entered into by the State is lacking in virtues—integrity and solemnity."

Details of the injunction suit of Baum, Bernheimer & Co., which Judge Sevier reinstated yesterday after once throwing it out of court because of the secrecy with which Attorney Friedman proceeded, became available today when copies of the petition were served on the four members of the Board of Fund Commissioners.

The suit alleges that the Baum, Bernheimer & Co. agreement with the State for private purchase of the bonds is valid and cannot be repudiated in favor of any other bid for the bonds. The petition alleges that the Board of Fund Commissioners is "threatening" to sell the bonds to the St. Louis syndicate, and that Baum, Bernheimer & Co. has no other remedy to protect its rights except the injunction suit.

BRITISH AMBASSADOR SHOT BY JAPANESE FLYERS

Gravely Wounded When Two Planes Machine Gun and Bomb His Car, Flying Union Jack, 50 Miles From Shanghai.

BRITAIN TO DEAL APPROPRIATELY WITH JAPAN

Government Promises Action as Soon as It Receives Further Details of Attack.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—Leaders of the British Government, shocked by the wounding of the British Ambassador to China by Japanese flyers, tonight promised "appropriate action with the Japanese Government."

The foreign office received regular reports on the condition of Sir Hughe Knatchbull-Hugessen, his majesty's envoy plenipotentiary, and Anthony Eden, the Foreign Secretary, considered what the "appropriate action" might be.

Eden is contemplating possible immediate steps in protest, but he may delay action until he establishes whether the Japanese planes dived low enough for the pilots to recognize the British flag on the Ambassador's car, which was machine-gunned and bombed.

King George VI was given every report on the incident.

Foreign Office Statement.

The Foreign Office issued a communique stating:

"His Majesty's Government received the news of the shooting of His Majesty's Ambassador to China with the deepest concern.

"According to their information, the Ambassador's car, flying the Union Jack, was fired on with a machine gun and bombed about 2:30 p. m. today by two Japanese aeroplanes.

"The Ambassador was very seriously wounded and now is in a hospital in Shanghai. The British military attache and the financial SHANGHAI, Aug. 26. — Sir Hughe Knatchbull-Hugessen, the British Ambassador to China, was shot and gravely wounded in an attack by two Japanese warplanes today as he was motoring from Nanking to Shanghai. The Ambassador's party was traveling in two automobiles, both flying large Union Jacks.

Fifty miles from Shanghai two Japanese planes swooped down. The first sprayed the two cars with machine gun bullets. The second dropped bombs after the cars had stopped.

Lieutenant-Colonel W. A. Lovat-Fraser, military attache, was knocked unconscious by a bomb explosion when he alighted from his car, but was not wounded.

Given Blood Transfusions.

The Ambassador was hit at least twice, in the left side and stomach. An official British statement said there was no doubt the planes that attacked him were Japanese.

He was rushed to the country hospital in Shanghai's international settlement, where surgeons found a bullet had broken his back but left the spinal cord intact. They said his condition was grave and that he might not recover.

Soon after the Ambassador's arrival at the hospital he was given blood transfusions and appeared to rally somewhat. Doctors said it was impossible to extract the bullets tonight because of the patient's weakened condition.

Sir Hughe's chauffeur said the attacking plane flew so low that the Japanese ensign on its wings was clearly visible and that the flyer must have been able to see the British flags.

As soon as it was evident that the planes were chasing the automobiles the party stopped. The Ambassador was struck as he emerged from his car, to be met with a machine-gun blast.

On His Way to Discuss Peace.

Chinese and foreign diplomatic circles in Nanking received news of the affair with expressions of dismay. They understood Sir Hughe was on his way to Shanghai to discuss with Shigeru Kawagoe, the Japanese Ambassador, possibilities of ending the Shanghai hostilities by diplomatic agreement.

British embassy attaches said he also was anxious to survey arrangements for evacuating British

SHANGHAI, Aug. 26. — Chinese were holding their positions today all the way from Chapei in Northern Shanghai to the Yangtze River, 12 miles to the north. An official Japanese spokesman admitted the Japanese army "was experiencing some opposition" in its advance on Shanghai.

Japanese reports yesterday that the Chinese were retreating all parts of the front and were on the verge of withdrawal all the way from Chapei to the Yangtze were not borne out by foreign observers.

United States Marines, guarding the International Settlement border, reported Chinese positions in Chapei were unchanged.

The marines and other foreign observers said they saw Chinese in Chapei at noon today in large numbers. There was no indication that any withdrawal was planned.

The only Chinese retreat observed was from a two-mile area in Northeast Shanghai and that was only partial. Chinese sources said it was for strategic reasons.

Off Woosung, where Japan has been landing thousands of fresh troops, the Japanese were reported by their naval attache to have sunk the 500-ton Chinese survey vessel Chuao Jih with a naval shell.

Foreigners Barred From Area.

An Associated Press correspondent surveyed the countryside north of Shanghai this morning and found the Chinese dug in heavily over the entire area to within a few miles of Liuho. Japanese had reported they were sweeping everything before them in their southward advance from Liuho, Paoshan and Woosung, where they had landed heavy reinforcements.

It was impossible to reach Liuho as the whole area was under Chinese and Japanese aerial bombardments, indicating the Japanese were making a desperate effort to gain a beach head there and the Chinese were continuing their resistance.

The partial withdrawal of the Chinese troops from the Yangtzepoo and Hongkew sectors of the International Settlement north of Soochow Creek brought a measure of peace to that fire and shell-torn area. Japanese refused to permit any cilivians to enter.

Admiral Hasegawa issued a proclamation that foreigners as well as Chinese civilians would be prevented from returning to their wrecked property in the zone. He warned foreigners of the inadvisibility of returning on "account of the present danger"

The Japanese threat to subject the native city of Nantao, south of the International Settlement, to hostilities was repeated today. A spokesman said Chinese trench mortar fire from within the native city was causing the Japanese trouble and they might eradicate the Chinese positions without consideration for the hundreds of thousands of Chinese civilians there..

FIRST BIG HOLDING FIRM FILES UNDER NEW UTILITIES ACT

CUTS NUMBER OF MIDDLE CONCERNS

Under Plan, System's Electric Utilities Would Be Owned by One of Three Operating Companies.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26. — The American Water Works & Electric Co., moved yesterday to simplify its set-up, thus becoming the first big holding concern to accept a controversial section of the 1935 Utility Holding Company Act.

The section empowers the Securities and Exchange Commission to force utility concerns to integrate their systems, geographically, economically and financially.

Without waiting for the section to become effective Jan. 1, or for a decision on the constitutionality of the act, the $384,000,000 system filed with the commission a voluntary plan of reorganization.

The plan would eliminate a $75,000,000 sub-holding company, merge other companies, and in at least one case cut from three to one the number of intermediate companies between the parent holding company and an operating utility. The system operates in Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia, Maryland and Virginia.

Favorable Ruling Requested.

American Water Works asked the commission to rule that its plan meets the requirements of the 1935 law. Observers anticipated early approval after learning commission experts worked with the company in formulating the proposal. A hearing on the plan will be held Sept. 18.

Commission circles were pleased by the company's action. They recalled that American Water Works was one of the many utilities which challenged the act in the courts.

Dissolution of the West Penn Electric Co. is the major feature of the plan.

Other changes would eliminate intermediate control of the Monterery Utilites Corporation by the Monongahela Securities Co.; make the Monongahela West Penn Public Service Co. a direct subsidiary of the parent company; make the West Virginia Public Service Co. a subsidiary of Monongahela West Penn; and merge the South Penn Power Co. with its subsidiaries, the Ayr Township Electric Co., Licking Creek Township Electric Co., and the Todd Township Electric Co.

Simplification of Structure.

Present: American Water Works, West Penn Electric, West Penn Power, Monongahela West Penn, Monongahela Securities, Monterery Utilities.

Proposed: American Water Works, West Penn Power, Monterey Utilities.

After the reorganization, the system's electric utilities would be directly owned by one of three combination holding and operating companies — West Penn Power, Monongahela West Penn, and the Potomac Edison Co., all of which would be directly owned by American Water Works.

To finance the reorganization, American Water Works proposed to sell $40,000,000 worth of bonds and $7,000,000 of common stock to the public.

adviser, who were in the same car, were unhurt.

"His Majesty's Government are obtaining certain further information which they require. As soon as this information has been received, they will be in a position to take appropriate action with the Japanese Government."

The fact that King George's envoy was badly hurt in what appeared to the foreign office as "the wanton bombing of a civilian automobile when a state of war has not even been declared" seemed to authoritative sources to call for all the more severe reproach.

The wounding of the Ambassador also was regarded in the gravest possible light because the Japanese are fighting in a territory with which they officially are at peace.

Some authorities, however, after studying the tenor of the communique, suggested that Eden might be playing for time and unwilling to take any step which, at the present critical stage of the Chinese-Japanese imbroglio, might involve Great Britain in hostilities with Japan.

Silence hovers over the great shopping district of Hongkew, ordinarily the mecca of American women tourists seeking bargains in fine lingerie, linens and Oriental jewelry.

Since the series of bombings of Shaighai's famous traffic artery, Nanking road, the three largest hotels patronized by Americans have been closed. The $10,000,000 racetrack, the popular greyhound racing course and the Spanish Jai Alai playing courts are deserted.

The few restaurants still open have been forced to cut their menus to the slenderest basis because the city's gas supply has been off to prevent explosions.

Problem of Relief.

Although possessing woefully inadequate resources. International Relief Committees plunged into the overwhelming problem of alleviating the dangers of hunger and disease hovering over Shanghai.

There are at least half a million destitute war refugees roaming its streets, among them a sprinkling of foreigners.

Under the direction of W. H. Plant of Portland, Me., the Emergency Relief Committee broadcast a world-wide appeal for the war victims here and elsewhere in China. The most acute problem is to save the lives of these 500,000 refugees, hungry, homeless and penniless.

But there are another 500,000 who, although they have some resources, must be cared for before they, too, are thrown on relief. Most of them are being evacuated to the south on the fastest ships available. The Japanese have indicated a willingness to assure the safety of refugee ships passing their blockade.

Sanitation Non-Existant.

The Relief Committee already has established 450 concentration camps in sheltered sections, each housing from 100 to 15,000 refugees.

Sanitation is virtually non-existent and food is meager, creating an increasing danger of epidemics. Food rations, costing about two cents a day for each person, are a bowl of rice and cabbage gruel with an occasional trace of meat.

So far the only contributions have been about $100,000 and two truckloads of cabbage from the Japanese Consul General, Suemasa Okamoto, who said he wanted to assist Chinese and foreign "innocents" of the war. The Chinese, although on the verge of starvation, refused to touch the cabbage when they learned its source.

The committee arranged transportation for 15,000 Chinese to Ningpo and 70,000 others to South China. The cost of such mass evacuation, which has mounted above $185,000, has not yet been met by contributions. The committee, however, is continuing to spend, hoping for an answer to its appeal.

Chinese Unable to Help.

Neither the Chinese nor foreign municipalities are able to help materially. Their treasuries are overburdened already. Individuals, suffering from the stoppage of business and other losses, also are financially crippled.

Relief officials are accumulating a deficit, contending that the refugees must be protected for the welfare of the whole community. These unfortunates sit in their straw-shed camps, waiting for a fate no one can foretell.

Hastily thrown up timbers are being covered with straw wherever the hostilities permit. The sheds are the only equipment.

Only a semblance of medical aid can be maintained. The diseased and acutely needful are segregated. Others are wedged in as tightly as possible.

Jury Disagrees in Murder Trial.

MARSHALL, Ark., Aug. 26.—The case of Tim Reed, 29 years old, charged with first-degree murder for the fatal shooting of Jim Gilliam, preacher and deputy sheriff, ended in a mistrial yesterday when a Circuit Court jury deliberated more than 12 hours without reaching a verdict. Gilliam was killed last May when he sought to quell a disturbance at the Welcome Home schoolhouse.

JAPANESE COMMANDER ON SCOUTING TRIP IS KILLED BY SNIPERS

By the Associated Press.

TOKIO, Aug. 26.

THE Domei (Japanese) news agency reported today that Major-General Shigeo Fujii, commander-in-chief of the combined Japanese and Manchoukuo armies north of the Great Wall, had been killed in action by Chinese snipers.

Domei dispatches said that the Japanese advance had reached a "certain point" on the northeastern border of China. Gen. Fujii was killed while on a scouting mission.

Previous dispatches had variously reported that the column had penetrated far into China, was about to capture Kalgan or had already captured the key city 100 miles northwest of Peiping.

Gen. Fujii retired from the Japanese Army in 1930, but returned to active service during the Manchurian campaign in 1932. Vice-commander, later commander-in-chief, and mentor of the puppet state's forces since their beginning, Gen. Fujii had become known as the "Father of the Manchoukuan Army." He had directed at least 20 campaigns in Manchoukuo.

nationals from Shanghai to Hongkong.

Japanese officials expressed their regret. Katsuzo Okumura, secretary of the Japanese embassy, called at the hospital on behalf of the Ambassador, Shigeru Kawagoe; Vice-Admiral Tadao Honda, naval attache of the embassy, called to express the navy's regrets.

Messages also came from Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, head of the Chinese Government, and other Chinese officials.

A spokesman for the Japanese embassy deplored the attack on Sir Hughe and said the airmen evidently had mistaken the red and blue British flag on his automobile for a Chinese emblem of the same colors. He said the Ambassador should have had a flag large enough to drape over the whole roof of his car.

Sir Hughe has been Ambassador to China since 1936, when he was transferred from Minister to Iran. He had previously served as Minister to the Baltic states and as Councellor of Embassy at Brussels. He is 51 years old.

Hull Sends Personal Message of Regret to London.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26. — Secretary of State Hull today sent this personal note to the British Government:

"I have just learned with great distress of the unfortunate incident resulting in injuries to the British Ambassador to China.

"I sincerely hope that the Ambassador has not been so severely wounded as would appear from the first reports and I offer my solicitous best wishes for his recovery."

BILL TO PROHIBIT PRIVATE FIXING OF FEES IS SIGNED

Receivership and Bankruptcy Cases Involved; Nepotism in Appointments Prohibited.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—A bill to prohibit private fee-fixing arrangements by litigants, or their counsel, in receivership and bankruptcy proceedings received President Roosevelt's signature today.

The measure, which Senator Borah of Idaho championed, also was aimed at nepotism, prohibiting any Federal Judge from appointing as receiver or trustee any person related to him even as distantly as the fourth degree of kinship.

INSURGENTS TRAP LOYAL FORCES IN SANTANDER HILLS

two cities." "The campaign will continue to the end," the communique said.

Today was a holiday throughout insurgent Spain, with celebrations in cities held by the rebels.

British Woman Picked Up at Sea.

Miss A. R. Caton, a British child welfare worker, picked up at sea from a small boat in which she was fleeing with 13 Spanish children, was taken to Bayonne, France, by the British destroyer Keith, along with other refugees.

She said many had been shot by anarchist terrorists before Santander fell.

"In the last days Santander was a city of indescribable horror," Miss Caton said. "Eminent men—doctors, lawyers and their families—were shot right and left by anarchists crazy for revenge before the town fell.

"Night before last I and some Spanish children I was accompanying lay under busses while bullets flew around us. Thirteen of us managed to get into a fishing boat. As we started, two men were killed in the boat next to us. We rowed from midnight until 11 a. m. when we were picked up by the Keith."

A Spanish Government Lieutenant named Gasgoyne who also arrived at Bayonne on the Keith said the situation before the arrival of Franco's army was "nothing but anarchy and horror."

"There is nothing left," he said. "No water, no electricity, no police, no municipal government. The city is the scene of pillage and shooting in the streets."

The water supply was stopped four days ago when the attacking insurgents cut mains into the city.

Conquest of the Santander area, is of strategic importance, in that it releases the insurgent navy that has been blockading the city. These insurgent naval vessels can be transferred now for duty in the Mediterranean.

Furthermore, it releases an estimated 100,000 men who have been fighting in the north. They can be moved to other fronts, along with airplanes, artillery batteries and other equipment.

LOYALISTS TAKE ARAGON TOWNS

By the Associated Press.

VALENCIA, Aug. 26. — Government troops on the offensive today on the Aragon front of Northeastern Spain thrust a spearhead into Gen. Francisco Franco's lines 25 miles southeast of Zaragoza, where the town of Quinto, long held by the insurgents on the Zaragoza-Valencia road, was occupied by loyalist troops.

The Government had often attacked Quinto which was the scene of intense fighting yesterday and today.

The Government drive also brought capture of Todo, another insurgent-held town. The Government threw its crack troops, fresh from fighting west of Madrid in the Brunete sector, into its eastern drive.

Quinto was defended by more than 1500 insurgents equipped with excellent artillery, a Government communique said. The defenders put up a stiff resistance which cost them heavily in dead and wounded.

The last position defended in Quinto was a church in which Falangists (Fascists) and civil guards had barricaded themselves. Most of the insurgent officers fled to Zaragoza before Quinto capitulated.

The Government reported capturing six pieces of artillery, many rifles and some machine guns.

Government troops continued to pour through an opening ripped in the Huesca-Zaragoza road in the Fuera sector. The Bonastre Hermitage was seized, along with two cannons and 1000 head of cattle. The Government lost one plane and the insurgents two in aerial combats.

(An insurgent report asserted Franco's men were repulsing the Government's Aragon thrusts and had encircled a body of militiamen between Fuera and Almedevar. This report said 15 Government planes were shot down in combat between Huesca and Zaragoza and a sixteenth on the Soria front.)

Discussion of Proposal to Surrender Catalonia to Rebels.

By the Associated Press.

BIARRITZ, France, Aug. 26.—An envoy of the Catalonian Government was reported today to be discussing with representatives of Spanish insurgents the capitulation of the autonomous province to Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

Franco's envoys were reported to have told him that only unconditional surrender was acceptable, otherwise the negotiations would be broken. Catalonia was represented as wanting guarantees of autonomy.

Catalonia has been the Government-allied stronghold in Northeastern Spain. Its capitulation to insurgents would leave the Government only a narrow corridor to the sea from Madrid through Valencia.

PERPIGNAN, France, Aug. 26.—The Spanish Government has warned autonomous Catalonia that an international brigade will be sent against Barcelona if the Catalans make a separate peace with the insurgents, reports here today said.

JAPANESE TWICE BOMB DAIRY OF AMERICANS

Herd Almost Wiped Out; Manager Hides in Crater to Escape Shells

By the Associated Press.

SHANKHAI, Aug. 26.—J. H. McKinnon of Houston, Tex., manager of the large American-owned Poplar Groves Dairy Farms on the outskirts of Shanghai, had a harrowing erperience under a hail of Japanese aerial bombs and machine gun fire yesterday, when a squadron of Japanese war planes attacked the farms for the second time within a week, almost annihilating the herd of 400 pedigreed American cattle.

Fleeing from the bombing, McKinnon leaped into an enormous crater left from the first Japanese air raid. He lay motionless until the Japanese planes, which had dived to less than 500 feet above him, flew away.

McKinnon protested to American consular authorities against the repeated Japanese bombardments.

He and American owners of the property were unable to explain why the farm, over which large American flags are flying, should be a target for the Japanese. They surmised, however, that Japanese aviation officers might have mistaken the farm's machinery, including huge concrete mixers, for Chinese gun emplacements.

Describing the bombing of the dairy, McKinnon told the Associated Press that 16 huge Japanese bombers flew over the property for an hour and a half, bombing and machine gunning from only a few hundred feet up.

He said that William Schlobohm, former Alameda (Cal.) aviator, who was with him, also had a narrow escape.

"I visited the farm to inspect the extent of damage caused by three previous Japanese airbombings, on Aug. 16, 20 and 23," McKinnon said. "Soon after I arrived, the bombs began falling. They killed many of the cows. The place looked like a slaughterhouse."

"I was soaked with the blood of the cows. Two hundred and fifty have been killed at our dairy. Chinese members of the staff fled into the fields, where Japanese airmen chased them with machine-gun fire. Many Chinese farmers nearby were machine gunned also. After the raid, I saw the bodies."

Bullet Removed from Officer's Spine.

By the Associated Press.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 26.—Dr. Walter E. Dandy, Johns Hopkins Hospital surgeon, yesterday removed one of three bullets which wounded Federal Agent F. J. Lackey in the Kansas City Union Station killings of 1933, and said another would be removed in a week or 10 days. The third bullet was removed shortly after the shooting. The others were imbedded in the backbone, about two vertebrae apart, near Lackey's lungs. They did not bother him for some time, but recently they began to cause him pain.

Both Sides Exhausted After Battle of Hongkew

By JAMES A MILLS,
Of the Associated Press.

ON THE HONGKEW BATTLEFRONT JUST OUTSIDE OF SHANGHAI, Aug. 26.—My observation of the battle areas in Japanese-occupied Hongkew, north of the Shanghai International Settlement, verified today that the Chinese defenders have fallen back on a broad front. Their main lines are pitched now well beyond Shanghai University on the Shanghai side of the Whangpoo River, north of the embattled city.

Visiting the front lines under military escort, I found the enemies facing each other across a "no man's land" about 150 yards wide. But there was almost no fighting.

The Japanese bluejackets seemed to be nearly exhausted after more than two weeks of incessant battle. It was evident that they were content merely to hold their positions until newly landed army reinforcements could take over their lines.

Baptist University Intact.

Despite Chinese claims to the contrary, I found that the University of Shanghai, operated by American Baptists, is virtually intact. The only damage to its buildings, the effect of shell splinters, can be repaired easily. Moreover, most other foreign buildings of any importance escaped without major damage.

Elsewhere in once-populous and thriving Hongkew, however, there are square miles of blackened wastes because of artillery devastation and deliberately set fires. Indeed, this once prosperous industrial district, resembles sections of Flanders during the World War.

In many areas only charred skeletons remain of thousands of dwellings, stores and small factories. Chinese property has suffered most heavily, but both belligerents seem to have avoided bombing the vast Hongkew waterworks on which the life of a greater part of Shanghai depends.

Jail Is Shell-Scarred.

The saddest spectacle of all is the shell-scarred Ward Road jail which stands like a morgue in the midst of a scene of desolation. I could see some of its 6500 inmates peering out from behind barred windows. They have been incarcerated there without hope of escape from shell and fire throughout the worst fighting. Japanese refused to permit their liberation lest they join the Chinese army.

Strewn throughout the fire-swept area are the bodies of Chinese noncombatants, men, women and children. For every person who escaped alive from the war-torn area, three died.

Villages in Ruins.

Further north, on the Woosung battlefields where thousands of Japanese reinforcements have landed in defiance of Chinese machine gun fire, the picture is just as tragic. Scores of Chinese villages that I saw less than two weeks ago thronged with Chinese, prosperous and at peace with the world, are smoking ruins.

Evidence of the Japanese naval and aerial bombardments is everywhere. There is almost no sign of life. The villages are depopulated as well as devastated.

In the river nearby, peacefully by comparison, United States destroyers stand watch over American waterfront property. Deeper in Woosung, I saw the fresh Japanese reinforcements digging trenches and artillery emplacements for a bigger war.

manded. He would participate, continued he, not as Postmaster-General, or as National or State Democratic Chairman, but as a private citizen. It is the only primary fight in the country, he added, which he has a right to enter.

Asked regarding his attitude to the candidacy to Mayor La Guardia, a staunch supporter of the New Deal, Farley hesitated and then answered that his position would be made clear "in my own time and way." Prior to his press conference, Farley talked at the White House with Edward J. Flynn, Bronx leader and a foremost sponsor of the campagin of Jeremiah T. Mahoney in opposition to Senator Royal S. Copeland, Tammany's candidate. The inference was drawn that, before primary day, Farley would announce his support for Mahoney.

Speaks at a Voter.

"Will your position reflect the administration's attitude?" he was asked.

"I suppose the newspapers will so interpret it," he answered, "I will speak as a voter of the Fifteenth Assembly District."

"Will Copeland be defeated for the Democratic nomination."

"I will take care of that phase in my forthcoming statement."

The Postmaster-General fell with a gusto lacking in other parts of his conference upon a mention of Wednesday's statement by John D. M. Hamilton, Republican National Chairman, to the effect that the President's popularity is "slipping," and that Republican gains throughout the country are swelling.

"Brother Hamilton," said Farley, "hasn't the least idea what is going on in the United States. He has just returned from two months in Europe. John made a lot of statements in the last campaign. He even made one on election night. After that, I don't think the people are going to pay much attention to anything he says."

Status of Debt to Union.

Farley declared that of the sums advanced to the Democratic National Committee by John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers, all have been repaid except $50,000, and that this debit would be wiped out before Jan. 1. Asked whether he thought the Democratic party would have the backing of Lewis in 1940, he replied:

"I can't answer for Mr. Lewis, but in my opinion the administration's policies will be so effective that the party will have the same support from labor which it had in 1936."

The Postmaster-General refused to comment on persistent reports that he is sooner or later to resign in order to accept a position with a large corporation. The general opinion here is that, owing to present unsettled conditions within the Democratic party, he will remain in the Cabinet until after the 1938 congressional elections.

FLANK DRIVE IN NORTH THREATENS JAPANESE

Chinese Worry Invaders With Push Toward 20-Mile Gap.

By the Associated Press.

PEIPING, Aug. 26. — Japanese warplanes, infantry and artillery today pressed their indecisive assault to break a Chinese flanking movement and drive Gen. Sun Lienchung's army out of the western hills.

Japanese commanders said that the Chinese flanking movement west of their advance positions at Lianghsiang, 25 miles southwest of Peiping, was "very strategic." It threatened a 20-mile gap in the Japanese lines from Mentoukow, west of Peiping, to Nankow Pass, north of this conquered city.

A heavy artillery battle was fought in the vicinity of Lianghsiang where two divisions of the Twenty-sixth Chinese Route Army were spread out in the low hills, holding up the Japanese advance and threatening their flanks.

Bursting shells were counted at the rate of 10 explosions a minute. They were audible here, 25 miles from the battle front.

Foreigners arriving today from the northwest stated there were no Japanese troops anywhere in the area between the Peiping-Hankow Railroad to the southwest and the Peiping-Suiyuan Railroad to the northwest.

They reported large numbers of Chinese, many of them irregulars, overrunning the area and plundering numerous villages.

Four of the 18 were physicians who had been trained in Japan. One was a newspaper man, serving an obscure news agency.

All but one were accused of furnishing military information to the Japanese. That one was said to have divulged the Chinese Government's decision to block the lower Yangtze River, which was done to prevent Japanese warships from ascending the river to attack Nanking.

Authorities disclosed several other persons were under arrest, suspected of communicating with the enemy. Some were said to have communicated with Japanese airplanes with rockets and other signals.

4 KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS; ONE DRIVER GOES ON

TWO MEN, WOMAN ARE OTHER VICTIMS

Christian Beckman, 74, Hit by Trolley and Run Over by Motor Car and Motorcycle.

Four persons were killed in automobile accidents in St. Louis and East St. Louis yesterday. They were:

Christian Beckman, a laborer, 3941 Pennsylvania avenue.

Mrs. Clara Fisher, Ullin, Ill.

Beckman, 74 years old, was struck by a one-man Tower Grove street car in the 4500 block of Arsenal street yesterday afternoon and thrown into the path of an automobile. Both the automobile and a motorcycle it was towing ran over him, and he died three hours later in City Hospital of fractures of the skull, right hip and ribs and internal injuries.

The operator of the street car, John H. Rinehart, 2107 Russell boulevard, said Beckman ran out from the curb into the right front end of the car. The automobile which ran over him was driven by Charles Watson, a chauffeur, 612 Walton avenue, who said he had no chance to avoid the impact.

Driver Flees After Hitting Man.

McGarrity was crossing Delmar boulevard at Belt avenue last night when hit by an eastbound automobile, the driver of which did not stop. He suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries and was dead when police arrived. He was 70.

Another motorist passing the scene, William J. Gavigan Jr., 3745 Lindell boulevard, pursued a car which he said struck McGarrity and forced the driver to the curb in the 6200 block of Natural Bridge road, Pine Lawn, after a long chase through North St. Louis streets.

Arrested by deputy constables of Normandy Township and turned over to St. Louis police, the driver gave his name as Ellis Finch, Negro, a laborer, of Richmond Heights. Police, who said a motometer found at the scene fitted a broken radiator cap on Finch's automobile, quoted him as admitting he noticed a bump as he drove past Belt avenue, but denying knowing that he struck anyone.

Man, 72, Hit, Fatally Hurt.

Schlett, a widower, 72, was struck yesterday morning when crossing Natural Bridge avenue at Kingshighway, and died in City Hospital of skull and internal injuries last night. The driver of the automobile, booked as Robert McCormack, a laborer, 4127 North Twentieth street, said Schlett disregarded a traffic light and walked into his path.

Mrs. Fisher was crushed to death last night when a cattle truck driven by her husband, Harry Fisher, overturned after colliding with an ambulance at Fifteenth street and Bond avenue, East St. Louis. She was 27. Fisher and the driver of the ambulance, Harry Clark, a Negro, were not injured.

The truck's load of 55 sheep and heifers was thrown into the street. Police had difficulty rounding the animals up. Some of them had not been caught this morning. Two sheep that had been injured were destroyed.

Pedestrian Hurt by Auto; Three Persons Injured in Collision.

William Hardester, a cabinet maker, 1323 South Vandeventer avenue, suffered fractures of the right leg and ribs when struck by an automobile at Market street and Leffingwell avenue yesterday afternoon. The car was driven by Miss Julia C. Foster, a schoolteacher, 4139 Chouteau avenue, who said he stepped into her path. Hardester, 57, was taken to City Hospital in serious condition.

Three persons were injured, one seriously, in a collision yesterday afternoon at Russell boulevard and Eighteenth street. Lewis E. King, a laborer, 3701A South Jefferson avenue, driver of one of the automobiles, and his wife, Vena, suffered cuts of the scalp and bruises. Michael Ivanhoe, also a laborer, 2631 Pennsylvania avenue, a passenger in their car, suffered fractures of the jaw and right arm and was taken to City Hospital in serious condition.

The other automobile was driven by Charles Campbell, a merchant, 741 Newport avenue, Webster Groves. Both Campbell and King asserted a traffic light at the intersection was in their favor. Claude A. Morton, 213 South Maple avenue, Webster Groves, who said he was passing the corner at the time of the accident, appeared at Police Headquarters later and said the light was in Campbell's favor.

KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS; ONE DRIVER GOES ON

TWO MEN, WOMAN ARE OTHER VICTIMS

Christian Beckman, 74, Hit by Trolley and Run Over by Motor Car and Motorcycle.

Four persons were killed in automobile accidents in St. Louis and East St. Louis yesterday. They were:

Christian Beckman, a laborer, [illegible] Pennsylvania avenue.

Mrs. Clara Fisher, Ullin, Ill.

Beckman, 74 years old, was struck by a one-man Tower Grove street car in the 4500 block of Arsenal street yesterday afternoon and thrown into the path of an automobile. Both the automobile and a motorcycle it was towing ran over him, and he died three hours later in City Hospital of fractures of the skull, right hip and ribs and internal injuries.

The operator of the street car, John H. Rinehart, 2107 Russell boulevard, said Beckman ran out from the curb into the right front end of the car. The automobile which ran over him was driven by Charles Watson, a chauffeur, 612 Walton avenue, who said he had no chance to avoid the impact.

Driver Flees After Hitting Man.

McGarrity was crossing Delmar boulevard at Belt avenue last night when hit by an eastbound automobile, the driver of which did not stop. He suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries and was dead when police arrived. He was 70.

Another motorist passing the scene, William J. Gavigan Jr., 3745 Lindell boulevard, pursued a car which he said struck McGarrity and forced the driver to the curb in the 6200 block of Natural Bridge road, Pine Lawn, after a long chase through North St. Louis streets.

Arrested by deputy constables of Normandy Township and turned over to St. Louis police, the driver gave his name as Ellis Finch, Negro, a laborer, of Richmond Heights. Police, who said a motometer found at the scene fitted a broken radiator cap on Finch's automobile, quoted him as admitting he noticed a bump as he drove past Belt avenue, but denying knowing that he struck anyone.

Man, 72, Hit, Fatally Hurt.

Schlett, a widower, 72, was struck yesterday morning when crossing Natural Bridge avenue at Kingshighway, and died in City Hospital of skull and internal injuries last night. The driver of the automobile, booked as Robert McCormack, a laborer, 4127 North Twentieth street, said Schlett disregarded a traffic light and walked into his path.

Mrs. Fisher was crushed to death last night when a cattle truck driven by her husband, Harry Fisher, overturned after colliding with an ambulance at Fifteenth street and Bond avenue, East St. Louis. She was 27. Fisher and the driver of the ambulance, Harry Clark, a Negro, were not injured.

The truck's load of 55 sheep and heifers was thrown into the street. Police had difficulty rounding the animals up. Some of them had not been caught this morning. Two sheep that had been injured were destroyed.

Pedestrian Hurt by Auto; Three Persons Injured in Collision.

William Hardester, a cabinet maker, 1323 South Vandeventer avenue, suffered fractures of the right leg and ribs when struck by an automobile at Market street and Leffingwell avenue yesterday afternoon. The car was driven by Miss Julia C. Foster, a schoolteacher, 4139 Chouteau avenue, who said he stepped into her path. Hardester, 57, was taken to City Hospital in serious condition.

Three persons were injured, one seriously, in a collision yesterday afternoon at Russell boulevard and Eighteenth street. Lewis E. King, a laborer, 3701A South Jefferson avenue, driver of one of the automobiles, and his wife, Vena, suffered cuts of the scalp and bruises. Michael Ivanhoe, also a laborer, 2631 Pennsylvania avenue, a passenger in their car, suffered fractures of the jaw and right arm and was taken to City Hospital in serious condition.

The other automobile was driven by Charles Campbell, a merchant, 741 Newport avenue, Webster Groves. Both Campbell and King asserted a traffic light at the intersection was in their favor. Claude A. Morton, 213 South Maple avenue, Webster Groves, who said he was passing the corner at the time of the accident, appeared at Police Headquarters later and said the light was in Campbell's favor.

DRIVERS' LICENSES AVAILABLE HERE SOON

Only Charge at St. Louis Office of State Bureau Will Be 25 Cents.

St. Louis and suburban motorists may get their State drivers' licenses, required under a legislative act which goes into effect Sept. 6, from the local office of the State Vehicle License Bureau, 1701 Chestnut street.

W. E. Dexter, Deputy Commissioner in charge of the St. Louis office, said today that the office had not received its supply of license blanks and other necessary supplies, but that announcement would be made in a day or two as to the time when issuance of the licenses would begin there.

Motorists may then call at the office, he said, fill out and swear to the applications, which will be notarized free of charge. The only charge to the motorist will be 25 cents, the legal fee for a license which will be good for two years.

The Automobile Club of Missouri announced that it would handle applications and remittances for its members and would obtain their licenses, offering free notarial service.

Must Give Description.

The application form has on its face a space for the applicant's signature, with notations as to age, race, sex, weight, height, color of eyes and hair. When filled out, this will be photographed, and the copy, stamped with a serial number, will be issued as the license.

On the reverse of the form, 11 questions appear. These are:

"How long have you operated a motor vehicle? Is your driver's license under suspension? Has your driver's license been revoked? If so, why; date? Are you familiar with the traffic laws of Missouri? What is your occupation; business address? Give qualifications for driving.

"Have you ever been licensed as an operator or chauffeur? Has your license as an operator or chauffeur ever been revoked or suspended? When? Where? Were you ever convicted of any motor vehicle violation; on what charge?"

Interpreted for Chauffeurs.

The question as to being licensed as an operator or chauffeur applies only to persons who drive or have driven for a livelihood, such as truck drivers or professional chauffeurs. These, if they have cars of their own, must get the driver's license; if they drive only their employers' cars, their existing licenses will suffice. This interpretation was given today by V. H. Steward, State Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, at Jefferson City.

Steward said also that the first question, as to length of the driver's experience, and the later question as to "qualifications for driving," would be answered in the same way by many persons. However, persons of special experience or skill may make an added notation as to their qualifications.

In answering the question as to conviction of a violation, the commissioner said that the applicant must tell of any conviction in Missouri or any other State for careless driving, driving when intoxicated, failure to stop or refusal to state name after an accident, or driving a car without the owner's consent. The applicant need not tell of a fine for parking wrong, or for speeding if careless driving was not charged.

Woman Ends Life in Field.

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 26.—The body of Mrs. Louise Holtermann, 28 years old, was found in a field near her home west of Freeburg, in Osage County, yesterday with a shotgun wound in the abdomen. The Coroner pronounced the death suicide.

DRIVER CHARGED WITH FIVE VIOLATIONS, IS FINED $172

License of John Cowdery, Whose Auto Was in Traffic Accident, Revoked.

John Cowdery, laborer, 1225 Soulard street, was fined $172 and his driver's license was revoked for a year by Police Judge James F. Nangle today on charges of driving when intoxicated, careless driving, failure to observe an automatic signal, leaving the scene of an accident and driving without headlights. He will appeal.

The charges grew out of an accident Aug. 6 when Cowdery's car struck another at Gravois avenue and Eighteenth street. Police testified Cowdery tried to run away but that they caught him on a parking lot. He admitted he had had a few beers.

Hugo Trotter, Negro chauffeur, 4068 West Belle avenue, was fined $250 on a careless driving charge by Provisional Police Judge Robert L. Aronson, as the result of an accident Aug. 16 at Twenty-third street and Franklin avenue. Homer Rader, 3540 Magnolia avenue, and two passengers in his car were slightly hurt. A wheel knocked off Rader's machine struck Eddie Walker, Negro, 2117 Carr street, who was standing on the sidewalk at the intersection. He suffered a broken ankle. Trotter testified he was a little drousy at the time, 11:35 p. m. He will appeal.

DEATH FOR MURDERER OF 3 LITTLE GIRLS

Los Angeles Jury Finds Albert Dyer Guilty Without Recommending Mercy.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 26.—A jury convicted Albert Dyer today of murdering three young Inglewood girls and made no recommendation for life imprisonment. This means the death penalty for him is mandatory.

The jury of seven men and five women received the case at 3:30 p. m. Tuesday. Apparently it spent most of its time in argument over whether to recommend life imprisonment.

Dyer, 32-year-old former W P A worker, was accused of killing Melba and Madeline Everett, 9 and 7 years old, respectively, and Jeanette Stephens, 8, June 26 after luring them from Centinela Park in Englewood to the Baldwin Hills on a supposed rabbit hunt.

He confessed criminally attacking and killing the children, but later repudiated his statements and pleaded not guilty on arraignment.

Public defenders assigned to represent him contended the State's case, without the confessions, was inadequate and that the confessions were contradictory.

Dyer sat motionless at the verdict was read. More than 200 spectators crowded the comparatively small court room.

Under a new California law, Dyer's case will be appealed automatically to the State Supreme Court for review. If the conviction is sustained, he will be hanged.

Mrs. Grace Calvert, a juror, said: "All of us were agreed from the first that Dyer was guilty. The only difference of opinion was as to the degree of punishment."

FIRE CAPTAIN FINNEGAN MADE DISTRICT CHIEF

He Will Fill Post Vacated Last April by Death of F. J. Dunsford.

Fire Capt. Robert A. Finnegan was promoted today to District Chief to succeed Frank J. Dunsford, who died last April from injuries suffered in an automobile accident when on his way to a blaze.

Finnegan, 48 years old, a member of the department since 1911, will be assigned to District No. 7. In making the appointment, Chief John J. O'Boyle recalled that when he was captain of Engine Co. No. 32, Finnegan was his lieutenant.

The new district chief was promoted to lieutenant in 1922 and to captain in 1933. His headquarters will be at Engine Co. No. 21, Theresa avenue and Market street.

CLOTHES STRIPPED FROM GIRL WORKERS BY WOMEN STRIKERS

Barrage of Tomatoes Greets Other Employes of Schenectady (N. Y.) Knitting Plant.

By the Associated Press.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Aug. 26.—Stripped of their clothing by striking women co-workers, two girl employes today fled to their home a few blocks away as violence was renewed here in the Gloversville Knitting Co. plant strike.

The girls, Julia and Elanda Giciendo, sisters, were going to work when they were accosted by the strikers three blocks from the plant, a reporter for the Schenectady Union-Star, who was at the scene, said. They were unharmed otherwise.

Runaway Auto Disables 75 Phones.

Seventy-five telephones, mostly south of Delmar boulevard and west of North & South boulevard, University City, were out of service for a maximum of seven hours yesterday afternoon and evening because a cable was broken by a runaway automobile. The car, belonging to a resident of Jacksonville, Ill., was parked at North & South and Kingsbury avenue, but the brakes did not hold and it rolled half a block downhill, striking a telephone pole on which the cable, leading from a conduit to the crossarms, was mounted. The accident occurred at 3 p. m.

SCHOOL TRUSTEE, 72, BADGER GAME VICTIM

Trapped With Girl, He Alleges He Paid $9300 to Man Held.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26. — Hyman Bernstein, 40 years old, was held in the county jail today on charges of extorting $9300 from Harry B. Gochnaur, 72, a school trustee and retired merchant of Rochelle, Ill. Bernstein was arraigned in Felony Court yesterday and his case continued to Sept. 23.

Gochnaur's story of the alleged swindle as related by State's Attorney's police in court yesterday was substantially as follows:

Bernstein, dressed in a policeman's uniform, broke in on Gochnaur and a girl in a West Side hotel room.

Alleging he was the girl's brother-in-law, Bernstein forced Gochnaur to sign a statement confessing he was guilty of a criminal attack. Bernstein suggested a settlement, and Gochnaur surrendered $300, promising more. The next day he cashed $5000 worth of securities, and gave the money to Bernstein.

Some months later Gochnaur received a telephone call from the "brother-in-law." He said the young woman had given birth to a baby, and demanded more money on penalty of distributing 5000 circulars in Ogle County.

Gochnaur came to Chicago, cashed $4000 more in securities and turned the money over to the man. When asked for still more money, Gochnaur finally went to the State's Attorney's office.

Bernstein said after his arraignment that the girl, who is not a minor but 22 years old, came to him in July, 1936, and told him she had "an old daddy who would be a good badger game victim."

After several days on the Sound, where he probably will indulge in his favorite sport of fishing, he will return to Hyde Park. He is to return to Washington Sept. 17.

CHICAGO MAN KILLS SELF HERE

A man registered as Alphonse Groff of Chicago ended his life yesterday in his room at the Palace Hotel, 1510 Market street. The body, with a bullet wound in the temple and a revolver in the right hand, was found by a chambermaid.

A United States passport issued to Groff last February and validated for entry into Luxembourg and a bank book of a Salem (S. D.) bank were among his belongings. He was about 47 years old.

CONTEST OVER WILL OF GEO. G. WHITELAW

Adopted Daughter Files Suit—Thinks Estate Is Worth $1,000,000.

A copy of a suit contesting the will of George Gill Whitelaw, former St. Louisan, who died at Santa Barbara, Cal., June 20, was filed in Probate Court yesterday. The suit expressing belief the estate was worth $1,000,000, was brought by Mrs. Dorothy Allison Mackey of Houston, Tex., Mr. Whitelaw's adopted daughter and niece of his first wife, the late Mrs. Fredricka Allison Whitelaw.

In connection with the contest, George P. Whitelaw II, 5291 Westminster place, a nephew of Mr. Whitelaw, was appointed administrator during pendency of the litigation by Probate Court yesterday. The testator's widow, the former Mrs. Charles Fox of Grand Rapids, Mich., recently qualified as administratrix at Santa Barbara. She and the St. Louis nephew were named executors under the will.

The entire estate, except for $2500 for Mrs. Mackey, was bequeathed by the will to Mrs. Whitelaw, who is 65 years old. Mrs. Mackey, who is 45, asks in her suit, filed in Superior Court at Santa Barbara July 26, that the will be denied probate, which would leave her as a principal heir at law. A notation on the Probate Court records here estimated value of the estate as $400,000.

Stocks and bonds, held in a safe deposit box in a St. Louis bank, and a one-third interest in three small pieces of St. Louis real estate, comprise the bulk of the estate.

Mr. Whitelaw, when he made the will Jan. 21, 1936, at the age of 74, was feeble in body and mind and under the influence, control and domination of his wife, who directed him on disposal of his property, the suit alleges. Mrs. Mackey, the petition continues, resided with him until her marriage in 1915; they regarded each other affectionately, and he gave her an allowance of $225 a month.

He knew, when the will was made, of her dependence on him and need for support and, had he made the will without being influenced by his wife, he would have left a parge portion of the estate to his adopted daughter, the suit declares. However, it is charged that Mrs. Whitelaw, in order to deceive her husband and obtain most of the estate for herself, induced him to leave Mrs. Mackey only $2500 by saying she would see that the daughter continued to receive the usual monthly allowance. Mrs. Whitelaw had no intention of carrying out this agreement, Mrs. Mackey adds.

It is alleged also that the will was not executed or attested as prescribed by law. A copy of a deed of adoption, purporting to show that Mr. Whitelaw adopted Mrs. Mackey here Jan. 2, 1914, was filed as an exhibit in Probate Court. Mrs. Mackey's aunt, the first Mrs. Whitelaw, died in 1915.

Mr. Whitelaw retired in 1917 as an executive of the Scudders-Gale Grocery company and moved to Santa Barbara. A native of St. Louis and graduate of Harvard University, he had been a member of the grocery firm for 30 years. Survivors, besides his adopted daughter, wife and nephew, are a sister-in-law, Mrs. Charles W. Whitelaw, and two nieces, Mrs. Rowe Garesche and Mrs. Edward G. Hotchkiss, all of St. Louis.

WIFE OF WALTER M. CRUNDEN GRANTED DIVORCE AT CLAYTON

She Charged Central States Life Insurance Co. President With Indignities.

Mrs. Alice Tweedy Crunden obtained a divorce today from Walter M. Crunden, chairman of the board of the Central States Life Insurance Co. and president of the Crunden-Martin Manufacturing Co., in Circuit Judge John J. Wolfe's court at Clayton.

She charged general indignities. She testified they were married in 1913 in London, England, and separated in March, 1936. They frequently quarreled and he told her he did not love her, often suggesting that she get a divorce, Mrs. Crunden related. Many disagreements arose over their daughter, Edwina, 23 years old, who is in the East for treatment of heart trouble, Mrs. Crunden said.

Crunden, who was represented by counsel, filed an entry of appearance.

Mrs. Crunden did not ask for alimony. She is one of three daughters of Mrs. R. G. Moore of New York, who died last year, leaving the bulk of her $1,100,000 estate to the daughters.

MAN SHOT 7 TIMES IN FIGHT WITH TWO DETECTIVES, DIES

Robert J. Heller Had Terrorized Woman and Two Children; Recently in Observation Ward.

Robert J. Heller, a laborer, died today at City Hospital from bullet wounds inflicted Monday when he engaged in a revolver fight with police after terrorizing Mrs. Carl Seal and her two children and wrecking the furniture in her home at 4317 Prairie avenue.

Heller, who resided with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Heller, 1733A Iowa avenue, was wounded seven times by Detectives Charles Harrington and Lester Paul. They reported he fired three times at them when they answered a call to the Prairie avenue address and found him about to drive away in his automobile. Neither of the detectives was injured.

Police reported that Heller, who was 32 years old, had been treated for a nervous ailment at St. Luke's Hospital about a year ago and that more recently he had been in the observation ward at City Hospital.

8-YEAR SENTENCE FOR ROBBERY

Man Who Aided Brother in Holdup Pleads Guilty.

Bernard Howard, who with his brother, Norman, held up two drug stores last summer, pleaded guilty today of first degree robbery and was sentenced to eight years in the penitentiary by Circuit Judge Joseph J. Ward.

Norman Howard, arrested shortly after they obtained $90 from the cash register of the Wykle drug store, 2735 South Kingshighway, was sentenced last November to five years at Algoa reformatory. A fugitive for nearly a year, Bernard Howard was arrested in June after police received information that he had been living at 2006 South Ninth street.

The brothers also robbed the Gasen drug store at 223 South Euclid avenue, in July, 1936.

LIQUOR CASE DROPPED LACKING EVIDENCE

Excise Commissioner Demands Direct Testimony That Illegal Sale Was Made.

Police must obtain evidence of the actual sale of liquor in a tavern on Sunday if Excise Commissioner Lawrence McDaniel is to take action, he indicated today in dismissing the case of Maurice Oberman, proprietor of the Ringside tavern at 918 North Sarah street.

There were four bartenders on duty and 20 persons in the place with a quantity of beer and gin on the tables at 7:45 a. m. Sunday, Aug. 8, according to police testimony, but the complaining officer could not testify that he had witnessed a sale of liquor.

The case was one of five, all of which McDaniel dismissed, at least conditionally. Conditional discharges went to John McCann, 1136 North Broadway; Mary Keim, 4216 Natural Bridge avenue, and Albert Kruger, 5601 South Broadway. All were accused of having slot machines in their places of business, and all said they did not know how they got there. McDaniel said the could consider the charges dropped provided the machines could not be seen by the police on Sept. 23.

Police testimony was that a woman was seen to take a small quantity of liquor on which no license fee had been paid out of a music box in the place of Vincent Vitale, 1700 Belle Glade avenue, and attempt to hide it. The Government was not interested, the police added, because of the small quantity.

"If the Government doesn't care about this," said McDaniel, "neither do I."

GOLFER, ACCUSED OF ROBBERY, ORDERED RELEASED ON BAIL

Judge Expects John Montague to Face Trial in "Honest and Courageous Manner."

By the Associated Press.

ELIZABETHTOWN, N. Y., Aug. 26.—John Montague, Hollywood golfer, was ordered released on $25,000 bail today, pending trial of a seven-year-old robbery charge.

In making the ruling, Supreme Court Justice O. Byron Brewster said:

"It seems impossible that you may now escape any penalty which the law may finally exact from you, and I think I may add, your history for the past six or seven years seems to indicate to me that you will be willing to meet the charge here in a fair, upright, honest and courageous manner."

Spectators filled the little courtroom as Montague appeared, apparently without anxiety, before the bar.

Justice Brewster told attorneys for the golfer to come to his office after the hearing adjourned, so that bail could be made and the prisoner released.

Arraignment is set for Sept. 7, and District Attorney Thomas McDonald said that trial probably would take place the week of Oct. 11.

JAPANESE THREAT OF BLOCKADE ON FOREIGN SHIPPING

WARSHIPS PATROL 800-MILE AREA

By the Associated Press.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 26.—Japanese naval authorities threatened today to include American and other foreign shipping in the 800-mile blockade of China's seacoast established by Japan to relieve the pressure on its land troops in the Shanghai area.

A spokesman for the third Japanese fleet, warning of the possible extension of the blockade, declared that "foreign shipping along the China coast may be halted by Japanese warships patrolling the area."

He added: "We exercise the privilege of pre-emption towards foreign bottoms carrying a cargo which in time of war would constitute contraband."

(In international law, "pre-emption" is the right of a belligerent to seize and purchase at an appraised price other contraband of war than absolute contraband belonging to a neutral and on the way to the enemy in its own territory or on the high seas or in unappropriated territory.)

Patrol for 800 Miles.

Admiral Kiyoshi Hasegawa, commander of the third Japanese fleet, specifically exempted foreign shipping from the blockade he proclaimed yesterday. The Japanese naval patrol was established from the mouth of the Yangtze River, just north of Shanghai, for 800 miles to the south, extending the zone of undeclared war to all the Central and Southern China coast.

The threat to include foreign shipping came after the Japanese effort to pinch off the Chinese front lines north of Shanghai and open the way to the city, had been thwarted by the Chinese.

The Japanese naval spokesman declared that absence of a declaration of war was "merely a legal view, as hostilities are going on" and indicated Japan must take wartime measures to prevent supplies from reaching the Chinese.

Statement of Spokesman.

His statement follows:

"Foreign shipping along the China coast may be halted by Japanese warships patrolling the area. While foreign craft are not subject to seizure and will not be compelled to change their course they are liable to be boarded by Japanese parties sent to ascertain their nationality.

"Chinese ships will be detained regardless of whether they are carrying arms and military equipment. Inasmuch as this is not a wartime blockade we are unable to stop foreign craft from carrying armament to China.

"However, we exercise the privilege of pre-emption towards foreign bottoms carrying a cargo which in time of war would constitute contraband.

"The blockade was declared in view of the absence of a declaration of war by either belligenent, which has prevented third parties from recognizing a state of war; but this merely a legal view, as hostilities are going on."

Mme. Chiang Kai-Shek Asserts Unifying of China Frustrated Japan's Ambition, Caused Attack

Her Country Fighting for Homes and Honor, She Declares—Endured Manchuria Seizure to Put House in Order.

By MME. CHIANG KAI-SHEK, Wife of China's Commander-in-Chief.

(Copyright, 1937.)

NANKING, Aug. 26.—Because the Chinese people have done no more than endeavored to live their own lives in peace and transform the chaotic aftermath of revolution into unified order and progress, they are being slaughtered wherever the Japanese can get at them.

Japan bitterly resents China assuming the status of a unified nation or an economically organized and sound one. The progress of China is not only anathema to Japan but the thought of it enrages her to fury.

Japan seizes Chinese territory while the whole world gazes at the spectacle. She recently assembled a great fleet in the Whangpoo River, which is Shanghai's harbor, and cleared the ships of that fleet for action.

When the excuse was considered ample, she used them under the shelter of foreign men-of-war to cannonade hundreds of thousands of innocent Chinese out of their homes and cause the flight of thousands of foreigners from their peaceful pursuits in the adjoining part of the international settlement.

China is fighting on her own soil for defense of her hearth, homes and honor, just as any self-respecting nation has the right and duty to do. And she is not afraid.

Japan may be organized as a fighting machine, but China has found her soul and will defend her people's rights.

China has conceded so much in the past. She has suffered and been insulted. She has accepted much humiliation. She even endured the violent rape of Manchuria, to the wonderment of the world, but only because she wished to put her own house in order and to effect national unity and a peace and prosperity which surely would have been participated in by the whole world.

The wonderful strides she was making toward this end were too much for Japanese army leaders, who saw in an organized China frustration of their long-cherished ambition—to erect at China's expense a continental empire from where they could defy the whole world.

They struck soon because they deemed the time propitious and because if they delayed it might be too late.

Again I say that China must suffer. But she is unafraid, feeling that what Japan is doing is against the laws of both God and nature.

Justice has disappeared from practical politics if the signatories of solemn treaties can calmly contemplate war being inflicted upon an innocent and weak people without protest or restraint.

Retribution still will surely come in time as punishment for those who inflict the evil that is now vomiting death and destruction widespread about this land.

To the people of America, and especially the women, I say China will do her best to save herself and uphold her honor.

China knows only too well the horrors that confront her and the suffering that lies ahead.

AMERICANS ORGANIZED TO EVACUATE SHANGHAI

Officials Work Out Details to Move 2500 Quickly If Necessary.

By the Associated Press.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 26.—United States officials today completed plans for the defense of Americans in Shanghai and, "if the worst comes," for their complete evacuation by navy ship. Twenty-five hundred Americans remain here, 700 of them women.

Further evacuations are planned and a scheme has been drawn up for concentration at one spot of those who remain, in event of an emergency. Under the emergency plans each man and woman knows what is expected of him or her.

The Emergency Committee has provided money for a number of destitute Americans, to be used for evacuation in an emergency.

300 Filipinos Evacuated.

Filipinos are receiving the same consideration as Americans. Three hundred have been evacuated and other hundreds are ready to leave. The commonwealth government has indicated that future housing and other expenses of refugees to Manila would be the responsibility of the Philippine capital.

Authorities consider a lessening of hostilities only a lull before Japanese, with reinforcements, undertake to expel the Chinese from Shanghai. Because of this foreigners are doing all they can to strengthen their defenses.

It has been pointed out that if the Japanese push from Woosung, at the mouth of the Whangpoo River, through northern Shanghai, northern borders of the International Settlement will be subjected to new pressure by Chinese armies.

Neutral Zones Not Favored.

Efforts of diplomats to establish a neutral zone is seemingly unacceptable to both sides.

One foreign official complained that cotton mills at Woosung, owned by the Chinese owners of the Wing On Department Store, had flown American flags while Chinese snipers concealed in the mills fired on Japanese being landed from the Whangpoo River. Japanese planes disregarded the flags and bombed the mills. The official asked foreign consuls to stop such abuses of their flags. He asserted that the Red Cross flags were similarly misused.

JAPANESE MUST USE FORCE, PREMIER SAYS

American and British Proposals to End War Regarded as Not Important.

By the Associated Press.

TOKIO, Japan, Aug. 26.—Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye declared today Japan did not consider American and British proposals to end the Chinese-Japanese war of much importance.

However, Foreign Minister Koki Hirota instructed the Japanese Ambassador to China, Shigeru Kawagoe, to extend Japan's warmest sympathy to Sir Hughe Knatchbull-Hugessen, the British Ambassador, who was wounded by Japanese airplane bullets at Shanghai today.

The Premier made the statement after a consultation with Prince Kimmochi Saionji, the last of Japan's elder statesmen, on the undeclared war between the two great Oriental powers.

'Don't Understand Japan's Position.'

Referring by name to United States Secretary of State Hull and his expressed wish that both China and Japan cease fighting, and to the British proposal to create a neutral zone around Shanghai, the Premier said:

"I think all these are the result of the powers' lack of proper understanding of Japan's position. Japan does not attach much importance to these proposals from foreign powers."

The Premier added that he expected repercussions of the war abroad would result in further moves by foreign powers.

Prince Konoye said that he had explained to the elder statesman that unless the Chinese reconsider, "the situation will inevitably become more intense.

"The Government at present entertains no intention of resorting to diplomatic means of settlement. We favor a comprehensive punitive campaign against China. There is scant possibility diplomatic negotiations will be resumed between China and Japan," he said.

"Must Punish China by Force."

"The most important thing now is the punishment of the Chinese by force. However, Japan desires the situation settled at the earliest possible moment by any means.

"It appears the Chinese are planning to protract the conflict in order to weaken Japan in a military way. It is necessary to take the proper precautions to offset such maneuvers."

A War Office communique, distributed by the Domei Agency, said Gen. Count Juichi Terauchi, former Minister of War and now Inspector-General of Military Education, would be relieved of that post. Lieutenant-General Shunroku Hata, now attached to the General Staff and considered one of Japan's most able militarists, will succeed him.

No new post was announced for Gen. Terauchi, who also has been a member of the Supreme War Council and one of the big three who determine Japanese military policy.

The Navy Ministry issued this summary of results of the aerial war in the Shanghai area since Aug. 14:

"Sixty-six Chinese planes have been shot down; 110 Chinese planes have been destroyed on the ground. Twenty-five hangars have been destroyed; also powder magazines, barracks, trains, tanks and bridges.

"Sixteen Japanese planes have been lost, including those missing."

LIFE SENTENCE OF MURDERER OF CHARLES J. ABELN UPHELD

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 26.—The conviction and life sentence of Frank Kennedy, for the murder of Charles J. Abeln, St. Louis tobacco merchant, was affirmed today by Division 2 of the Missouri Supreme Court. Kennedy was convicted by a jury Jan. 19, 1935.

Abeln and his wife were shot and killed by three robbers early on the morning of Dec. 22, 1933. Kennedy and Arthur Schnelt were convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment. Their co-defendant, Charles Douthitt, pleaded guilty and testified against them. Schnelt's conviction was sustained by the Supreme Court last June 21.

Douthitt, held in the City Jail here, has not been sentenced. The Circuit Attorney's office said sentence had been deferred pending the outcome of the appeals of his co-defendants, and that Douthitt probably would be taken to court soon for sentencing.

TELEGRAM ADDS TO MYSTERY

Housekeeper of Missing Man Receives Message.

By the Associated Press.

ESSEX, Conn., Aug. 26.—A telegraph received by his housekeeper added today to the mystery of the disappearance of John G. Lowe, who was reported missing from a New York steamer stateroom which had been engaged in his name.

Mrs. Ada Pollard, who said she had been employed by the retired Dayton (O.) manufacturer for three years, reported she was puzzled by the telegram because it was sent collect. The message, sent from New York, came Tuesday and read: "Delayed. May wire from Boston." Mrs. Pollard said that all telegraphs she had received from Lowe while in his employ had been prepaid. Lowe was reported missing when the S. S. New York arrived at Boston yesterday from New York. Two sealed letters were found in the stateroom, one of them addressed to Mrs. Pollard.

'CEASE AND DESIST' ORDER FOR CORRESPONDENCE SCHOOL

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—An order of the Federal Trade Commission today directed the Public Service Institute, a St. Louis correspondence school, to "cease and desist" from misrepresentations in the sale of its courses.

The order specified a misleading refund agreement; representation that enrollment for the school's courses constituted enrollment for civil service examinations; representation that the school was connected with the United States Government; and exaggeration of the number of students of the school who have passed civil service examinations.

Clarence D. De Montreville, president of the school, which has headquarters at 425 De Baliviere avenue, told the Post-Dispatch last April, following the filing of a Federal Trade Commission complaint against the school, that it would go out of business. De Montreville said the school would continue to furnish courses to students already enrolled, but would seek no new business.

St. Louis Loses Convention.

By the Associated Press.

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 26.—The council of the National Association of Life Underwriters elected O. Sam Cummings of Dallas, Tex., president yesterday and awarded the 1938 convention to Houston, Tex. The vote for the convention city was Houston 111 and St. Louis 49. The St. Louis delegation moved that Houston's selection be made unanimous and then extended an invitation for the 1939 conclave.

Company Waives Labor Board Hearings, Consents to C I O Test.

BOSTON, Aug. 26.—Sidney Hillman, chairman of the Textile Workers' Organizing Committee, announced last night that the American Woolen Co. had agreed to an employe election at Lawrence, Mass., to ascertain if the committee should be the sole bargaining agency for 10,000 workers.

Hillman, a member of the Committee for Industrial Organization, said the company had waived a hearing before the National Labor Relations Board.

$1,275,000 ALLOTTED BY P W A TO MISSOURI

Kansas City Gets $527,000 for New Construction — Jefferson City, $143,000.

Post-Dispatch Bureau,
201-205 Kellogg Building.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Out of $1,275,645 in grants and loans authorized for new construction in Missouri today by the Public Works Administration, Kansas City receives $527,588, Jefferson City $143,221, Clayton $141,596 and St. Louis nothing. These awards, under a provision enacted by Congress during its last session, are given only to communities in which "allotments for projects, or bonds financing them, have been authorized at elections held prior to the date of this resolution."

The projects awarded to Kansas City number 10, and all are for the building of new schools or school additions. Jefferson City has three projects, two for schools and one for a school field. Clayton's two allotments are for library and schools. Rockport is the only other Missouri community to receive more than one award. It gets $47,272 for an electric plant and $18,000 for an ice plant. Two towns, Ashgrove and East Prairie, received loans as well as grants, the amounts respectively totaling $45,454 and $36,363.

Since most of the communities thus favored have undertaken to pay the difference between the P W A grants and the estimated costs, it is calculated that new construction to a total of $3,025,922 will soon be under way in 26 Missouri communities. The allotments are mostly for schools, but include also roads, sewers, waterworks improvements, auditoriums, gymnasiums, libraries and municipal buildings.

Kansas City's awards for schools are itemized under the separate sums of $193,770, $22,050 and $7965; and, for school additions, $100,343, $55,538, $7954, $30,971, $29,862, $67,610 and $11,524. Jefferson City gets $120,071 and $7858 for two schools, and $15,242 for a school field. Clayton's library allotment is $34,496, and for schools, $107,100.

Communities not yet mentioned which appear on the Missouri list, together with the purpose and the amount of the grants, are as follows:

Archie, school addition, $18,040; Baldwin, school, $9084; Brunswick, highways, $45,000; Bucklin, waterworks, $29,250; Carrollton Township, highways, $41,727; Des Peres, school, $13,902; Herculaneum, auditorium and gymnasium, $13,909; Miller County, school addition, $20,430; Mound City, gymnasium and auditorium, $16,363; Mountain View, waterworks, $23,72 ; Neosho, municipal building, $40,500; Pascola, school addition, $4908; Rock Hill, school addition, $13,909; St. Charles, school addition, $107,848; Stewartsville, school addition, $12,272; Union, auditorium, $32,727; Vandalia, waterworks improvement, $54,818; Wakenda, roads, $38,700; Washington, school, $24,545; and Webb, school, $14,580.

The Rural Electrification Commission announced that it had granted $175,000 out of $411,000 requested for building 429 miles of line to serve 1538 customers in Pemiscot and Dunklin counties, Missouri. The source of power has not been determined. These customers are to be formed into a co-operative under the leadership of M. D. Amburgey of Caruthersville.

LIE DETECTOR USED ON WOMAN AFTER KILLING IN CHICAGO

Police Say Device Shows Grace Snyder Is Not Telling All in Shooting of Herbert Lee.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—Police said lie detector tests last night showed that Grace Snyder, 21 years old, who witnessed the killing of her escort in Grant Park, was "withholding information" about the murder of Herbert W. Lee. She underwent two hours of questioning at Northwestern University Crime Detection Laboratory.

When Leonarde Keeler, laboratory director, questioned her concerning her avowed love for Lee, the night club hostess wept and became hysterical.

Lee, until his death known as Robert F. Burns, a business man in Evanston, was shot by two men as he and Miss Snyder strolled in the park. Mrs. Theresa Weichbrodt admitted having lived with Lee as his wife. She said he adopted the alias after he abandoned a wife and son in Detroit about 10 years ago.

CURTIS CO. SUES TO ENJOIN PICKETS

Wellston Concern's Action Against Striking Employes Set for Hearing Monday.

An injunction against striking employes of the Curtis Manufacturing Co., to restrain them from picketing the company's plant and office at 1905 Kienlen avenue, Wellston, was sought by the company in Circuit Court at Clayton today.

Judge John J. Wolfe refused the application of the company's attorneys for an immediate injunction, but issued an order against the 187 defendants to show cause, in his court at 10 a. m. Monday, why a temporary restraining order should not be issued.

Of the 187 defendants, the petition states, all but one were employed in the company's production department up to last Thursday. The one non-employe named as a defendant is Sam Conrad, who has been an active figure in the picket line.

The petition charges that about 150 persons have paraded past the entrance of the plant, have created fear in the minds of those wishing to work there and have restrained many persons from entering. It is charged that the pickets have threatened physical violence to those employed by the company.

Interference with shipments and deliveries to and from the plant is also charged. A switch engine of the Terminal Railroad, it is alleged, was prevented from entering to take out a car loaded with the company's products; deliveries of coal to the establishment have been prevented, and trucks have been turned back.

A fire hazard is thus created, it is alleged, as the plant is located in an unincorporated area and its only means of fire protection is a steam pressure pump, operation of which depends on a coal supply.

The court is asked to enjoin the former employes from picketing in such number as to prevent access to the plant by persons employed, or those having business there; from hindering those desiring to work, and from interfering with individual ingress or egress or with deliveries or shipments.

An award of damages, for losses already inflicted, is asked, no amount being stated.

The strike at the Curtis plant, which had 465 production workers, was called by the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, a C I O affiliate. The union's demands include a 40-hour week, 10 per cent increase in pay, union recognition and a preferential shop.

LEWIS TO TAKE HAND IN QUARREL IN AUTO UNION

C I O Leader Will Address Convention Tomorrow in Effort to End Factionalism Delaying Business.

MARTIN CHARGES OBSTRUCTIVE WORK

Meeting Votes $10,000 for Tom Mooney Defense Fund, Declares for Office Workers' Division.

By the Associated Press.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 26.—John L. Lewis, chairman of the Committee for Industrial Organization, will address the United Automobile Workers' convention tomorrow morning, apparently to take a hand toward ending factionalism that has been delaying convention business.

The uproar in the debate over President Homer Martin's charge the convention was being "embarrassed" by "obstructionists using obstructive tactics" turned to cheers last night when Martin disclosed Lewis would appear.

The new tension between "progressive" and "unity" factions broke suddenly after good feeling seemingly had been restored between the rival groups led by Martin and First Vice - President Wyndham Mortimer, respectively, over concentration of power in the president's office. The "unity" group wants it divided equally between the president and four vice-presidents.

Lewis' Aid Seeks Peace.

Two Lewis lieutenants, Ora Gassaway and John Brophy, have been acting in the role of peacemakers since the convention opened Monday. Now Lewis himself apparently will take a hand.

"Unity" and "progressive" badges were in evidence on the coat lapels of delegates and the convention floor hummed with discussion of rival policies. A move to bar wearing insignia was ruled out of order.

The newest strife in a series of conflicts which have stalemated the convention since Monday was touched off by John Anderson of Detroit. Rising on a point of order, Anderson declared the convention "had reached the saturation point in long-winded speeches, including extemporaneous remarks by the president."

"Go down and ask the constitution committee why a minority is holding up the work of this committee," countered Martin. "Why it is seeking to embarrass this convention. It is because they are obstructionists using obstructive tactics."

Immediately shouting delegates in all corners jumped to their feet for recognition. During the pandemonium, a motion to adjourn was shouted out. Martin then recognized Walter Reuther of Detroit, a "unity" faction leader, who voiced the opinion the chair was "very unfair and not at all conducive to further harmony when he says a minority is obstructing reports of committees."

The convention still is awaiting the constitution committee report, while the credentials committee is struggling to settle the dispute over seating nine Michigan delegates—a matter which was referred back to the committee, under pressure of the "unity" faction.

Condemns Internal Politics.

Earlier last night, the convention adopted a resolution condemning internal politics. The resolution "thoroughly condemned" as being detrimental to the union a practice by which "members on the payroll have used their positions in promoting politics within the international union."

Delegates adopted an amended resolution, recommending that $10,000, instead of $1000, be given by the U A W to a defense fund for Tom Mooney who has served 21 years in California prisons after conviction of participation in the 1916 Preparedness day bombing in San Francisco. The convention also recommended that the Committee for Industrial Organization institute a national campaign to obtain a pardon for Mooney.

Without debate, delegates voted down a resolution proposing that "price-fixing" be included in any industry-wide agreements made with the U A W as a means of insuring higher wages.

The convention also adopted a resolution advocating formation of an office workers' division of the U A W to include typists, stenographers, bookkeepers, accountants, and general office workers in the automotive industry.

Speaker Assails Vigilantes.

Isadore Polier of New York, a member of the National Executive Board of the Lawyers' Guild, urged workers to campaign for improvement of laws affecting workmen's compensation, unemployment insurance, and old-age security. Polier denounced the vigilante movement, declaring: "Financed by industry, it is an auxiliary army of thugs and strikebreakers. It has set itself above law and has had the effrontery to declare that the right of labor to organize is an invasion of the right of the individual to work. This movement must be crushed not only in the interests of labor but in the interests of political democracy."

U. S. WON'T PRESS CHARGE OF GLASS CONSPIRACY HERE

MIGHT RE-ENTER THE CASE LATER

Post-Dispatch Bureau,
201-205 Kellogg Bldg.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Discouraged by failure to obtain convictions in St. Louis on charges of conspiracy to defraud the Government through excessive prices on P W A plastering contracts, the Department of Justice has decided not to undertake similar prosecution of manufacturers, jobbers and trade union officials in the glass industry.

Evidence relating to the glass industry practices in St. Louis, it was learned today, has been turned over to the Federal Trade Commission which has issued a complaint against manufacturers and distributers controlling virtually the entire national supply of window glass.

At the Department of Justice it was emphasized that if further evidence warranted such action the Justice Department could re-enter the case.

Inquiry Made a Year Ago.

The original investigation of the glass business in St. Louis was made about a year ago by P W A agents who submitted a report to Attorney-General Cummings last October. Cummings sent the evidence gathered by P W A investigators to District Attorney Harry C. Blanton of St. Louis, who deferred consideration of it, pending the outcome of the plastering conspiracy trial.

The P W A investigation produced evidence alleged to show collusion of manufacturers, jobbers and labor unions, including the use of violence, to fix the price of glass on P W A jobs in St. Louis. Evidence involving four St. Louis glass firms was given in the report. The report charged that the firms mentioned entered into an agreement with representatives of the glaziers' union, the practical effect of which was to give those involved a continuing monopoly on Government business in St. Louis. A price-fixing committee was set up, the report charged, and vandalism was used to enforce the committee's decisions. Photographs of windows broken by bricks were included in the report in support of the vandalism charge.

To Be Used in National Inquiry.

All these documents were sent to the Federal Trade Commission Tuesday with the suggestion that the St. Louis case probably would be pertinent to the commission's investigation of the glass industry nationally.

Should the commission act, it could issue a "cease and desist" order, involving no penalty for offenses found to have been committed before the order was issued. If new bids, however, presented evidence of violation of the cease and desist order, the Department of Justice might re-enter the case.

In its complaint against the national manufacturers and distributors of glass, issued last June, the Federal Trade Commission charged a conspiracy to fix discriminatory prices tending to increase the cost of glass to the public.

Respondents in this action have until Sept. 12 to file their answer to the complaint. Until the answer has been filed no further step will be taken.

In the plaster conspiracy case five contractors and four labor leaders weer found not guilty June 3, after a trial lasting three weeks. The prosecution was handled by former Congressman James E. Ruffin of Springfield, assigned to the trial as Special Assistant Attorney-General because District Attorney Blanton was busy with another trial.

NEUTRAL ON MARITIME UNIONS

Commission to Favor Neither C I O Nor A. F. L. Says Chairman.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26. — The Maritime Commission will remain "neutral toward all labor organizations," Chairman Joseph P. Kennedy announced last night.

He thus turned down the demand of President William Green of the American Federation of Labor that the commission support the International Seamen's Union, an A. F. of L. affiliate, as against C I O forces of John L. Lewis. Green had said in a letter to Kennedy that the A. F. of L. union honors its agreements and opposes sit-down strikes, while "others" do not.

Catholic Action Center Schedule.

The Barat Catholic Action Center, 4222 Minnesota avenue, announces registration for the fall term of school will start Aug. 30. Classes will open Sept. 7. The curriculum this year will include courses in religion, home economics, commerce, Red Cross work, languages, dramatics, music and club work.

WAR POSTER ARTIST DROWNED AT PICNIC

Death of M. Leone Bracker at Rye, N. H., Is Held to Have Been Accidental.

By the Associated Press.

IPSWICH, Mass., Aug. 26. — A medical referee's report of "accidental drowning" today wrote an end to the career of M. Leone Bracker, 52 years old, internationally famous artist whose World War posters were shown to millions.

Coastguardsmen found his body late yesterday in four feet of water at Rye, N. H., where he had gone with a picknicking party. The artist was believed to have slipped and struck his head on rocks before falling into the water. His wife and daughter sat on a nearby beach, unaware of the tragedy.

Famous before the war, Bracker's posters for liberty loan campaigns brought him even greater renown. From his brush came one of the most famous war posters: "Keep 'Em Smiling," which depicted three soldiers smiling courageously.

His Near East relief posters were credited with contributing a large share toward the success of the drive.

Earlier in his career, with charcoal as his favorite medium, Bracker illustrated many of the outstanding magazine stories on two continents.

"Forgettting a Thousand Cares," one of his posters which depicted an elderly lady enjoying a movie, was exhibited in theaters all over the country. His "Ten Commandments" series are framed in thousands of homes.

A native of Cleveland, Bracker studied in New York, London, Paris and Berlin. He maintained a home here for many years.

Besides his widow and daughter, Mildred, who were with him, he leaves another daughter, Delia.

MAYOR BANGS STARTS DRIVE AGAINST SLOT MACHINES

Huntington (Ind.) Executive Learned About Rackets in Jail —Police Chief Quits.

By the Associated Press.

HUNTINGTON, Ind., Aug. 26.—Mayor Clare W. H. Bangs told in an interview today how during his 1936 nine-month stay in the Huntington County jail he obtained a tip which led to a series of slot machine raids last week-end and the resignation of Police Chief Ray C. Forst yesterday.

Bangs served a four-month jail term in 1935 and returned to a cell in 1936 in an unsuccessful fight for a municipally-owned electric light plant.

"I learned of certain rackets here while I was in jail last year, but kept quiet and waited until I had sufficient evidence," he said. Prosecutor Burr H. Glenn has ordered the grand jury to meet Sept. 8 to investigate the slot machine activities. Last week-end Bangs personally directed raids in which 10 devices were seized.

"I said when I came into office that I would not tolerate police participating in rackets," he said.

Baer was told Aug. 19 to "get out of town or else." Since then he had been under heavy guard. The strike of his union has closed 12 millinery firms here.

POCKET VETO FOR THEFT BILL

It Would Penalize Interstate Handling of Stolen Animals.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—President Roosevelt by a pocket veto today killed a Senate bill to make it a Federal offense knowingly to transport and receive stolen animals in interstate commerce.

In a statement explaining his action the President said: "It will be observed that the scope of the measure is so broad as to bring within its terms numerous offenses of the petty larceny type. It would seem best that cases of this class should be handled by the local authorities, as they have been heretofore, and Federal jurisdiction should not be extended to them."

UNIVERSITY OF MADRID TO REOPEN IN OCTOBER

Location Not Decided—Priest Doing Large Part of Organization Work.

By the Associated Press.

MADRID, Aug. 26.—With a priest doing a large part of the preparatory work, officials went ahead today with plans to reopen the war-closed University of Madrid in October.

The Rev. Jose Gallegos, former dean of Cordoba Cathedral and professor of philosophy at the University, is active in the work under patronage of the Government's Ministry of Education.

The university will be merged provisionally with the universities of Valencia, Barcelona and M[illegible]a. The Barcelona institution is the only one which has remained open since the war started.

The location of the joint institution has not been decided on since the campus of the University of Madrid at University City has been one of the major battlegrounds of the civil war, now in its fourteenth month.

Priests composed part of the faculty before the war and Father Gallegos said some might be included on the staff of the new institution.

He explained: "The Government is not against priests as priests and is imposing no political requirements on professors other than that they be anti-Fascist and recognize the legitimate Government."

He said Jose Gaos, rector of the University of Madrid, probably would head the new institution.

"Attendance may be small," the priest said, "as a large part of the student population is at the front, but the new university will have schools of philosophy, letters, science, medicine and pharmacy."

The University of Madrid was closed several times by the Government before the civil war because of disturbances attributed to Rightest students.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT SIGNS THIRD DEFICIENCY MEASURE

Bill Authorizes $65,000,000 Worth of Tariff Receipts to Be Used for Cotton Subsidies.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—President Roosevelt signed today the third deficiency bill, appropriating $87,662,000 for various Government departments and agencies.

The measure also authorizes the use of $65,000,000 of tariff receipts for subsidies to cotton farmers in connection with a Government effort to stabilize the price at 12 cents a pound.

These subsidies, to be paid next year on this year's crop to farmers who comply with surplus control legislation to be enacted next session, will be equivalent to the difference between the average price at 10 spot markets and 12 cents.

The President has not decided how much the Government will lend on this year's crop to help in the price pegging effort. He has been requested by Secretary Wallace to make the loan 9 cents a pound while Cotton State Senators have urged 10 cents.

The largest item in the deficiency bill as far as new appropriations are concerned, is $25,000,000 for construction of public buildings. The bill also carries $10,000,000 to start the farm tenancy aid program and another $10,000,000 for retirement of sub-marginal lands.

It was one of 58 bills which the President approved, leaving 81 yet to be acted upon.

ILLINOIS CONGRESSMAN TALKS TO ROOSEVELT ABOUT DUCKS

L. L. Boyer Says He Told President Use of Live Decoys Would Conserve Wild Fowl.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Representative Lewis L. Boyer of Quincy, Ill., said today he believed President Roosevelt would permit the use of live decoys in duck hunting after the present regulations for hunting migratory fowl expire.

Boyer discussed the matter with the President yesterday. "We can't help the duck hunters right away, because the new regulations were signed Aug. 4," Boyer said. "But I think that if the President had heard my story he would not have barred the live decoys."

He said he told the President other decoys keep birds so far from the hunters that many are hit and get away to die later, but few are brought down. "Right now it's a hundred shots for 10 ducks," he said. "This does not help to conserve them. There would be more birds if they permitted the hunters to use tame ducks as decoys."

"Cushion" Shaving Ends Dry Skin Torture

Dry skin makes shaving a hazard. It's the oil in your skin that lubricates the razor edge and forms a "cushion" of protective film. Without oil, the blade scrapes along with a harsh "pull" nicking rough spots and grating the skin into red soreness.

Now every man with dry, tender skin can give himself a "cushion" shave — free from razor-rawness and nicks.

Mentholatum Brushless Shave softens up rough, dry, skin, and applies a "cushion" of smoothness. Then the blade glides with the ease of a soaring bird. What's more it wilts the wiriest stubble as it has never been wilted before — to be mowed down in the cleanest closest shave you've ever had.

Try a tube of Mentholatum Brushless Shave for one week at our risk. Unless you think enough of it to rush and tell your friends about it, your money will be returned. Start "cushion" shaving today.

DESCENDANTS OF PIONEERS TO HONOR DANIEL BOONE

Four-Day Centennial Program Gets Under Way at Warrenton, Mo.

By the Associated Press.

WARRENTON, Mo., Aug. 26. — Descendants of pioneers flocked to Warrenton today for the opening of a four-day centennial celebration honoring the county's "first settlers," Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Boone.

"Over the Boone's Lick Trail to Warren County" will portray in pageant form the growth of the town and county.

Francis M. Curlee, St. Louis attorney, who is a descendant of Boone's brother, will speak tonight. Other speakers will be Lloyd King, State Superintendent of Schools, and State Senator James S. Rollins of Columbia.

Exhibits will show the county's history from the first grist and saw mill through 30 years of tobacco culture and the coming of the Wabash Railroad.

Scott Field Officer Transferred.

NEW HIGHWAY 40 RELIEF ROUTE TO BE PAVED IN FALL

Grading, Bridges and Culverts Nearly Finished; Bids for Surfacing to Be Opened Nov. 10.

Pouring of concrete paving on the new Highway 40 relief route, for a distance of three and one-half miles west of Lindbergh boulevard, would begin probably later in the autumn, C. C. Tevis, construction engineer for the State Highway Department, said today.

The grading of this stretch is nearly finished and construction of bridges and culverts, including grade separations at Spoede and Ballas roads, is about three-fourths complete. There will be two 20-foot roadways, separated by a 30-foot parkway. Bids for paving will be opened Nov. 10.

Grading and bridge construction on a five-mile section of the road to the west, which will connect the eastern section with existing paving at Bellefontaine, is about 25 per cent completed. Grade separations on this part are planned at Woods Mills and Mason roads. The rest of the new route, from Bellefontaine to Wentzville, including a bridge over the Missouri River, is open to traffic.

Death Sentence for Wife Poisoner.

MARSHALL, Ark., Aug. 26.—A jury returned a verdict of death in the electric chair yesterday against Hollis Ray, 40 years old, timber dealer, who pleaded guilty of the poisoning of his wife here several weeks ago. Court officials said it was the first capital sentence ordered in the history of Searcy County.

SEVENTH CORPS MANEUVERS AT FORT RILEY END

35TH DIVISION IN GOOD POSITION

Result Appears Indecisive and Critique Will be Conducted Tomorrow for Benefit of Officers.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

FORT RILEY, Kan., Aug. 26.—The four-day maneuvers of Seventh Corps troops of the Fourth Army ended today after an early morning action that saw more than 12,000 regular and National Guard soldiers in the field.

The maneuvers were officially ended when two umpire planes flew over the reservation area and released red and white flares shortly before 10 o'clock. At the signal, the dusty, weary soldiers, many of whom had spent the night in field bivouac, started for their camps. The tactical efforts of the opposing generals apparently failed of decisive results and the umpires seized the occasion to call time, although it appeared that the 35th Division had the better position.

Tomorrow morning a critique of the entire action will be conducted by the chief umpires for the benefit of the participating officers.

Spend Night in Field.

Thirty-fifth Division troops spent last night in the field and took up their lines of defense before dawn. The opposing Provisional Cavalry division began moving shortly after midnight, making use of its greater mobility to reach its more widely separated positions. Unlike the action of the previous days, there were no spectacular charges or engagements this morning.

Officers in charge of the maneuvers expressed satisfaction that the extensive action, in which hundreds of rounds of blank ammunition was fired and vehicles and horses were driven over rough terrain, was concluded without a single serious accident and with the troops in good health. Before leaving camp, the National Guard troops and reserve officers participating will receive a total of $412,000 in pay.

Command Post Captured.

The highlight of yesterday's action was the capture of the Thirty-fifth Division command post by a squadron of the First Cavalry. The hard-bitten regular troopers, who dodged around enemy machine guns and through a battery of artillery to reach the command post, cut telephone wires and gleefully took charge of the situation until umpires decided that the troopers had theoretically suffered too heavy a fire on their way to the command post to have actually accomplished the feat. Although ruled off-side, the cavalry enjoyed its own show just the same.

The cavalry charge emphasized the fact that umpire control is a poor substitute for bullets. Many times during the maneuvers a defending force insisted it had decimated an attacking force, which was permitted by the umpires to take up an advantageous position. Another point emphasized was the necessity of good communications.

Camp will be broken tomorrow and the National Guard units will reach their home stations on Saturday. St. Louis units were the 138th Infantry, Battery A., 128th Field Artillery and the Thirty-Fifth Division Aviation.

CHARGE OF KIDNAPING AGAINST PASTOR DISMISSED

Brooklyn Clergyman Freed in Case Involving Marriage of Night Club Dancer.

A warrant charging kidnaping against the Rev. Milton Crockett, Negro clergyman of Brooklyn, a settlement north of East St. Louis, was dismissed by Justice of the Peace William Kane at East St. Louis yesterday, following a preliminary hearing.

The minister was charged with having abetted the alleged kidnaping of Samella Hoskin, 16-year-old Negro dancer at a Brooklyn night club, by officiating at her wedding in St. Louis Aug. 10, to Ted Darby, 22, blind musician at the club. The girl testified yesterday that, while she was married against her will, she did not tell the minister this.

Sharker Swift, Negro laborer, charged also with kidnaping in having driven the wedding party to St. Louis, was held to the grand jury under $1000 bond. Samella Hoskin testified Swift had threatened injury to her mother if she did not go through with the marriage.

SUES ST. CHARLES GAS CO.

Woman Says She Fell Through Trap Door Left Open by Employe.

Mrs. Lena Hammett, proprietor of a St. Charles restaurant, filed suit in Circuit Court at St. Charles yesterday for $7500 damages from the St. Charles Gas Co., alleging she was injured May 21 when she fell through a trap door left open by a company employe who read the meter in her restaurant.

SHOT AT BEACH

MRS. LOIS ROBINSON

ADMITS FIRING SHOTS AT SWIMMING PARTY

Fisherman Thought Friend Had Been Killed, He Says; Woman Wounded.

Herman Maye, 60-year-old fishermanX arrested today by St. Clair County deputy sheriffs investigating the shooting of Mrs. Lois Robinson, was reported to have admitted firing two shots from a high-powered rifle at an automobile in which she was riding because he thought her companions ha dkilled a friend.

Mrs. Robinson, who lives at 1811 North Fifty-seventh street, Washington Park, was taken to Christian Welfare Hospital at East St. Louis early today for treatment of two bullet wounds in the right hip. She said she had been a member of a swimming party at Sandy Beach, five miles south of East St. Louis.

Her companions were her brother Fred Campbell, 26, a W P A foreman of the same address; her brother-in-law, Robert Robinson, 21, 1837 North Fifty-seventh street, and Mrs. Dessie Alpon, 28, 1809 North Fifty-seventh. They were held for questioning. They told authorities Mrs. Robinson had been shot as they drove away after they had taken a shotgun from a farm hand with whom they had engaged in an argument.

The farm hand, Adam Groceman, 50, employed on Small Pox Island, near the beach, told of being disarmed and beaten by Campbell after a controversy which resulted when his automobile stuck in the sand on a narrow dike blocking Campbell's automobile. He said Campbell and Robinson became abusive and that he went to Maye's cabin nearby for help.

Borrowing a shotgun from Maye, Groceman told authorities, he returned to the stalled automobile, with Maye following at some distance. Campbell disarmed him and beat him into unconsciousness, he asserted.

Maye said he thought Groceman was dead when he arrived at the scene as Campbell's machine was being driven away. He fired two shots, he said, before he determined the condition of his friend. He told authorities he did not know his shots took effect until he was arrested this afternoon .

Campbell contended he acted in self-defense after Groceman had threatened them. He and Robinson had attempted to assist the farmhand with his automobile after he had asked their help as they were swimming at the beach about midnight, he said.

Groceman was arrested several hours after the shooting when deputies learned from another resident of the island that he was the owner of the stalled automobile.

Harry Sexton, a nephew of McGrievy, who identified the body, told police his uncle had been missing from home since Monday. He said relatives knew no reason why McGrievy, who was 67 years old, might have ended his life and suggested that he might have fallen into the river while fishing.

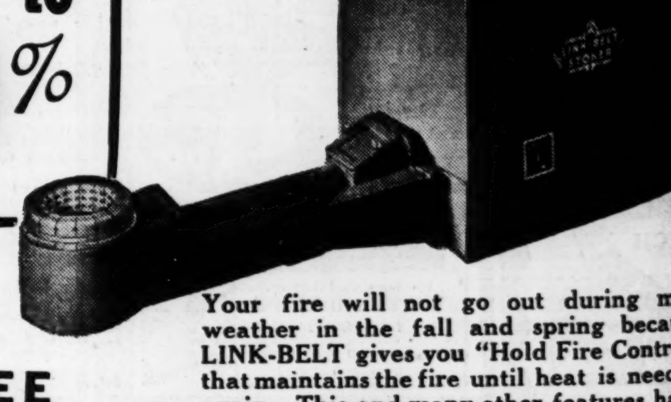
LINK-BELT AUTOMATIC COAL STOKER
Cut FUEL Costs 20% to 50%
Wake up in a comfortable house. Go through the day without a thought of your fire. Enjoy uniform, healthful temperature at all times with this most economical automatic heat. In fact, the LINK-BELT STOKER gives you not only the lowest priced automatic heat, but also offers you an amazing savings over hand firing by burning lower priced stoker coal, evenly and cleanly.



Your fire will not go out during mild weather in the fall and spring because LINK-BELT gives you "Hold Fire Control" that maintains the fire until heat is needed again. This and many other features have made possible Link-belt's leadership. Come in, and let a heat expert explain them to you.
FREE HEAT SURVEY
Phone or write for a free inspection of your heating system . . . by experienced heating experts . . . with a written report showing you what you can do to put it in shape to save fuel money. NO COST . . . NO OBLIGATION.

C I O UNIONS MAKE PLANS FOR LABOR DAY PARADE

Workers Will Assemble at Grand and Washington and March to Rally.

The first Labor day parade and rally in St. Louis in 10 years will be held this year by local unions affiliated with the Committee for Industrial Organization.

The marchers will assemble at 11 o'clock on the morning of Labor day, Sept. 6, at Grand and Washington boulevards and will proceed to Thirteenth and Market streets where the rally will be held. Edward I. Morgan, Madisonville, Ky., president of District 23 of the United Mine Workers of America, will be the principal speaker.

Members of the Gas House Workers' Union were chosen last night to lead the parade in recognition of the formation of their organization as one of the first C I O affiliates in St. Louis. Several bands and members of the beauticians' and barbers' unions in working uniform will also march in the parade.

WARNER DEFENSE IN WOMAN DETECTIVE'S $510,000 SUIT

Auto Parts Magnate Says She Frightened His Son With Story He'd Be Put in "Bug House."

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 26.—Multimillionaire Thomas W. Warner Sr. in an affidavit today accused Detective Pearl Anitbus of frightening his son with a story the elder Warner would put him "in the bug house."

The auto parts magnate gave his statement in defense against Mrs. Antibus' suit for $510,000 damages, based upon injuries she said she received in an illegal raid on her home to end the alleged "love captivity" of Thomas Warner Jr.

Young Warner and a blond divorcee, Mrs. Jean MacDonald, were Mrs. Antibus' guests when Warner senior and District Attorney's investigators arrived.

The father said he met his son in an upstairs bathroom and asked: "What is happening to you? The other day, you appeared on the verge of nervous prostration. I have been worried about you." Then, he said, young Warner answered: "What are you going to do with me? Aren't you going to put me in the bug house? Pearl (Anitbus) said you were."

FEEDING OF PYTHON WITNESSED BY 2000

Maharanee of Wangpoo Held by Seven Men at Public Food-Forcing.

Another public force-feeding of one of the St. Louis Zoo's Indian pythons was held on the lawn just west of the Reptile House in Forest Park yesterday afternoon before a crowd of more than 2000, of which more than half were children.

The subject of the force feeding this time was not Blondie, the python who has received its food in this manner for the last 10 years, but Maharanee of Wangpoo, Blondie's cage-mate. It was the first time that Maharanee had been forced-fed in public.

Because she is longer and heavier, Maharanee go half again as much food as Blondie usually gets, or 21 pounds of ground rabbit meat. It was given to her without any trouble, although seven men, instead of the six who usually hold down Blondie, were required to keep her in place.

Many Out-State Autos There.

The snake force-feedings continue to be one of the most popular attractions at the Zoo. There were many out-state license plates in the park—from Illinois, Kentucky and Arkansas.

The feeding was done, as usual, by R. Marlin Perkins, curator of reptiles, who filled a long piece of black rubber hose with the rabbit meat and then pushed it down the snake's throat with a plunger. This was done three times, seven pounds of meat going down each time.

Blonde must be force-fed because she refuses to eat, not, apparently, having ever sufficiently been won over to captivity. Maharanee used to eat voluntarily, but recently the muscles in her jaw began to atrophy and she can no longer swallow of her own accord.

Another Feeding Wednesday.

The feedings are usually done once a month. Blondie was fed two weeks ago, but Director George P. Vierheller said she would be fed again next Wednesday to permit chidlren to see the act once more before vacation ends.

ESCAPED TEXAS CONVICT RECAPTURED IN DETROIT

He Had Pistol and Sawed-Off Shotgun in Traveling Bag When Arrested.

DETROIT, Aug. 26.—Clifton Davidson, 33 years old, alias Jack Moore, who told police he was an escaped Texas convict, was held here today. Two patrolmen, who stopped him on suspicion as he boarded a street car, found an automatic pistol and a sawed-off shotgun in his traveling bag.

The patrolmen said he admitted that he had escaped last June with 10 other convicts from a road camp at Retrieve, Tex., while serving a 35-year term for a bank robbery at Richardson, Tex. He had been sentenced in 1931.

All the other fugitives have been either killed or recaptured, he told police.

"I went to Memphis," the policemen said he told them, "and got $200 in the stickup of an ice cream wholesaler. Then I went to Chicago and on July 5 held up a big produce market there. I got a lot of money—nearly $4000—and came to Michigan.

"I got a job in a roadhouse and was behaving myself, but I got sick of it and was leaving for New York.

He had $8 when arrested.

BOYS BLOCK STREET IN STRIKE FOR MUNICIPAL PLAYGROUNDS

Jersey City Children Raise Rock Barricades; Police Tear Them Down Twice.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Aug. 26.—Barricades of rock arose on a street yesterday as 200 youngsters started a strike for municipal playgrounds that confused police and interrupted traffic.

Within sight of United States Senator A. Harry Moore's house the young demonstrators blocked off a thoroughfare on both ends and paraded with signs proclaiming: "We want plagrounds," "Why don't Senator Moore get us playgrounds," and "Sit-down strike."

A laundry truck driver drove on the sidewalk in an effort to pass the barricade. Rocks were thrown at his truck.

Twenty policemen dispersed the children, removed the barriers and departed. Within 20 minutes a new wall, now three-feet high, grew and the occupation of Randolph place began anew. Police went back, tore down the wall once more and this time took names of children so as to ask their parents for aid. A patrolman was assigned to guard the area last night.

FRANCE WILL NOT RECOGNIZE JAPAN'S BLOCKADE OF CHINA

Tokio Warned of "Difficulties" if Warships Stop and Search Boats in Chinese Waters.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Aug. 26.—France will not recognize the right of blockading Japanese warships to search foreign ships in Chinese waters, sources close to the Foreign Office said today.

These persons pointed out that international law prescribes a nation first must declare war and notify neutrals of its intention to create such a blockade.

There will be "international difficulties" if Japan starts halting and searching foreign shipping without making such declarations, they added.

C I O THEATER UNION CHARTER REQUESTED

Some Movie Operators Apply to Set Up Rival to A. F. of L. Organization.

A group of motion picture operators of St. Louis have filed application for a charter with Bert Tavender, C I O director here, to set up a union in competition with the Moving Picture Machine Operators' Local, No. 143, of the A. F. of L. The proposed C I O union, following the industrial policy of the C I O, would include other theater employes besides projectionists.

Tavender declined to discuss the application today or say if he would forward it to the division of the C I O national offices at Washington, which has the power to grant charters.

It was learned, however, that about 30 motion picture theater owners of St. Louis and vicinity have signified their willingness to enter into a contract with a C I O union of theater employes, if it is chartered.

They are members of the Moving Picture Theater Owners' Association of Eastern Missouri and Southern Illinois, who are still wondering what became of a $15,000 defense fund, collected from them last September, when the organization was negotiating a wage contract with the A. F. of L. projectionists' union.

That contract, which resulted from negotiations beginning with a demand for an increase in pay of $10 a week for projectionists and ending with only minor increases for some operators, according to the number of seats in theaters where they were employed, expires next Wednesday. The group of theater owners, dissatisified with the collection of the "defense fund," thinks it an opportune time to seek other contractual labor relations.

As told in the Post-Dispatch last June, Clarence H. Kaimann, owner of North St. Louis theaters and a member of the owners' association labor committee conducting negotiations with the union, said the "defense fund" was collected and that it was used for "picnics and things like that." Two members of the owners' association exhibited canceled checks to a reporter for $150 each, which they said were for the "defense fund," sought by members of the labor committee and made out in the last names of two of its members. The checks were indorsed the same way.

John P. Nick, international representative of the projectionists, has said he never heard of the theater owner's "defense fund."

Another objection of the dissatisfied group results from maintenance service for theater sound equipment. Because union projection operators will not permit nonunion sound engineers to enter booths, theater owners must buy the service from the Co-Operative Sound Service Co., 3315 Olive street, established last August, by Clyde Weston, now business agent of the projectionists' union. It is the only St. Louis firm employing union sund engineers. Weston has said he sold the business before he became business agent last January.

$23,500 ACTION AGAINST WALSH AND M'MENAMY SET

Ordered to Show Cause Why They Should Not Turn Over Cash to E. J. Perry Estate.

Alphonse J. Walsh and Malcolm McMenamy, officers of the John McMenamy Real Estate & Investment Co., under reorganization in United States District Court, were ordered yesterday by Probate Judge Glendy B. Arnold to show cause Sept. 21, why they should not turn over $23,506 to the estate of Elias J. Perry, retired gardener who died last August.

Application for the order was filed by Public Administrator Thomas R. Madden, who is in charge of the estate. It was stated the books of the McMenamy company showed Perry had a credit of $23,506 in his account with the firm, and the account is principal asset of the estate. A claim for that amount has been filed in Federal Court in connection with the reorganization proceedings.

Paul G. Osterbeck, attorney for Madden, said Walsh had been named executor of the estate in Perry's will, but had declined to serve. He said he understood that Perry was a close friend of the late John McMenamy, and had placed his money with the McMenamy firm for safekeeping. Perry's will bequeathed most of the estate to charitable institutions.

FIRE AT SPRINGFIELD, ILL., CAUSES $200,000 DAMAGE

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 26.—Fire today damaged most of a block near the Springfield business district and a lumber yard. The loss is estimated at $200,000.

The office and yards of Schuck & Sons Lumber Co. were completely destroyed. William Ruhle, manager, puts the loss at more than $150,000.

Fire Chief W. W. Delaney said the blaze apparently started in a lumber shed.

Firemen saved the adjoining buildings of the Producers' Dairy Co. and Sangamon County Farm Bureau. Officers said $50,000 damage was done to the creamery station and boiler and storage rooms.

TROUBLE IN BAHAMAS LAID TO RACE FEELING

British Authorities Find Government House Burned, but Negroes Quiet.

By the Associated Press.

NASSAU, Bahamas, Aug. 26. — British authorities reached Great Inagua Island yesterday to deal with natives who last week forced the Commissioner and a group of Americans to flee to Cuba in an open boat.

The investigators found the Government House, wireless station and other buildings burned and sacked, but the Negroes had settled back to their accustomed routine.

The official party was sent from here as soon as word of the uprising was received, but the 400-mile voyage to the remote outpost of the colony took nearly a week.

The Americans, including Josiah and Douglas Erickson of Swampscott, Mass., who operate extensive salt works at Inagua, and Commissioner Dudley Arthur, reached the coast of Cuba, 50 miles away, in a disabled motor launch after five days at sea without food or water.

Racial feeling apparently caused the disturbances. Letters from Inagua residents received before the outbreak indicated high tension over an arson case involving the son of a leading citizen. One man was killed in the rioting.

(Dr. Arthur, the physician-commissioner, said in Cuba an order he gave for the arrest of a native accused of mistreating a child apparently precipitated the trouble. The natives blamed the Erickson brothers for the order.)

U. S. Consul Intercedes for Refugees, Arrested in Cuba.

By the Associated Press.

SANTIAGO, Cuba, Aug. 26.—The United States Consul here interceded last night for 14 British and American refugees from the Bahamas, who were arrested for possession of arms when they landed on the Cuban coast near Mayari.

The Consul told the District Commander in Oriente Province that the refugees were known to him as peaceful. They had not yet been brought to Santiago, where Cuban authorities had planned to try them.

(Advances from Havana said it was believed the group would be released to United States and British officials.)

A tentative list of the refugees said five of them were United States citizens and indicated the rest were British. The Americans were listed as Joseph M. Erickson and Douglas Erickson, both of Swampscott, Mass.; Allan Q. Mowatt (or Moffatt), electrical engineer, also of Swampscott; Philip A. Smith, bookkeeper, Portland, Me., and Charles E. Kaddy, 24, construction engineer from Fort Worth, Tex.

The leader of the party was said to be Dr. Dudley Arthur, said to be an official of the British Bahaman Government.

When they landed in Cuba, rural police arrested them on suspicion of being revolutionists, as they carried several rifles, shotguns and pistols, as well as two tear gas guns and ammunition.

JACOBS TAKES ACTION AFTER RIVALS WEIGH IN FOR BATTLE

Champion and Challenger to Return to Training Camps—Promoter Hopes for Bigger Gate.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26. — The heavyweight championship fight between Joe Louis, who will be defending his title for the first time, and Tommy Farr, British Empire champion, scheduled for tonight, was postponed until Monday night because of rain.

The four-day postponement was announced by Promoter Mike Jacobs shortly after the rival fighters weighed it, at the office of the State Athletic Commission.

The Welsh challenger had a nine-pound advantage on the scales, weighing 207 to 198 for Louis.

Because of the length of the postponement, the fighters will be obliged to go through the official weighing-in again, on Monday.

Hopes for Better Gate.

A drizzling rain, with no signs of letup by tonight or encouraging reports as to tomorrow's weather, prompted Jacobs to defer the title match.

Another factor, presumably, was that the advance ticket sale has been disappointing. The promoter hoped that the additional time would develop sufficient interest to make the bout a financial success.

Farr and Louis stripped within a few feet of each other for the weigh-in, without exchanging a word. As Louis stepped off the scales, he stuck out his hand and said to the challenger: "How are you?" Farr replied: "Very good." That was the extent of their conversation.

Will Return to Camps.

Both fighters decided to return to their camps, Farr to Long Branch, N. J., and Louis to Pompton Lakes, N. J., for light workouts.

The postponement was the second in as many years for Louis in a major engagement. His memorable bout with Max Schmeling, just a year ago, was deferred one night because of rain. It marked the first time a heavyweight title match has been postponed since boxing was legalized in New York.

Promoter Jacobs predicted the longer delay would be a box office boon. He pointed out that the Saratoga race meeting, which ends Saturday, would bring potential cash customers back to town.

The Boxing Commission changed its mind and decided to go through with the formalities of medical examination of Louis and Farr, after first indicating it would defer this until Monday.

Yanks 2, Browns 1, After 5 1-2 Innings; DiMaggio Hits Homer

By James M. Gould.

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, Aug. 26.—The New York Yankees, leading the league with 77 victories and 35 defeats, and the Browns, just reversing those figures by being in the cellar with 35 victories and 77 defeats, opened a three-game series today, with Jack Knott pitching for the cellar-dwellers and Lefty Gomez for the leaders.

The attendance was estimated at 1000.

The game:

FIRST INNING — YANKEES—Clift knocked down Crosetti's grounder and threw him out. Rolfe's pop fly fell safe in right and was good for a double. DiMaggio grounded to Clift, Rolfe reaching third. Gehrig was called out on strikes.

BROWNS—Allen singled to right. West flied to Powell. Dickey's throw to Crosetti had Allen caught stealing second, but the shortstop dropped the ball and Allen was safe. Crosetti threw out Vosmik, Allen reaching third. Clift singled over Crosetti's head, scoring Allen. Clift was out stealing, Dickey to Crosetti. ONE RUN.

SECOND—YANKEES — Dickey fouled to Allen. Powell flied to Vosmik. Hoag singled to center. Heffnes flied to West.

BROWNS—Bell lined to DiMaggio. Knickerbocker grounded to Crosetti. Hemsley struck out.

THIRD — YANKEES — Gomez doubled to center. Crosetti fouled to Hemsley. Carey threw out Rolfe, Gomez moving to third. DiMaggio walked. Gehrig walked, filling the bases. Dickey forced Gehrig, Carey to Knickerbocker.

BROWNS—Carey flied to Hoag. Knott fouled to Gehrig. Allen singled to center for his second hit. West singled to right, sending Allen to third. Vosmik flied to Hoag.

BROWNS—Crosetti made a remarkable gloved-hand catch of Carey's drive. Knott singled to left. Allen singled to right for his third straight hit, sending Knott to third. DiMaggio came in fast for West's line drive, Knott holding third. Vosmik forced Allen, Crosetti to Heffner.

SIXTH — YANKEES — DiMaggio tied the score with his 37th home run of the season, the ball going into the left field seats. Carey threw out Gehrig. Dickey bounced one on the roof of the pavilion for his 26th home run of the year. Clift threw out Powell. Hoag was safe when Bell dropped Clift's throw. Heffnes popped to Knickerbocker. TWO RUNS.

Five Boxers Enter.

Matchmaker Benny Kessler last night received the entries of five Tower A. C. boxers who will be given places on next Tuesday night's amateur boxing program at the Coliseum. Coach Barney McCarthy's representatives are Forrest Potts, current flyweight champion, Elwood Jones, 110 pounds; Tony Monaco and Al Dorlac, lightweights, and Bud Wisdom, 147-pounder. Both Potts and Wisdom have been on many St. Louis intercity teams.

Koverly Wrestles Zaharias Tonight

George "Kayo" Koverly, former fighter from Hollywood, will meet George Zaharias, of Pueblo, Colo., and Juan Humberto Pueblo-American, will oppose Lou Plummer, of Baltimore, in the two finish matches at Bill Schwabe's wrestling show tonight at the Coliseum.

Koverly will be seeking his third straight St. Louis conquest. He pinned Nanjo Singh and Eddie Newman in his last two local bouts. Zaharias, in his last bout here, took the measure of Singh in 46 seconds.

Humberto and Plummer will be meeting for the first time.

In two of the supporting matches heavyweights will be seen in action. Sol Slagel, 250-pounder from the West Coast, takes on Firpo Wilcox, rough Oklahoman, and Blue Sun Jennings, Cherokee Indian, opposes Chris Zaharias, brother of George.

Chicago Boxers Win Meet From South Americans

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—South America's amateur boxing champions headed for home today with an even break in two tournament engagements to show for their first invasion of the United States.

The sturdy youngsters who won five of eight titles in the Pan-American games at Dallas, Tex., recently, were defeated last night, 11 bouts to five, by Catholic Youth Organization champions of Chicago before 45,000 spectators in Soldier Field.

The South Americans, champions from Argentina, Brazil and Uruguay, won the hearts of the spectators by their aggressiveness and talent, as well as their sportsmanship in accepting without complaint two adverse and questionable decisions.

Salvador Bonanno, Argentina's welterweight, lost the decision to Chester Rutecki, after apparently having built up a clear margin, and Francisco Risiglione, tall, light heavyweight from the same country, lost under similar circumstances to John Hawthorne, Chicago Negro.

The victory kept intact the C. Y. O. record of never having lost a team battle at home.

147-Pound Class—Savior Canadeo, Chicago, defeated Jose Garcia, Uruguay, (3), decision. Chester Rutecki, Chicago, defeated Salvador Bonanno, Argentina, (3), decision. Stanley Murczek, Chicago, defeated Jose Lopez, Brazil, (3), decision.

Heavyweights—Tom Kenneally, Chicago, defeated Carlos Merediz, Argentina, (3), decision.

Will He Uncrown the Bomber?

Tommy Farr, British Empire heavyweight champion, who meets Joe Louis for the world title at Yankee Stadium next Monday night. Drawn by Jacob Burck of the Post-Dispatch staff at Farr's training camp at Long Branch, N. J.

Courage to Be Farr's Hope Against Louis' High Speed and Power

By John E. Wray.
Sports Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Next Monday will be the night for Thomas Paul George Farr of Tonypandy, Wales. The world is Tommy's oyster if he can open it. To do this he will have to defeat World Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis, the hard-punching Negro, in their 15-round battle at Yankee Stadium.

Victory for Tommy would open a vista of fame, fortune and self-vindication. It would likewise rout an international army of critics, the high privates of which have all but unanimously condemned the Welshman to defeat.

Even this writer's face will be red if Farr wins, because, after observing the Britisher, we can only concede him an outside chance to win, believing that Louis' great hitting speed and punching power should win by a knockout in less than 15 rounds.

But the reddest faces and the most mortified muggs in event of a Farr victory would be found among the British fight authorities, who almost as a unit have minimized Farr's hopes and have even gone so far as to allude to him as a "bum" in ring ability.

Farr Is Confident.

In bitter and scathing terms, Farr has voiced his scorn of those recreant countrymen who have been unable or unwilling to praise him, and he has followed it up with reiterated expressions of confidence in himself and contempt for the judgement of his own fellow countrymen. He has even turned his batteries against American and Canadian experts, who have ventured to criticize him.

To Farr everyone else is wrong.

The regiment to a man is out of step, all except Tommy. Yet, up to last night, even his manager, Ted Broadribb, shook his head sadly and withheld praise of his own fighter.

You can see just what victory would mean to Farr's wounded feelings, especially since something like $50,000 cash (his end of the purse), about a million dollars which the title is supposed to be worth, and the honor of being the first heavyweight since the Cornish-born Bob Fitzsimmons beat James J. Corbett to restore the title to the British Isles, would accrue to the Briton.

Has Farr a chance to accomplish

ALABAMA FOOTBALL STAR SIGNED BY YANKEES

By the Associated Press.

WICHITA, Kan., Aug. 26.—Joe Devine, scout for the New York Yankees, said yesterday Herman Caldwell, 20-year-old University of Alabama football star, has accepted a contract with the Yankee organization and will report to the Newark club of the International League next spring.

Caldwell attracted attention of major league scouts by his play in the national semi-pro baseball tournament here with the La Grange (Ga.) team.

By J. Roy Stockton.
Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 26.—Dizzy Dean, right-hand pitching star of the Cardinals, was ordered by Manager Frisch late this afternoon to go home to St. Louis immediately for examination of his arm by Dr. Robert Hyland, club surgeon. Dean, who has won only one game since July 4, declares a sore arm has kept him from taking his turn in the box.

After pitching to one batter and serving a strike and two balls to another at the start of the Birds' game here this afternoon, Dean retired from the box. Jesse Haines, Fred Blake and Tom Sunkel followed Dean to the hill and after having a 5 to 1 lead, the Redbirds were defeated, 8 to 5. What was to have been a doubleheader was curtailed to a single contest when rain prevented playing of the nightcap.

Absence of Dean from the regular starting staff of the Cardinals is a matter of great concern among the players, who feel that they have a chance to win the pennant, if Diz were hurling regularly and winning as his usual gait. The players believe that another Si Johnson, or a second Lon Warneke or an additional Bob Weiland would enhance their chances of getting into the world series.

Last Sunday at Pittsburgh, Dizzy pitched and won the second game of a doubleheader, after a bad first inning, in which the Pirates scored four runs. But after that frame Diz's showing was all that could be asked.

Diz has had no treatment from Harrison Weaver, club trainer, during his period of comparative inactivity. He visited Weaver last night, but it was a social call only. The players are eager for Dean to effect an end to his miseries, to aid them in their uphill fight against odds to gain in the league standing.

Diz has appeared to feel no disappointment over his absence from not having a large part in the Birds' recent spurt, which brought seven victories in nine games up to today. He is deadly serious, however, in reference to his arm difficulty.

The postponed half of today's twin bill will be played off in a doubelheader tomorrow.

Since the Giants and Cubs were both idle today because of rain, the Cards lost a half game to each and now trail the league leaders by six games and the second-place New Yorkers by four.

Haines got out of the first inning without a score after relieving Dizzy with a man on second and none out.

The Cards gave Pop a 3-0 lead in the first three frames and stepped it up to a bulge of 5-1 by scoring twice in the fourth inning, but the old fellow was driven to cover when the Phils scored three runs in their half of the fourth.

Blake, his successor, was nicked for lone runs in the three following cantos, the home team tying the score at 5 to 5 in the fifth and going ahead in the sixth.

Bucky Walters, Orville Jorgens, Hal Kelleher and Hugh Muelcahy took turns in facing the losers, Kelleher drawing credit for the triumph. Chuck Klein accounted for the Phillies' first run of the game by hitting a home run off Haines in the third inning.

The Cardinals outhit the Phillies, 15 to 12.

DR. HYLAND NOT VISITED BY DEAN

Dr. Robert S. Hyland, Cardinals' club surgeon, said this afternoon in response to a query that Dizzy Dean, ace pitcher who has won only one game since July 4, has not visited him for treatment for a sore arm. Dr. Hyland said Dean had told him he had a sore arm but the pitcher did not ask for any treatment. Dean suffered a toe injury in the inter-league all-star game at Washington, July 7, and was on the hospital list for a while. He went to the mound a few times when his toe became better, without success until last Sunday.

SAN ROMANI BETTERS MARK

By the Associated Press.

HELSINGFORS, Aug. 26.—Archie San Romani, smooth-striding Kansas runner, bettered the world's record for 2000 meters today when he ran the distance in 5:16.7. San Romani defeated Taisto Maaki, Finnish runner, who also broke the old record of 5:18.4 set by Kalerne Jonnsson in July. The race featured a program of an international meet.

ORVILLE WHITE GETS 282 SCORE TO TAKE SOUTHEASTERN TITLE

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Aug. 26.—Orville White, former St. Louisan, now a Greensboro (N. C.) pro, won the Southeastern Professional Golf Association's 72-hole medal tournament in a cloudburst yesterday with a par-smashing 282. It was his first competition in a Southeastern meet.

White, a pre-tournament favorite, collected six birdies and an eagle on his morning 18-hole round to lead the field at the three-quarter mark with a 211. An afternoon 71 gave him a six-stroke lead over his nearest competitor, Clarence Owens of Morganton, N. C., who posted a 288.

Jack Toomer of Waynesville, N. C., who had pushed White closely throughout the meet, slumped in the afternoon to take a 75 for a final score of 290. He finished third, however.

Young Henry Poe of Durham, N. C., former Duke University star, led the amateurs in with a 293.

TITLIST BEATS BILL HOLT, 5-4; CHICK EVANS WINS MATCH

Reynolds Smith, 1936 Walker Cup Player, Eliminates Ed Kingsley—New York State Champion Wins Over Charles Kocsis.

By the Associated Press.

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 26.—Billows of Poughkeepsie, holder of the New York State title, defeated Charles Kocsis of Detroit, 3 and 2, today, in a third round match of the National Amateur Golf championship.

Billows played sub-par golf on the back nine to take four holes and the match. He dropped a six-footer to win the thirteenth with a birdie 3 and made the match dormie with another birdie on the fifteenth. He chalked up the 4 after laying his third stiff for a three-foot putt. They halved the sixteenth, enabling Billows to coast out.

Ed Kingsley Eliminated.

The Texan made the match dormie with a birdie 2 on the sixteenth and moved into the quarterfinals by halving the next hole.

Defending Champion Johnny Fischer of Cincinnati made short work of Bill Holt of Syracuse, N. Y., winning 5 and 4. He was two up at the ninth and in front from the seventh hole on.

Evans Wins 52d Match.

Evans who qualified for his first amateur championship 31 years ago and won the title twice, as well as the Open, won his fifty-second match in the amateur competition over the years. He played par golf for the first nine and was two under fours for the six holes coming home.

Johnny Goodman, one of the prime favorites, advanced to the quarterfinals with a 3 and 1 victory over Lieut. Ken Rogers of Honolulu.

The Omaha boy, national open champion in 1933, won the fourteenth with a birdie 2 to square the match, then went into a lead by taking the fifteenth. Goodman hit a par clip on the sixteenth and seventeenth, while Rogers slipped over to end the match.

Somerville Defeated.

Winfield Day, lanky Los Angeles youngster, eliminated Ross Somerville, who was champion in 1932, one up. The tall Californian leveled the match at the sixteenth when Somerville hooked his tee shot and took a bogey four. On the seventeenth Somerville again hooked from the tee, reaching deep rough, and could not get his par, while Day was on in two and two-putted. The eighteenth was a half in par fives.

FARR WILL PIT HIS COURAGE AGAINST LOUIS' KAYO PUNCH

this? Seemingly not, else 50,000,000 Americans and most of the population of the British Isles will be proved wrong.

And yet, nobody who has looked at this young fellow's splendid physique, his rugged 200 pounds of muscle and bone and his last workouts can deny him some sort of a look-in.

The man has courage—all his opponents admit it. He has a really dangerous left hand, probably the best straight left Louis ever faced. In training he hits a short right chop that seems to have power, and he has a fine pair of legs under a solid-looking torso.

He has never been knocked out, and he has been on the floor and has risen to carry on and win.

In years he is Louis' equal, 23; in weight, he will have the advantage of nine pounds; in experience he has fought double the number of professional battles credited to Louis.

He came up the hard way, fighting in a carnival booth against all comers and taking all sorts of hard knocks when he was a kid. His face is an open book for anyone to read, for experience writes its story there.

In that summation of Farr's assets there is no exaggeration. You can't count entirely out of the picture a man with so much to recommend him.

And yet, most of those who have studied his record have reached the conclusion that it's "thumbs down" against him.

The big reason is that he can't hit hard—19 knockouts in 71 fights, against 30 kayoes out of 36 for Louis.

Again, the quality of his opposition has been low—no great ones in the list. Loughran, Olin and Neusel were all "washed up" when Farr defeated them.

Also, he has never faced a hitter comparable to Louis, who carries a knockout in either hand and hits faster than Farr.

Then, too, if he fights Louis as he fought his sparring partners—boring in at them—he will be fighting Louis in exactly the style to bring about his own defeat. Louis is at his best against an attacking opponent.

To top off all the drawbacks to Farr's hopes, Louis is in a better fighting condition than ever, his morale is good and his training camp work has been an improvement over what he showed at Kenosha when training for Braddock.

If he has a weak jaw, as advertised, it was at least good enough to beat Braddock's best punches and to take upwards of 50 right hands from Schmeling before he succumbed.

And so, in the sum-up, it's a straight left, plenty of courage and rugged young body against greater speed, better boxing, heavier punching power and wider experience against strong foes. Punching power ought to swing the tide of battle, but that splendid physique of Farr's is built to take plenty. He's a far better physical man than Braddock. It should take a lot more to whittle him down.

Dohles Gain Lead.

By defeating the Donnelly Stars, 4 to 2, at Forest Park, yesterday afternoon, the Dohles gained undisputed possession of first place in the Barrett League. The winners turned three double plays and banged out seven hits to five safeties for the Donnellys.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Promoters in the "Red."

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.

THAT joke about the promoter being the only sure winner of a world title fight need not be dusted off and run out again for Monday's battle. This is going to be a colorful fight, with indications that much of it will be done in red.

Early forecasts of the receipts for this show, the first title defense for Louis and an international battle, ran as high as three-quarters of a million. The estimate scaled down to half a million, and today, what with the weeping skies, the prediction of one-quarter of a million receipts may prove to be over-size !

A postponement never peps up any box office. There are no guarantees for the major fight, but that will cost Jacobs 40 per cent of the total gate. Out of the 40 must come plenty expense money.

With favorable weather up to the time of the bout, the show can be pulled out of the red and everybody would go away happy.

Judge, Note an Exception.

EVERYBODY, that is, except Max Schmeling, who will be one of several former world champions at ringside, including, in all reasonable probability, Jack Dempsey, Max Baer, Braddock, Schmeling and perhaps Tunney. The enrollment of champions is not as heavy as usual; but, in the language of Tim Hurst, "you can't beat them newspaper guys." The gentlemen of the Fourth Estate will all be there, and bulging out of the press rows, just as if another surprise were in the offing.

But, getting back to Schmeling—Max will not be as happy as he might be. That push-around he suffered recently, the fourth since he knocked the world pop-eyed and Joe Louis stiff, has not left him in too sweet a frame of mind. He probably feels like those forty-niners did when, after staking out a bonanza, some tough guys jumped their claims.

Fight manipulators took away a world title and half a million dollars from Max, as he views it. Internally, however—Max is making no squawks. If you squawk in places where they don't like you much, they usually equip you permanently with a muffler quickly.

Max dwells in hope of a meeting with the victor of tonight's fight in a match to be held in this country next June. And wouldn't it be a bizarre outcome if Farr should win. That would pit a German against a Britisher for the world title in America. Whichever won, you can depend on Mike Jacobs to make sure in advance that the winner would defend his crown in this country.

And Mike would have a piece of the crown, too.

Education Doesn't Pay.

IT isn't often you find anyone knocking education. But there's the case of Harry Lenny, who knows more about fights and fighters than most men. Harry says: "Never educate a fighter, unless you want to ruin him."

And that called for explanations. Lenny, if you remember, had one of the man mountains of the ring, Ray Impellitierre, a nice, polished giant and scrapper, who was expected to go places.

Ray was given several years of good coaching, took off 30 pounds of weight and become one of the finest boxers of his size known. Ring authorities and Lenny thought he would become world champion.

But now Impellitierre is just another fellow in the trucking game, and probably will never fight again.

What happened? we asked Lenny.

"Too much education that did no good," was the reply. "He read a lot of books and got ideas. One of them was about diet, and that line of education put him off watch."

Yes, yes—go on, we urged.

"It was this way: The diet books told him that he was eating too much, and most of it the wrong kind of stuff. So, this 250-pound guy decides to settle down to a toast-and-tea diet with a little lettuce for heavy food.

"Can you imagine a fellow with an education figuring out that? Why, he ought to know more about his calories. You just can't get 'em out of lettuce.

"And this big simp was trying to build up on stuff that couldn't put red blood in a mosquito.

"These books put wrong ideas into fighters. The only kind of books that can do them guys any good is bankbooks. And you bet they can't get a hold of them by training on lettuce."

It Isn't the Lettuce.

WELL, Harry, it isn't too much lettuce or too little beefsteak that makes a fighter, nor is it the balanced diet, nor yet abstinence from gravy, that makes a fighter. It's what nature gave him in the shape of a punch and a heart. Diet has been a matter of debate with athletes ever since they used to train the boys for the ancient Olympic games, about 700 years B. C. They had vegetarians then, just as today. But they probably knew more about preparing the physical frame to stand punishment than was ever known before or since.

Modern athletic dietetical theories, however, probably would have excited a lot of giggles about the time Homer was thumping his lyre.

Imagine how Harry Wills' notion would have been received. Wills, giant Negro nemesis of Dempsey, with whom he never caught up in a fight believes in fasting. Once each year, Wills told me at Farr's camp, he abstains from all food and drinks only water for about 40 days.

"I just finished my last fast a few weeks ago," Wills commented, "and Ah feels fine. Looka here"—and he displayed a waistline which, despite Wills' years, showed only a trace of "watermelon."

Wills in these fasts loses between 25 and 40 pounds.

He is determined defender of the doctrine of fasting as a cure for most physical ills.

"Don't you get weak or hungry during all that time?" we asked.

"No, suh; after the first couple of days I jest don't notice nothin'. Ah go along and get around just like Ah always does. I guess Ah gets stronger when Ah'm fastin'."

And right there we ran out on Harry. The only thing that gets stronger on water, probably, is watermelon. If Harry had to shove cotton bales around all day on a diet of water he might modify that theory.

Nature, which endowed us with digestive functions, probably never intended them to lie fallow for a month at a time. When you mentioned fasting in ancient days, the Greeks had a name for it. Translated, it was: "Nuts!"

THREE SHOOTERS BEAT RECORD IN DOUBLES EVENT

By the Associated Press.

VANDALIA, O., Aug. 26.—A new record for the national doubles trapshoot crown was set today at the Grand American by Phil Miller, French Lick, Ind., Ned Lilly of Stanton, Mich., and Clyde Mitchell, Minneapolis, Minn., professonal, as they broke 98 of 100.

The record of 96 of 100 was set in 1917 as C. B. Platt of Bridgeton, N. J., won the championship, and tied by Joe Hiestand of Hillsboro, O., a year ago.

Charles Bogert, 55, of Sandusky, O., was declared the class AA trapshooting champion of North America today by the executive committee after a mixup yesterday.

Hale C. Jonesof Woodriver, Ill., was awarded second place. In the 200-target shoot Bogert broke all the targets, but was classed on the scoreboard, through a stenographer's error, as a class "A" shooter.

R. C. Jenkins of Orleans, Ind., president of the A. T. A., said that the committee had decided to correct the stenographer's error.

GRANT-SABIN TEAM REACHES SEMIFINALS OF NATIONAL MEET

By the Associated Press.

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 26.—The steady defensive play of Bryan (Bitsy) Grant of Atlanta, and Wayne Sabin of Los Angeles today overcame the brilliant aggressive tactics of Jiro Yamagishi ,Japanese champion, and Gregory Magin, New York veteran, and placed the youngsters in the semi-final round of the national doubles tennis tournament at Longwood with a 7—5, 7—9, 9—7, 4—6, 6—4 victory.

Twice durin gthe match, which lasted two hours and 40 minutes, Yamagishi and Mangin frittered away wide-open opportunities to wind up the match in straight sets. They attempted to dominate the play at every stage and just when they were on the verge of taking the second and third sets, their aggressive tactics failed them and enabled their cautious rivals to lob their way to safety.

After getting two set points in the ninth game of the first set, against Sabin's service, Mangin and Yamagishi cracked in the pinch and in the next game, when they tried to force matters, Mangin dropped his service at love and Grant ran out the first set.

Miller Most Valuable.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Aug. 26.—Kenneth Miller, Springfield outfielder, yesterday was voted by sports writers as the Western Association's "most valuable player" for 1937. Bill Hughes, Muskogee's manager-pitcher, was second choice, followed by Charles Barrett and Albert (Dutch) Mele, both of Muskogee. Fourteen players were mentioned in the annual poll. Miller, who has stolen 78 bases so far this season, is batting .285.

Arm Feels Fine, Paul Dean Says After Working 3 Rounds

By the Associated Press.

MARSHALL, Tex., Aug. 26.—Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe, towering Detroit Tiger righthander, gained some measure of revenge for the defeat handed him in the 1934 world series by Paul Dean, Cardinal hurler, by outdueling the St. Louis pitcher in an exhibition game here last night.

Rowe, sent home by the Tigers to rest his ailing arm, pitched hitless ball the three innings he worked on the mound for Texarkana. He did not allow a man to reach first and faced only nine batters.

To top his hurling performance, the schoolboy slammed out a double off Dean to left center, his first time at bat and bunted safely for an infield hit off Dean's replacement. He then played first base and fielded perfectly before retiring in the fifth.

Dean, while permitting no runs in the same number of innings, was nicked for two hits, one by Rowe and the other by Slaon, Texarkana left fielder. Hurling for Marshall, Tex., the younger member of the Dean combination, apparetly did not bear down. He did not issue a base on balls, fanned none and faced 10.

While warming up, he threw several hard ones and then remarked "It didn't hurt a bit. The arm is feeling much better. I believe I will regain my old form next season. It's gonna take lots of rest but I think I can get back in shape and the old speed will be there."

Rowe had the same reaction. Perspiring after his mound performance, he said.

"The arm feels fine. It didn't hurt but I didn't really throw hard. In the game I played Sunday afternoon in Henderson, Tex., it pained almost every time I threw. It was just like a toothache. Now I'm just hoping."

CLOSE PLAY IN WESTERN GOLF QUARTERFINALS IS PREDICTED

ST. PAUL, Aug. 26.—History is being repeated in the thirty-seventh annual Women's Western golf tournament which today entered the quarterfinals.

All four semifinalists of last year's tournament at South Bend, Ind., still remained in the fight for the title which is being defended by Dorothy Traung of San Francisco.

In addition to Miss Traung, they were Beatrice Barrett of Minneapolis, whom the San Francisco girl defeated, 6 and 5, in the 36-hole finals last year; Patty Berg of Minneapolis, and Marion Miley of Cincinnati, O.

There was a possibility all four may be in Friday's semifinals round. Miss Miley and Miss Berg were in the upper bracket of the championship flight, and Miss Barrett and Miss Traung in the lower.

Miss Traung, conqueror in the second round yesterday of Betty Botterill of Salt Lake City, 5 and 4, was faced with strong opposition today in Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex., Trans-Mississippi champion. The latter was victor by a 4 and 2 margin over Mrs. Dan Chandler of Dallas, Tex., yesterday.

Miss Miley, who shot a 75 yesterday to defeat Mrs. Opal Hill of Kansas City, medalist, 1 up, in a spectacular battle, also faced a formidable opponent today in Dorothy Gustafson of South Bend, Ind., and Chicago. In Wednesday's second round, Miss Gustafson vanquished Helen Hoffman of Fort Douglas, Utah, 3 and 1.

Standing in the way of Miss Berg was Marian McDougall of Portland, Ore., Pacific Northwest champion, who defeated Mrs. Lillian Zech of Chicago, 4 and 3. Miss Berg scored a 5 and 3 victory over Edith Estabrooks of Dubuque, Ia.

Miss Barrett had plenty of opposition in Paula Parker of Milwaukee, who won by the widest margin in the second round when she defeated Mrs. Ellamae Williams Cutler of Chicago, 6 and 5.

STAG EXTRA-DRY LAGER BEER

SETS RECORD IN HIS QUICK DEFENSE OF WORLD TITLE

By W. J. McGoogan
Of the Post-Dispatch Sports Staff.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—When Joe Louis, Detroit Negro, enters the ring here next Monday night in defense of his world heavyweight boxing championship against Tommy Farr of Wales, British champion, he will be establishing a pugilistic record. It will be the first time in boxing history that a champion has defended his crown within three months of the day he won his title. Only two months and eight days will have elapsed since Louis defeated Jimmy Braddock at Chicago for the championship. The title bout, scheduled for tonight, was postponed to Monday night because of rain.

It happens that the opposition to be offered by Farr is not considered particularly dangerous.

Still, there is always a chance that the champion may be defeated, either by a knockout, a technical knockout, brought about by a bad cut or, of course, there is the possibility of a losing decision. So there is a tendency to give Louis full credit for taking whatever chance there may be in a meeting with Farr.

Despite the fact, though, that the match has an international flavor, is for the heavyweight championship and is an inter-racial battle as well, it has not caught on with the fight-going public.

Farr Will Get $60,000.

Most optimistic estimates of the probable attendance run between 25,000 and 30,000, with gate receipts between $200,000 and $250,000. And the more pessimistic say the crowd will number no more than 20,000 and receipts will not go above $150,000.

Farr has been guaranteed $60,000 as his share, while Louis is to get 40 per cent of the net receipts, so Joe's income is not likely to be swelled greatly.

The bout, no doubt, is a stop gap designed to keep Louis busy, and also to keep Farr from meeting Max Schmeling in Europe, which he had tentatively agreed to do before signing with Mike Jacobs, promoter of the Twentieth Century Sporting Club.

Jacobs was afraid that if Schmeling defeated Farr he would try to claim the heavyweight championship and take some of the edge off the glamour of Joe Louis.

Has Never Been Stopped.

At that, Farr has never been knocked out. He has won 54 of the 71 fights in which he has engaged, 19 of them by knockouts, fought seven draws and dropped 10 decisions.

Louis has fought 36 times, winning 30 fights by knockouts, five decisions, and being knocked out by Schmeling.

Physically the men are nearly equal and whatever slight advantage there is in the matter of reach goes to Farr, for he has a reach of 81 inches, five inches more than Louis.

Still, most of the men Farr has defeated are unknown in this country and do not rank with the victims of Joe's knockout punch. In the last year, though, Farr attracted considerable attention when he defeated Max Baer and knocked out Walter Neusel, a pretty good German heavyweight, in three rounds These two fights really earned him his chance with Louis, the first time a native of the British Isles has fought for the title for many years.

The consensus of those who have watched Farr in training is that he has appeared to have little except physical condition. His record indicates that he is not much of a puncher and his workouts showed that he is not much of a boxer. So there are few to be found who give him even an outside chance. Opinions of newspaper men who have been visiting the two camps daily are almost all in favor of a knockout victory for Louis within from one to eight rounds, with the majority expressing the view that Joe will score the knockout in from three to six rounds.

No Betting on Fight.

Betting? There just isn't any, according to Broadway commissioners. Jack Doyle, probably the best known here, rates Louis the favorite at 4 to 1, but says he hasn't had a sizeable wager at that figure and adds "if you've got any real money to bet on Farr, you probably can get better odds than that."

Louis has worked himself into fine condition and if he is overconfident he certainly did not show it in his training at Pompton Lakes. Nothing was left undone and his handlers are not going to make the mistake of treating Farr lightly.

Joe believes he will win by a knockout but he has argued against those who have been predicting an easy kayo for him, perhaps in a round or so.

Although the receipts do not promise to be such as to leave the promoter with a profit, particularly after the 10 per cent is paid to the milk fund, all arrangements have been made for the championship match as though it would be a sell-out.

Betting? There just isn't any, according to Broadway commissioners. Jack Doyle, probably the best known here, rates Louis the favorite at 4 to 1, but says he hasn't had a sizeable wager at that figure and adds "if you've got any real money to bet on Farr, you probably can get better odds than that."

Louis has worked himself into fine condition and if he is overconfident he certainly did not show it in his training at Pompton Lakes. Nothing was left undone and his handlers are not going to make the mistake of treating Farr lightly.

Joe believes he will win by a knockout but he has argued against those who have been predicting an easy kayo for him, perhaps in a round or so.

Although the receipts do not promise to be such as to leave the promoter with a profit, particularly after the 10 per cent is paid to the milk fund, all arrangements have been made for the championship match as though it would be a sell-out.

For the Love O' Mike.

MIKE JACOBS is the ring's Pooh Bah,
He is the Captain and the crew;
He rules the game with great eclat,
He's bo'sun's mate and pilot, too.
He also holds the copyrights
On future champions' future fights.

He has a most uncanny way
Of grabbing the elusive pelf;
We wouldnt' be surprised some day
To see him shadow-box himself;
In which event old Mike would be
Promoter, judge and referee.

No opposition he will brook;
With that dictator's will to win,
He makes B. Mussolini look
Like something that the cat brought in.
As in the case of many kings
Behind the throne he pulls the strings.

"Helen Wills Moody Gets Nevada Divorce."

Another love match settled out of the tennis court.

A delver into the realm of fight facts and figures finds that out of 35 professional fights Joe Louis has knocked out only six in one round. And if T. Farr can get any consolation out of that it's quite all right with us.

An orchid, please, for Pitcher Sunkel;
He made the Rochesters say "uncle."

"Hull Calls on China and Japan to Avoid War."

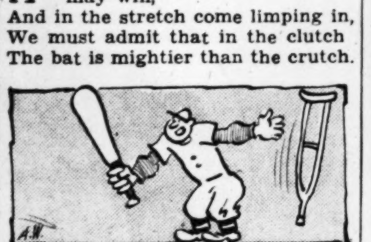
And very sound advice, too. We shudder to think what would happen if those boys were to forget that they are gentleman and start fighting.

WAY down upon the Whangpoo River
Far, far away,
If relations Japs and Chinese sever,
There'll be a fight some day.

We take it that what is going on at Shanghai right now is just a little curtain raiser to usher in the main event.

The Baer-Braddock and Schmeling-Louis fights have made the bookies a bit conservative about the Louis-Farr affair. The write-your-own-ticket days have gone forever.

ALTHOUGH the Cubs at last may win,
And in the stretch come limping in,
We must admit that in the clutch
The bat is mightier than the crutch.



THAT training camp stuff is just one for the book,
And means not a thing to the wise,
Who undoubtedly know it's intended to throw
The dust in the customers' eyes.

During the period of his training Tommy Farr has threatened to punch nearly everybody he came across in the nose. He even intimated that Joe Louis would not be immune. It won't be long now.

SCHMELING DENIES HE SPREAD DEROGATORY STORY ABOUT GOVERNOR

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Max Schmeling, German heavyweight, was haled before the New York State Athletic Commission today to explain charges by Commissioner Bill Brown that Schmeling had made derogatory remarks about Gov. Herbert Lehman of New York.

Brown quoted Schmeling as saying in Germany some weeks ago that the Governor signed the bill putting the commissioners on a salaried basis as a reward for keeping Max out of the forefront as a heavyweight contender.

Schmeling denied the charge in toto. He said a story to that effect had been written by a German newspaper man and cabled to America.

The German's long associations with the New York Commission were reviewed by Chairman John J. Phelan in leading up to the main point, even the bout with Jack Sharkey in 1930 when Max won the title lying on his back and crying foul.

"You won the title on your back," said Phelan. "You could have got up."

"I object," interjected Schmeling. "How can you say that? How do you know I could have got up?"

The General had no answer for that one and the meeting adjourned.

Triple A Results.

MEMPHIS OWNER TO RACE THREE HORSES IN MEET AT FAIRMOUNT

J. A. Best of Memphis, who made a fortune with a "one-horse stable" in 1930, when Reveille Boy raced in his colors, will have three horses at the Fairmount Park meeting, which begins Sept. 4. Best's application for stable room for One Night, Canter Boy and Curb Bit was approved yesterday by Racing Secretary Richard Leigh.

Reveille Boy, after running second to Gallant Knight in the 1930 Fairmount Derby, won several other races here and then was shipped to Chicago to win the American Derby, paying better than 50 to 1 in the mutuel payoff. Best is bringing his three horses here from Lincoln Fields.

Another veteran who will return for the first time in several years is Vic Gallo of New Orleans. Gallo will bring three horses from Lincoln Fields, Forced Landing, Wee Lukie and Jeffries.

H. H. Chopin is returning, too. The Missourian yesterday filed for three stalls from Thistledowns, stating the horses were for Funderberg, Sun Henry and Deodo. Chopin has always won his share of races here. Funderberg and Sun Henry are better than ordinary performers. Sun Henry, only recently defeated a good field of two-year-olds.

Other familiar horsemen who applied for stable room yesterday included J. C. Ellis from Dade Park, for 12, including Johnny Nuchols and Close Call; A. Gaal, for four, including Sun Dora and Commandman, and Gorbett & Irwin, for 12, including Hell Diver, Vishmu and Gale Way.

E. E. Russell, who has a good stable of nine, applied from Lincoln Fields. Outstands in Russell's string are Golden Fate and Sun Appollo. The first named may go to the post in the Inaugural Handicap, in which he may meet among others Zoic, Little Nymph, Woodlander, Professor Paul and Marcabala. Zoic, a final handicap horse, will be shipped here from Narragansett by H. E. Enger.

It's Our Family's Whiskey, Neighbor

Andy Koozer showing us where he does his hatching

This is me just as I was remarking to Andy how I never in my life heard such a peeping and a scratching as goes on in that house where he hatches out his baby chicks. Andy's chuckling and saying so far as he's concerned, he never heard more goings on than in The Wilken Family's bottling room!
Harry E. Wilken

Our Family's Whiskey has more new friends in Saint Louis than Andy Koozer has chicks!

Joking with Andy Koozer the other day, I told him how all those coops full of chicks I see him trucking down to the depot for shipping aren't one two three with the number of cases of Our Family's Whiskey us Wilkens load in a day. Andy says "yes but the only mother all those chicks has got is me personally, but your whole family is turning out the whiskey!"

And Andy Koozer is right at that! Not just me and my brother William Wilken and my brother-in-law Tom, but Pa Wilken and Grandpa Wilken in the bargain—we've been putting all our heart into making fine whiskey the whole of our lives. And this is our own Family's Recipe, and I guess I'm safe in saying it's mighty seldom anybody tries it but what they declare it's the mildest and the tastiest whiskey they ever got a hold of!

HOUSEKEEPER WINS HALF OF ESTATE

Supreme Court Upholds Claim Against Property at Kirksville, Mo., on Appeal.

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 26.—Three years ago Linda Schweizer went to Kirksville to keep house for John F. Janisch and "take the half interest in every respect" in his home. Today the State Supreme Court, Division No. 2, held she was entitled to $5500, half of Janisch's estate.

Mrs. Schweizer went to Chicago from Germany in 1929 with her husband. Not satisfied with this country, her husband soon returned to Germany.

When her struggle for existence in Chicago became "very difficult," Mrs. Schweizer inserted this advertisement in a Chicago German language newspaper:

"An alone standing married woman seeks a gentleman not under 45 years, who would share the home and expense of the same with her, with intent of marriage. No children."

Agreement With Jannisch.

In Kirksville, Jannisch read the advertisement. His half-sister, who had kept house for him, died the year before, and he had not been able to retain help for any length of time.

So he wrote: "Since I lost my companion, I wish now to find a good lady with whom I can continue my peaceful home and can esteem her dearly and most worthily. I have besides my business, also property which I rent, and need reliable help. Now, if you are minded to come to Kirksville and take the half interest in every respect and help me, then can we live highly satisfied. . . . Full of hope I remain interest."

Lower Court Reversed.

So arrangements were made and Mrs. Schweizer moved to Kirksville in November, 1934. Janisch died several months later, and Mrs. Schweizer in the Adair County Circuit Court filed "suit for specific performance," which was contested by several brothers, nephews and nieces of the Kirksville bachelor, who left an estate of $11,000. The court found against her, and she appealed.

In reversing the decree of the lower court, Commissioner Henry J. Westhues wrote: "In this case plaintiff, a total stranger to the deceased, at his request, left her home in Chicago and in a commendable manner administered to the wants of the deceased. She relied upon his offer, as contained in the letter of Aug. 13, 1934. She fully performed her part of the contract. To deny her the relief prayed for would be unjust. To grant the relief would not be an injustice to anyone."

Canadian Cattle Quota Filled.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26. — The Customs Bureau reported that the quota provided in the Canadian trade agreement for cattle weighing 700 pounds or more has been filled. The quota provides for importation of 155,799 head annually at a duty rate of 2 cents a pound. For the remainder of this year, the regular rate of 3 cents a pound will be charged.

ANOTHER ARTIST SAYS HE DREW PICTURE OF CHRIST IN CELL

Ohio Man Offers to Complete Work In St. Louis Police Headquarters.

In the three weeks that have elapsed since the Post-Dispatch described the legends that have arisen regarding the "holy cell" at Police Headquarters, several amateur artists have come forward, each saying he drew the picture of Christ on the Cross in the cell that has now been kept vacant and constantly lighted for five years.

The latest claimant is Melba Perry, an itinerant artist and house painter who lives on the outskirts of Hamilton, O. He announced to reporters there that he had been in the holdover in St. Louis one night and had sketched the religious drawing just as he had done in jail cells at Lincoln, Neb.; Denver, Colo., and Los Angeles, Cal., and in transient camps near Los Angeles and Juarez, Mexico.

Perry asserted he did not complete the drawing in St. Louis because "the police ran us out of the place before I was through." He added that he did not sign his name "because I was afraid I might be accused of defacing public property." To prove that the drawing is actually his, Perry offered to return to St. Louis and complete the work. The right arm was never finished, although someone, either a policeman or a visitor—no one remembers which—once tried to complete the drawing, but his poor effort was erased.

She was the widow of Roger Wallis, a trunk manufacturer and retail merchant who died 27 years ago. Born in England, she came to the United States in 1855, living first in Milwaukee and moving to St. Louis with her husband in 1869.

Surviving are four sons and two daughters, all residing in St. Louis. Seven grandsons will be pallbearers at the funeral services, which will be held at 3:30 p. m. tomorrow at the Kraeger-Voss-Fix Funeral Home, 3402 North Kingshighway, with burial in Bellefontaine Cemetery.

LEGLESS SWIMMER HALF WAY DOWN HUDSON TO NEW YORK

By the Associated Press.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Aug. 26. —Legless Charles Zimmy, 46 years old, who has been propelling himself down the Hudson River since Monday in an attempted non-stop Albany-to-New York swim, reached the approximate half-way mark today.

Zimmy took on refreshments at a point two miles north of Poughkeepsie, or nearly 73 miles along his 155-mile journey, and predicted he would reach his goal Monday.

"I was slightly sick last night, but I am standing up well now," Zimmy's rowboat companion quoted him as saying.

CLAIM TO $877,500 RESTS ON A NAME

542 Seek Share—Court Controversy Over Whether Mrs. Wood Was "Irrational."

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26. — There was much mild controversy before Surrogate Foley today as to whether the late Mrs. Ida E. Wood was "irrational" when she counted the eggs in the icebox in the mornings to be sure no one had taken any.

The surrogate, facing a courtroom crowded with claimants to Mrs. Wood's $877,500 fortune, listened to testimony from which he must determine who Mrs. Wood was before her marriage to the late Benjamin Wood; whether she was a Crawford, a Walsh, a Welsh or a Mayfield.

A nurse who attended the 93-year-old woman in her Herald Square hotel quarters shortly before her death in 1932, testified that Mrs. Wood often said her father was Patrick Walsh—"but it sounded like Welsh sometimes," the witness, Miss Isabelle Johnstone, said.

Sewed Fortune in Her Dress.

"She used to bemoan the fact that her money had been taken," Miss Johnstone testified, referring to the action of the court in taking charge of the fortune in currency the old lady had kept sewn in her dress.

"She used to go to the window and call out to police to help her get her money back. She would accuse the nurse of taking an egg, forgetting that she herself had had one the night before. She would carefully count each egg, then say: 'Oh, a nurse must have taken an egg'."

"She used to say she had been wronged and that her money was in the hands of a string of lawyers."

Lawyer Henry Uterhart, representing about 150 Mayfield claimants, asked the witness if Mrs. Wood had shown "any other sign" of being irrational.

Surrogate Foley smiled and asked: "What do you mean, other delusions? Is it a delusion that her money was in the hands of lawyers?"

"We hope it will be eventually," replied Lawyer Uterhart, now smiling himself. About 50 lawyers representing claimants were in court.

Massaged Face With Brush.

When Miss Johnstone was asked for instances of "other irrationalities," she replied: "She used to sit before a mirror for hours and massage her face with a little brush. I would call that eccentric. And it certainly was irrational of her to think a nurse would stoop so low as to take an egg."

Nearly half of the 1019 claimants to the estate have been eliminated from consideration by Surrogate Foley. Of the 542 persons left in the contest, 537 base their hopes on the final determination of Mrs. Wood's maiden name. Approximately 60 per cent of them contend she was Ida Walsh Mayfield, born in New Orleans, La. The remaining contestants assert her name was Walsh, Welsh or Crawford.

Five claimants for the fortune already have been declared nearest of kin to Mrs. Wood through relationship with her husband. If the Mayfields, 300 of whom live in Louisiana and neighboring, states, can prove blood relationship to Mrs. Wood, they will supersede the Wood relatives.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FOR LIEUT. EVERETT C. VOGT

Legion Buddies at Rites for Veteran Who Bad Been Bedridden for 13 Years.

Funeral services for Lieut. Everett C. Vogt, blind and crippled war veteran, who had been an invalid at Veterans' Hospital, Jefferson Barracks, more than 13 years before his death Sunday, were held yesterday afternoon at the Kriegshauser Mortuary, 4228 South Kingshighway.

Mayor Dickmann was in the crowd of about 400 persons at the funeral. With an organ playing, "There's a Long, Long Trail a Winding," 100 of Lieut. Vogt's war comrades, most of them former members of the 138th Infantry, St. Louis regiment with which he served overseas, filed past the casket. Canon C. E. Remick of Christ Church Cathedral officiated at the mortuary, where an American Legion color guard stood beside the casket, and the Masonic funeral rites were performed.

The Rev. Thomas D. Kennedy, national chaplain of the Legion, officiated at the service in Sunset Burial Park. A squad from the Sixth Infantry, Jefferson Barracks, fired a volley as the body was lowered into the grave, and a bugler sounded "Taps."

FIVE CHARGES FILED AGAINST MAN WHO FLED FROM POLICE

Force Necessary to Subdue Him, to Make Arrest, Officers Report.

A man who said he was Raymond Osborne, salesman, 4020 McPherson avenue, was booked on five charges, including one of resisting arrest, today following a chase by automobile and on foot by policemen who fired three shots to bring him to a stop.

None of the shots took effect but he was treated at City Hospital for cuts and bruises which he received when the officers caught him in an alley near Vandeventer and Enright avenues. They reported force was necessary to subdue him. The chase started at Vandeventer and Olive street when the policemen observed him driving in Vandeventer at a high speed.

Four of the charges were for alleged traffic violations. Police said he served three years of a five year sentence in the Missouri State Penitentiary for robbery.

BOY 16, KILLS YOUNG GIRL WHO REFUSED HIM DATE

Indiana Youth Says He Tried to End His Own Life, but Rifle Jammed.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

RICHMOND, Ind., Aug. 26.—Hollys Sagester, 16 years old, shot and killed Martha Markey, 14, today.

The youth went to the girl's home this morning to ask for a date tonight. One of her girl friends told him that she didn't want to see him. "She has a date with another fellow," the girl said.

Sagester went to the home of a friend, Ray Kinder. "Have you got a pistol?" he asked. "I want to go hunting." "No, but I've got a rifle," Kinder replied.

The two jumped into an automobile and drove to the rear of the Markey home. Sagester left the car, but Kinder stayed in it. A few minutes later Kinder heard a shot and the screams of the girl.

The bullet entered the back of the girls' head. She died half an hour later in a hospital. Sagester told police that he tried to fire a bullet into his own head, but the rifle jammed.

After the shooting Sagester took Kinder back to his home and then surrendered to police.

FRANCE BARS THE LANDING OF SANTANDER REFUGEES

BAYONNE, French - Spanish Frontier, Aug. 26.—France barred, at least temporarily today, refugees streaming from the region of fallen Santander, Spain.

Police suspended authorization for landings after four overcrowded trawlers arrived at the port of Bayonne this morning, bringing 500 persons. A similar number arrived last night.

After a bleak night aboard the vessels the refugees, mostly women and children, were forced to stay on the ships in the harbor while local officials asked the French Government for advice on how to find shelter for them ashore.

No Higher Commission Rates Yet.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—The Governing Committee of the New York Stock Exchange has postponed action on a proposal for a general increase in commission rates by its member firms, referring it to the Committee on Quotations and Commissions for further study.

A special committee several weeks ago recommended a hike in commissions averaging about 30 per cent. Many members have been reported in favor of the boost to offset shrinkage in trading and higher operating costs. At the same time some opposition was said to have risen to various details of the plan.

The next regular meeting of the governors is set for Sept. 8, when the plan may come up for further consideration.

1 TO 5 POINT STOCK FALL ON THE FAR EAST NEWS

Shooting of British Ambassador to China Touches Off Selling Wave—Fear of Shipping Interference — Trading Volume Up Largely.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26. — Fears of international complications as the result of the shooting of the British Ambassador to China near Shanghai touched off a selling wave in the stock market today that swept leading issues down 1 to 5 points.

In addition to the wounding of the diplomat, Wall Street's pessimism was further aggravated by Japanese threats to include neutral shipping in the blockade of the China coast and the breakdown of railway wage negotiations.

At the peak of the downswing in the second hour the ticker tape fell a minute or so behind floor dealings for the first time in many weeks. The pace slowed later, however, and extreme losses were cut down moderately in most cases before the close.

Steels and rails led the retreat, but all departments were affected.

Transfers climbed to around the 1,000,000-share mark.

S. Government securities down sharply. Japanese loans, though, were resistant. Commodities were inclined to do better. Wheat at Chicago was up 1⅛ to 1½ cents a bushel. Corn was off ⅛ to ab ·ıd 1⅛.

The Outstanding Losers.

Outstanding share losers included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Sloss-Sheffield, Inland Steel, Crucible, American Rolling Mill, National Steel, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Northern Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio, Atlantic Coast Line, Union Pacific, General Motors, Chrysler, Yellow Truck, Goodyear, Goodrich, Sears Roebuck, J. I. Case, Deere, Oliver Farm, International Harvester, Anaconda, Kennecott, Cerro de Pasco, American Metal, Douglas Aircraft, Eastman Kodak, Allied Chemical, Westinghouse, General Electric, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Barnsdall, Shell Union Oil, Johns-Manville, Howe Sound, Zenith Radio, Crown Cork, Celanese, Allis Chalmers and Union Carbide.

Radio and Pathe Film were among the few active stocks that managed to register modest advances.

Others failing to recover appreciably at the finish were Detroit Edison, Lima Locomotive, Worthington Pump, Foster Wheeler, U. S. Pipe & Foundry, Commercial Credit and Armstrong Cork.

At mid-afternoon sterling was off 1-16 of a cent at $4.98⅛ and the French franc was .00⅜ of a cent lower at 3.74⅞ cents.

Cotton was down to 20 to 35 cents a bale.

News of the Day.

Although the railway picture was far from bright, some observers were still hopeful of a compromise with the brotherhoods similar to the agreement with the non-operating organizations in which a payroll boost of about 5 cents an hour would be granted.

Helping retard the steels was the fear of steelmakers the Far Eastern hostilities may put a sizeable crimp in sales to the Orient. Both China and Japan have been important steel customers.

The financial sector watched the increasing number of new financing announcements and attention was called to the fact that, in almost every case, eventual dilution of common stock equities is proposed.

Overnight Developments.

In addition to the labor stalemate, carrier stockholders noted that the first 25 railroads to report for July disclosed aggregate net operating income was down 13.8 per cent from the like 1936 month.

Early estimates of last week's revenue freight loadings placed the total slightly under 770,000 cars. This would compare with 777,382 in the preceding week and 734,873 in the same period last year.

Analysts studied figures of the Federal Reserve authorities stressing a decline in installment sales by department stores over the past several months. July installment transactions in Boston, for instance, were 66 per cent under a year ago.

New York Sugar.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Raw sugar was unchanged early today at 3.60 for spots with no sales reported and little interest displayed by refiners, who appeared to be awaiting the action of the President on the sugar bill before making fresh commitments. There were offerings of nearby sugars at this level while later arrivals were available at less.

Futures were less active and prices a little easier especially in No. 4 contract, in which there was renewed liquidation encouraged by the disappointing showing of the London market. Sept. No. 4 sold at 1.05 and March from 1.15½ to 1.15 or 1½ to 2 points net lower at midday.

In No. 3 contract traders were inclined to limit operations on account of uncertainty over the fate of the sugar bill. There was a little local evening up. Sept. rallied from 2.46 to 2.47 or net unchanged while March reacted from 2.34 to 2.33, a decline of 1 point.

FAR EAST NEWS AND LIVERPOOL RISE LIFT WHEAT

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—Wheat prices advanced briskly for a time today because the trade stressed Liverpool strength and Far Eastern war news, but reactions later erased the bulk of price gains.

Wheat was almost 2½c a bushel at one time, but a general inclination to lighten commitments coupled with profit taking pulled quotations down to around the day's lowest levels.

Wheat closed at approximately the opening levels, 1⅛@1½c above yesterday's finish, Sept. $1.06¾@⅞, Dec. $1.08½@⅝; and corn finished ⅛c lower to 1⅛c higher, Sept. 99½c, Dec. 65⅝@¾c.

War news from the Far West stimulated the grain market at the start of trading today, but was not sufficiently exciting to have a sustained effect.

It was encouraged by an advance in Liverpool wheat prices, somewhat more than expected.

All grains moved upward at the opening, although the gains later were partially erased by profit-taking sales. The market was thin later, with trading slow.

The momentum of the advance carried both wheat and corn almost 2 cents a bushel higher. The first delivery day on September contracts is only six days away and some market analysts kept a wary eye on the size of the open interest in both wheat and corn for September delivery, which was considered large.

An official report from Winnipeg estimated the Manitoba wheat crop this year at 53,000,000 bushels. That apparently had little market effect. The report said that threshing returns varied from scant to heavy. The wheat crop in the best part of Saskatchewan was being threshed, with returns ranging from less than seed to 25 bushels an acre, with the northern portions of the province showing less return than has been expected in recent weeks.

Rain in the Peace River district had interrupted harvesting there and hot dry days were needed to mature the crop.

Corn, oats and rye advanced on the news which influenced wheat, and all later reacted from the highs. Provisions showed minor gains in sympathy with grains.

Oats closed unchanged to ⅛c higher.

Wheat futures purchases yesterday totaled 26,061,000 bushels, and corn 5,670,000. Open interest in wheat was 138,083,000, and in corn 49,683,000.

ST. LOUIS MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, Aug. 26.—Wheat's upward range extended beyond 2c today, with the close 2⅛c up on September at $1.06⅜ and 1½c higher on December at $1.07¾.

Liverpool wheat opened ½d up and a later cable was up ¾@⅞d. The close was 1@1⅛d higher.

Winnipeg wheat started out ⅞@1⅛c higher and early was 1⅜@1⅝d up. The close was 1¼@1⅝c higher.

Argentine wheat began ⅝c higher and corn unchanged. At noon wheat was unchanged to ¼c lower.

ST. LOUIS CASH GRAIN.

In the cash grain market today wheat was 1½@3c higher; corn 1½c up; oats ½c higher.

U. S. GOVERNMENT BONDS SHARPLY OFF AT CLOSING

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26. — U. S. Government bonds broke sharply today, closing with losses up to 21-32s of a point in the general Federal list.

Easing of the Governments was but one phase of broad declines in all security exchanges, the aftermath of new repercussions in the Sino-Japanese situation, and lack of improvement in domestic business sentiment.

While the international picture was being further beclouded by the shooting of the British Ambassador by Japanese airmen in China, Japanese bonds bounded up with a burst of strength, to show gains of two points or better in the foreign bond list. Japanese 6½s closed at 79⅞, up 2⅜, and the 5½s at 66½ were up 2. Canadian 6s, among foreign issues, gained a half-point, closing at 107½.

Fractionally lower were American Telephone & Telegraph 3¼s at 99, American Water Works 6s at 99¼, and Bethlehem Steel 4¼s at 104¾, Studebaker 6s at 109 were 3 points lower.

FAR EAST NEWS AND LIVERPOOL RISE LIFT WHEAT

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—Wheat prices advanced briskly for a time today because the trade stressed Liverpool strength and Far Eastern war news, but reactions later erased the bulk of price gains.

Wheat was almost 2½c a bushel at one time, but a general inclination to lighten commitments coupled with profit taking pulled quotations down to around the day's lowest levels.

Wheat closed at approximately the opening levels, 1⅛@1½c above yesterday's finish, Sept. $1.06¾@⅞, Dec. $1.08½@⅝; and corn finished ⅛c lower to 1⅛c higher, Sept. 99½c, Dec. 65⅜@½c.

War news from the Far West stimulated the grain market at the start of trading today, but was not sufficiently exciting to have a sustained effect.

It was encouraged by an advance in Liverpool wheat prices, somewhat more than expected.

All grains moved upward at the opening, although the gains later were partially erased by profit-taking sales. The market was thin later, with trading slow.

The momentum of the advance carried both wheat and corn almost 2 cents a bushel higher. The first delivery day on September contracts is only six days away and some market analysts kept a wary eye on the size of the open interest in both wheat and corn for September delivery, which was considered large.

An official report from Winnipeg estimated the Manitoba wheat crop this year at 53,000,000 bushels. That apparently had little market effect. The report said that threshing returns varied from scant to heavy. The wheat crop in the best part of Saskatchewan was being threshed, with returns ranging from less than seed to 25 bushels an acre, with the northern portions of the province showing less return than has been expected in recent weeks.

Rain in the Peate River district had interrupted harvesting there and hot dry days were needed to mature the crop.

Corn, oats and rye advanced on the news which influenced wheat, and all later reacted from the highs. Provisions showed minor gains in sympathy with grains.

Oats closed unchanged to ⅛c higher.

Wheat futures purchases yesterday totaled 26,061,000 bushels, and corn 5,670,000. Open interest in wheat was 138,083,000, and in corn 49,683,000.

ST. LOUIS MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, Aug. 26.—Wheat's upward range extended beyond 2c today, with the close 2⅛c up on September at $1.06⅜ and 1½c higher on December at $1.07¾.

Liverpool wheat opened ½d up and in a later cable was up ¾@⅞d. The close was 1@1⅛d higher.

Winnipeg wheat started out ⅞@1⅛c higher and early was 1⅜@1¾d up. The close was 1¼@1⅝c higher.

Argentine wheat began ⅜c higher and corn unchanged. At noon wheat was unchanged to ¼c lower.

Fractionally lower were American Telephone & Telegraph 3¼s at [illegible], American Water Works 6s at [illegible], and Bethlehem Steel 4¼s at [illegible], Studebaker 6s at 109 were 3 points lower.

REDISCOUNT RATE OF 1 PCT. AT NEW YORK

Federal Reserve Institution Reduces Basis From 1 1-2 Per Cent.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—The Federal Reserve Bank of New York announced today a reduction in its rediscount rate to 1 per cent from 1½ per cent, effective tomorrow.

The 1½ per cent rate had been in effect since Feb. 2, 1934, when it was cut from 2 per cent.

The rediscount rate is the charge made by Reserve Banks to their member institutions when the latter borrow funds to re-lend.

It was believed in banking circles that the 1 per cent rate was the lowest ever established by a central banking institution. The current rate of 1½ per cent, which the New York bank shared with the Central Bank of Switzerland, and some of the other regional banks of the Federal Reserve System, was the previous low record, bankers believed.

The Bank of England and the Bank of Netherlands have rates of 2 per cent at present. The Bank of France rate is 4 per cent.

The money market was quiet during the day with acceptance and commercial paper rates holding unchanged. Government bonds, however, were under pressure as they have been for several days past and some fair-sized losses were recorded.

While the announcement was made after banking and market hours, many Wall Street experts had looked forward to the possibility of a cut.

A reduction followed announcement last week at Washington of a Federal Reserve policy designed to encourage member banks to borrow at the Reserve banks rather than liquidate their Government bond portfolios when reserves run low.

It was also said that the board wished to continue its aim to keep money plentiful.

COTTON MARKET CLOSES 4 TO 7 POINTS LOWER

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Cotton moved over a small range in quiet trading today. Early declines met resistance at the recent lows and following moderate rallies dullness developed. December sold up from 9.55 to 9.64 and in midafternoon was quoted at 9.61. The market was net unchanged to 4 points higher.

Cotton prices eased in the late trading under increased liquidation and local and hedge selling, steady 4 to 7 lower; October, 9.48; December, 9.52; January, 9.56; March, 9.65-66; May, 9.75; July, 9.80. Spot steady, middling 9.73.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Cotton futures opened quiet, 1 lower to 2 higher, on steady Liverpool cables, which was offset by nervousness over the Far Eastern situation.

October opened 9.52; Dec., 9.58 Jan., 9.62; Mar., 9.72; May, 9.82; July, 9.86.

Early price changes were narrow and irregular, but the market soon declined a few points under scattered liquidation, Southern and New Orleans selling.

This carried October off to the recent low of 9½ cents. There sufficient resistance developed through trade buying and covering to cause the market to rally moderately toward the end of the first half hour.

December, which had eased from 9.58 to 9.55, sold up to 9.59, with the general list about net unchanged to three points higher.

Traders were concerned over plans for a Japanese blockade of 800 miles of the Chinese coast and the wounding of the British Ambassador to China.

The market was still awaiting developments on loan cotton, latest reports from Washington indicating no announcement would be made until the board of directors of the Commodity Credit Corporation meet late this week or early next week.

Liverpool reported a dull market, with incentives lacking.

After recovering about 6 to 12 points from the early lows on covering and trade buying, the market became quiet and steady with later movements over a narrow range.

Trading was not aggressive. December advanced to 9.64 and by midday was ruling at 9.60, when the list was 1 to 4 points net higher.

SENATORS EXPECT ANOTHER FIGHT ON COURT ISSUE

Interpret President's Statement to Mean Supreme Court Enlargement Will Come Up Again.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE STUDYING JUDICIARY

Its Report Might Be Made Vehicle for Reviving Discussion of Roosevelt Scheme.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Senators who helped defeat President Roosevelt's Supreme Court plan expressed concern today that his newest appeal for judiciary reorganization portended another fight over the issue in the next Congress.

Senator King (Dem.), Utah, said he interpreted the President's statement as "a continuation of the plan to change our judiciary system."

"I had hoped," he added, "there would be no continuation of the controversy."

Senator Johnson (Rep.), California, said "let us hope, a vain one I fear, that this (the statement) is the last of the scheme presented on Feb. 5."

Both King and Johnson were among the leading opponents of the court bill in the long Senate controversy initiated by the President's famous message of last Feb. 5 asking for power to enlarge the Supreme Court if Justices over 70 did not retire.

Still for Reorganization.

In announcing yesterday that he had signed the lower court procedure bill passed by Congress after defeat of his plan, the President made it plain that he still holds there should be some reorganization of the Supreme Court.

Noting several omissions he said the bill made in its "moderate and limited advance," he said one was the fact it "leaves entirely untouched any method of relieving the burden now imposed on the Supreme Court."

This, he added, was "of necessity a part of any complete and rounded plan for reform of the judicial processes."

The statement was his first public comment on the issue since defeat of his court plan.

Special Committee to Report.

Opponents of any reorganization of the Supreme Court said the issue might be brought up again next session by the vehicle of a report from a special Senate committee named to study further possible court changes.

They pointed out that, whatever the committee recommended, the court fight might be revived by an amendment from the floor again proposing the President's plan.

The special committee is headed by Senator Ashurst (Dem.), Arizona, who supported the court plan. Vice-chairman is Senator Hatch (Dem.), New Mexico, who voted in committee against the bill, but took exception to the stinging rebuke which the committee report gave the President.

They said their committee would meet here about Nov. 1 to begin its studies. Asked if Supreme Court enlargement would be studied, Hatch was noncommittal, but said the committee will not "avoid any subject."

VATICAN TO GIVE FRANCO DE FACTO RECOGNITION

Cardinal Pacelli to Accept Credentials of Rebel Charge d'Affaires Tomorrow.

VATICAN CITY, Aug. 26.—The Holy See will concede de facto recognition tomorrow to the Spanish insurgents.

Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, Papal Secretary of State, is scheduled then to accept the credentials of Pablo de Churruca, Marquis of Aycenena, as the Spanish insurgents' Charge d'Affaires.

The Marquis has had the credentials with him since his arrival in Italy late in June. He established his first contact with Cardinal Pacelli in early July.

The prelate insisted then, however, as he did later when Generalissimo Francisco Franco announced Vatican recognition from Salamanca, that the Holy See had taken no formal steps toward recognition.

There still was no indication, however, that the Vatican formally would exchange representatives with his insurgent administration as Salamanca dispatches reported earlier this month.

France Raises Price of Bread And Wheat in Series of Decrees

Council of Ministers Trying to Cut Adverse Trade Balance—No Statement on Nationalization of Railroads.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Aug. 26.—The cost of living in France, already rising because of the devaluation of the franc, was boosted again yesterday when the Government of Premier Camille Chautemps increased the price of wheat and bread.

The action was part of a series of decrees affecting the economic life of the nation promulgated at a meeting of the Council of Ministers on the advice of Finance Minister Georges Bonnet.

The program was designed to stimulate production and cut the adverse French trade balance.

August wheat will sell for 180 francs a quintal (about $1.95 a bushel, nearly 25 cents a bushel more than last year) under the terms of the Government decree.

The price of a kilogram loaf of bread was increased from 2.35 francs to 2.50 francs (about 8 cents for a two-pound loaf).

Experts said the new price of wheat, which will continue to increase about 1 cent a bushel each month, would necessitate a further rise in the cost of bread, although there is an ample harvest.

The decree was intended to aid wheat podupers. Other decrees benefited debtors, industrialists and holders of Government bonds.

Delay in the payments of debts was authorized for merchants, manufacturers, artisans and "all other debtors of good faith."

Low interest rates on loans made to improve the equipment of industrial firms and for construction of buildings were provided.

The 10 per cent tax on interest on Government bonds which had been paid by the holders was wiped out.

The council also provided for a sweeping investigation into all phases of French industry to determine what can be done to increase production.

No statement was made on the reported decision of the Cabinet to carry through a modified nationalization of the country's 26,000 miles of railroads, which was one of the most pressing problems facing the ministers.

FULL SALES TAX ON PRICE OF NEW AUTOS HELD VALID

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 26.—Provisions in the State sales tax law which state the levy should be collected on the total selling price of new automobiles, although used cars are traded in on the purchase, were held valid today by Division No. 2 of the Missouri Supreme Court.

The ruling was made in reversing a St. Louis Circuit Court opinion in a case involving the Hallenberg-Wagner Motor Co.

The provision held valid was in the old one-half of 1 per cent sales tax law, passed in 1934, but it has been included in the subsequent 1 per cent and 2 per cent acts.

Walter H. Bohling, Commissioner who wrote the opinion, said: "The rate applies alike to all retailers, whether they accept or do not accept merchandise, new or old, in part payment—alike to retailers merchandising new automobiles; retailers merchandising used automobiles; retailers merchandising new and used automobiles; retailers merchandising goods, wares and merchandise—the country store accepting products of the farm in part payment as well as automobile retailers accepting used automobiles or other commodities or services in part payment."

SUIT TO FORCE PAYMENT OF STEEL BONDS IN GUILDERS

Action Filed by Four Foreign Corporations Is Result of Gold Clause Abrogation.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Another international law suit growing out of the 1933 gold clause abrogation was filed in United States District Court yesterday when four foreign corporations began an action to enforce payment in Dutch guilders of the principal and interest on Lackawanna steel bonds.

The bill of complaint says that the Bethlehem Steel Co. (which took over the Lackawanna properties), has refused in the past to pay in Amsterdam, Holland, guilders on the coupons detached from Lackawanna bonds.

The complaint declares that Bethlehem Steel Co. proposes to pay to domestic holders of these bonds only the cable rate of exchange, which it is stated is equivalent to payment only of the face dollar amount of the bonds. The complaint also states that the Bethlehem Steel Co. has offered to pay to foreign holders who supply certain proof satisfactory to the Bethlehem Steel Co., in foreign currencies but that this requirement is unauthorized.

The plaintiffs are Anglo-Continental Trust Co., of the Netherlands; Hydropress Hanwels, A. G.; Mondiale Handels-Und Verwaltungs, A. G., and Anglo Continentele Treuhand, A. G., all of Liechtenstein.

EDUCATORS OPEN CAMPAIGN ON 'NEW YORKESE' ENGLISH

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Applicants for teaching jobs in New York will have to pass "phonograph tests" as part of a campaign by educators to protect school children from "New Yorkese" English.

Joseph K. Vandenburg, chairman of the Board of Examiners, who believes speech standards in the metropolitan area are lowering because of the spread of a provincial dialect, said phonograph records would be made of oral interviews with applicants to detect pronunciation errors.

In the dialect Vandenburg opposes, known locally as the 'Brooklyn accent," words such as "oil burner" emerge as "erl boiner."

BRITAIN AGAIN WARNS SPANISH INSURGENTS

Threat of Reprisals if More Ships Are Attacked Is Sent to Franco.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—Stung by what the London Times called "piracy" on the Mediterranean, the British Government today threatened Spanish insurgents with reprisals and prepared for a showdown on the long-paralyzed Spanish non-intervention machinery.

Through its Spanish Ambassador, Sir Henry G. Chilton, at Hendaye, a blunt protest was transmitted to Insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco, warning against a repetition of attacks on British ships. "If there is any repetition of these attacks," the message said, "the British Government must reserve to itself the right to take such action as the occasion demands."

The action followed the recent attempt by two planes to bomb the freighter Noemijulia in the Western Mediterranean. The freighter, carrying phosphates to Barcelona, Spanish Government port, evaded the bombers.

The Chairman's Sub-Committee of the Internation Non-Intervention Committee was called to meet tomorrow. It was regarded highly probable the Mediterranean situation would be considered. There had been 15 attacks on British ships in the Mediterranean up to August.

Turkey Gives Warning She Will Sink Undersea Craft.

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Aug. 26.—Turkey sent to various Powers today a note warning them that Turkish warships will sink undersea craft that enter Turkish waters in further attacks on Spanish and other shipping off the Dardanelles.

TEACHERS' UNION HOLDS UP VOTE ON C I O AFFILIATION

Issue to Be Submitted to Vote of All Members After Views Are Harmonized.

By the Associated Press.

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 26. — The question of C I O affiliation was held in abeyance today by the American Federation of Teachers. The convention adopted a principle of industrial unionism by instructing its executive council to study possibilities of uniting teacher locals with other educational employes. The convention voted to raise $25,000 for a national organization drive.

The affiliation committee reconvened to draft a new resolution designed to harmonize conflicting views regarding the C I O and the American Federation of Labor and leave the issue to a membership referendum.

Arnold Shukatoff of New York, chairman of the academic freedom committee, told the delegates "you can't look to the courts to protect academic freedom."

He said his committee has "found that competency is an insufficient cause for retaining one's position as a teacher." The instructor, he said, keeps his job only if he "does not come into conflict with the forces that dominate the school and the community."

State Relief Executive Resigns.

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 26.—The resignation of Miss Lucille Bruner, Acting State Case Work Supervisor in the State Relief Department, effective Sept. 1, was announced yesterday by George I. Haworth, Acting Social Security Director. The vacancy will be filled temporarily by Miss Frances Hoffman of the relief offices in Springfield.

BORAH, O'MAHONEY TO WRITE FEDERAL INCORPORATION ACT

Firms Doing Interstate Business Would Be Required to Obtain Licenses From U. S.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Senator Borah (Rep.), Idaho, said today he and Senator O'Mahoney (Dem.), Wyoming, have agreed to collaborate in writing a new Federal incorporation act for introduction at the next session of Congress.

His announcement of arrangements for joint action by the two major Senate proponents of Federal charter for businesses came simultaneously with hints that the New Deal might get back of such legislation.

Administration officials were reported studying a new campaign against monopoly, and eyeing Federal incorporation as a possible vehicle.

Borah and O'Mahoney have pursued the same general objective in bills previously introduced, but under somewhat different theories. Borah has stressed the need for such legislation primarily to break up monopoly. O'Mahoney has argued the same idea, but has also pictured Federal incorporation as a means of requiring certain labor standards in interstate businesses.

Under their measures, any corportation doing interstate business would have to obtain a charter from the Federal Government, instead of operating, as at present, under a state charter.

FORMER NEWSPAPER WRITER BLACKLISTED BY FASCISTS

Albin Johnson Held at Border When He Tries to Accompany Grover Whalen to Rome.

By the Associated Press.

ROME, Aug. 26.—Albin Johnson, New York newspaper man who once wrote articles the Italians regarded as anti-Fascist, found himself temporarily on the Fascist blacklist today when he tried to enter the country to transact New York World's Fair business.

Accompanying Grover Whalen, head of the New York 1939 fair, Johnson was stopped at the frontier. Whalen proceeded to Rome, where he will meet Premier Mussolini and sign a contract with the Italian Government tomorrow for Italy's participation in the fair.

However, the Ministry of Popular Culture tonight said officially that a special order had been issued to permit Johnson's entry into Italy.

While Johnson was the old New York World's correspondent for the League of Nations in Geneva nine years ago, he occasionally came to Italy and wrote critically of Fascism.

SEAMEN ON AMERICAN LINER IN FIGHT WITH ITALIAN POLICE

Nine of the Crew Missing at Naples; Others Kept Aboard at Genoa.

By the Associated Press.

GENOA, Italy, Aug. 26. — With nine of the crew of the Dollar liner President Adams missing in Naples and trouble reported brewing among the others, the seamen were kept aboard by Genoa police during the ship's stop here today.

The Captain reported to the United States Consul-General, Warden M. Wilson, that shortly before the departure from Naples several sailors came aboard drunk.

They got into a quarrel with Italian policemen, one of whom fired a shot into the air after he was struck. A free-for-all fight started aboard the President Adams and some of the seamen left the ship. One sailor jumped overboard but was rescued.

ARTISTS TO APPEAL SALES TAX

New York Illustrators Say They Merely "Sell Use of Brains."

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26. — New York City's 3000 artists will carry their fight against the city sales tax to the State Court of Appeals, they announced today after an adverse ruling by the Appellate Division. The Court declared their paintings, including magazine illustrations, were subject to the two per cent tax.

Neysa McMein and Arthur William Brown, illustrators involved in test cases, engaged Attorney John T. McGovern, who will be supported by the Artists Guild and the Society of Illustrators. McGovern and his fight will be based on the theory a magazine drawing is a "translation" of a story prepared by the artist at the behest of a publisher, and that the artist merely is "selling the use of his brain."

SENATOR KING PROPOSES CLARK OR BYRD IN 1940

Candidate Should Be Man Outside Inner Circle of New Deal, He Says, Emphasizing Split.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26. — A proposal from Senator King (Dem.), Utah, that the 1940 Democratic presidential candidate be a man from outside the New Deal's inner circle emphasized today the fundamental split within the party.

King said the nominee should be someone like Senators Byrd of Virginia, Clark of Missouri, or Bailey of North Carolina. He asserted he could not "second the nomination" by Senator Minton (Dem.), of Paul V. McNutt.

King was one of the leading opponents of the Roosevelt court bill and the three Senators he named also were opposed to the measure as well as many other New Deal proposals.

McNutt, former Indiana Governor and now American High Commissioner to the Philippines, is described by his friends as seeing eye-to-eye with the New Deal.

Sees No Chance for Radical.

King said it was "too early" to pick the Democratic nominee, but added:

"I feel sure that the candidate will not be Communistic or radical, but will be a genuine Democrat who will defend the Constitution and maintain democratic institutions."

At the same time, King discounted the possibility of a permanent split within the Democratic party, forecasting that it would "continue as the progressive and liberal party of our country."

Barkley Says Party Has Hurled Back Attempt to Split It.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Senate Majority Leader Barkley sailed for Europe yesterday, leaving behind a statement to be distributed to newspaper men, asserting "there has been no breakdown in the President's leadership" and "the Democratic party has hurled back attempts to divide or weaken it."

He said wage and hour, Government reorganization and farm price tabilization legislation were virtually certain of passage at the next session of Congress, and that the President's power and flood control development program would receive "careful study and consideration."

Recent Supreme Court decisions have removed "most of the barriers to the accomplishment of the New Deal program," he said, "by giving a new meaning to the due process clause, the commerce clause and the general welfare clause."

A "more liberal" interpretation of the Constitution was needed, however, he continued.

"Regardless of differences of opinion as to method and objective, regardless of the earnest controversy which the issue aroused, no one can deny that the objective of liberalizing the judicial interpretation of the Constitution has become obvious to every thinking American," he said, "and the discussion which the subject aroused has resulted in a deeper study and broader knowledge of our fundamental law and the part played by the judicial branch in its application and enforcement."

Barkley charged "those who went down to inglorious defeat in 1936" are attempting to "divide or weaken" the Democratic party, but he said the Roosevelt administration still retained the confidence of the American people.

NEW ROUTE TO FAR EAST OPENED BY GERMAN FLYERS

Course Over Pamir Plateau 1200 Miles Shorter Than by Way of India.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Aug. 26.—Germany announced today she had opened a new air route to the Far East with the landing of a Junkers plane on an experimental flight across Asia.

From Teheran, Persia, the plane flew to Kabul, Afghanistan; crossed the Pamir Plateau and landed at Hsuchow, China. It followed an air route to the Far East 1200 miles shorter than that by way of India.

10 ACCUSED IN PUERTO RICO OF FIRING ON U. S. JUDGE

Acting President of Nationalist Party One of Those Named in Warrant.

By the Associated Press.

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Aug. 26.—United States authorities were rounding up 10 Puerto Rican nationalists today for an attempt June 8 to shoot United States Judge Robert A. Cooper.

Among those for whom a warrant was issued was the acting president of the Nationalist party, Julio Pinto Gandia. Eight of the 10 had been placed in jail this afternoon.

Judge Cooper's automobile was fired on after he had sentenced the Harvard-educated Nationalist leader, Pedro Albizu Campos, and seven other to the Atlanta penitentiary on charges of attempting to overthrow the Government of the United States by force. The Judge was not hurt.

'MONEY, MONEY, MONEY; WE HAVE IT,' SAYS FRANCO'S AID

Declares Insurgents Took Santander Because They Can Pay War Bills.

HENDAYE, Franco - Spanish Frontier, Aug. 26.—Generalissimo Francisco Franco took Santander because he has the money to pay his war bills, says Gen. Gonzalo Queipo de Llano.

The aid of the insurgent chieftain, speaking last night before a crowd in Seville, an insurgent base in Southern Spain, was reported to have commented: "Money, money, money—those three things are necessary in war. We have it; therefore we have an army. Our victories are not over yet!"

SIGNS TAX LOOPHOLE LAW

Roosevelt Expects to Boost Revenue by $75,000,000 a Year.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—President Roosevelt signed today the measure to close loopholes in the income tax law. The measure, requested by the President to curb what he termed tax evasion and avoidance, is expected by experts to increase tax revenues by from $75,000,000 to $100,000,000 a year.

The White House made public a letter from Acting Secretary of the Treasury Taylor, saying his department was "happy to recommend prompt approval of this bill which will operate to close a number of serious loopholes in the revenue laws."

SOVIET'S TEXTBOOK PRAISES SOME CZARS

Faces of Nobles Brightened and Christianization Is Called Step Forward.

(Copyright, 1937, New York Tribune, Inc.)

MOSCOW, Aug. 26.—The Soviet Union's discovery of its Russian past—formerly considered unprofitable for young Bolsheviks to study—advanced a significant step yesterday with the publication of the first excerpts from a new history book for school children prepared on instructions from the Central Committee of the Communist party. These show that the Czars and Boyars (Nobles) have emerged from the obloquy of recent years with their historical faces considerably brightened.

The country's history teachers have waited 17 months without textbooks for schoolroom use while a special jury considered a number of competing manuscripts. The order was given yesterday for publication of 5,000,000 copies of a text written by Prof. A. V. Shestakov, who was awarded 75,000 rubles (nominally $15,000). Many imperial Russians with recently tarnished glories have been refurbished for the next generation of Soviet pupils. Peter the Great is described in the textbook as "an intelligent and active Czar." His rule over Russia, according to the new history, although in the interests of the land owners and merchants, was "distinguished by its progressive character."

Christianity "Step Forward."

Similarly, the Christianization of Russia no longer will be taught to young Russians as an unmitigated calamity. The new text says: "Compared with paganism, it marked a real step forward in Russian development."

All through Russian history the same revision of the early Bolshevik contempt for their predecessors is now made orthodox by the new textbook.

Ivan III is praised for his struggle against the Mongol Golden Horde, and Alexander Nevsky, who defeated the Baltic Germans on the ice of Chudsky Lake in 1242, approaches the stature of a national hero in the new history. Under him, says the textbook, the Russians "decisively defeated the enemy and freed their land from its German ravishers."

Among interesting revision of the earlier texts is found in the summation of the recent activity of Nikolai Bukharin and Alexei Rykov, two of the most prominent early Bolshevik leaders. Both have been under arrest for many months without the publication of any formal charges against them. According to the new history, they organized, with the aid of the exiled Leon Trotsky, a band of murderers, wreckers and spies, which assassinated Sergei M. Kirov, a member of the Politburo, in December, 1934.

Although Prof. Shestakov's text-

The Last Straw.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

THE State bond scandal should be the straw to break the patience of voters here in Missouri. It has been remarkable how long our people have been bamboozled into electing men of inferior character and intelligence simply because they are Democrats. But perhaps it has been a good thing for us, because it has shown us just how bad government can be under the regime of such corrupt political machines as Uncle Tom Pendergast maintains in Kansas City and the ballot-box stuffers give us in St. Louis.

These un-economic royalists who control our State and our cities seem to believe, as Harry Hopkins does, that the people are too damned dumb to understand what is going on. Well, maybe we are. But I think Lincoln was right when he said, "You can't fool all of the people all of the time." It is about time to begin to see that men who beat their breasts and proclaim themselves the saviors of the poor are the same ones who impose sales taxes on the poor. It is also about time to see that political ward bosses who steal our vote are also going to steal, directly or indirectly, the money we pay in increased sales, gasoline and other nuisance taxes.

There is but one way to keep corrupt officials from squandering our money, and that is to retire them to private life by the simple expedient of voting for the best men of the only other effective political instrument available, which, of course, is the Republican party. If we had done so in November, Jesse Barrett would have been Governor of Missouri and the firm of Baum, Bernheimer & Co. would have been forced to bid in the open market for State bonds.

If the people of Kansas City want honest government, they will elect a Republican Mayor. The only way to rid themselves of graft is to turn out those who are now grafting. The people of New York City, which was once controlled by Tammany Hall, saw fit, after Jimmy Walker quit under fire, to elect a crusading Republican Mayor. Why can't we begin here in Missouri? First in Kansas City, then in the congressional elections and in every part of the State where corruption and misgovernment may be found.

County J. P. Court Abuses.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

THE following is an experience I had this week in a county J. P. court:

We were crossing at Page boulevard and Hodiamont, five or six blocks west of the viaduct. A long gasoline truck had the center, or fifth lane, apparently meaning to make a left turn at the next corner. We were driving on the curb lane; the lane between us and the truck was vacant; but we had hardly passed the truck when an officer hauled us into the court of Justice of the Peace Mahaffey, where we were assessed the usual $8.

In the meantime, a second officer had brought in a car with two elderly women and one younger one, all from Nashville.

The officer claimed their car was straddling a mark. The elderly women were bewildered and nervous for being arrested for an infraction of a law of which they had no knowledge. Nevertheless, they had to dig for $8.

The officer then date-stamped page after page of his record book, jammed it into his pocket, jumped on his motorcycle and whirled back to Page to grab more victims on fictitious charges.

A Polish-American Speaks.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

WHAT is happening to our Government and to America?

One day last month, I went to bed quite unconcerned, believing I was in America, the land of the free and the home of the brave. The next afternoon, reading your paper, I found that Nazis had come into our city and were holding parades with the swastika draped gaudily next to the Stars and Stripes.

For a moment, I thought I'd been afflicted with sleeping sickness and, like Rip Van Winkle, had waked in a strange era, under a new form of government. But I found it was still 1937 and I was in America.

Now, I'm only 17 years old and a student in fourth year of high school, so naturally, not knowing how the Government functions in its minute details, I'm mystified. Will you please explain, as soon as possible, if I should say "Hi" to my friends or "Heil"? Will you please explain if I should bend my arm to my eye when I salute the flag or stretch it straight out and say "Heil"? Will you explain what flag I should salute, the swastika or the Stars and Stripes?

An army of word and thought is spreading its doctrines under the pretense of an affiliation with America, poisoning the minds of the children against American government, placing the seed of Hitlerism in their brains.

I'm Polish and proud of the fact, yet I was born here and would gladly give my life for an American cause if necessary. Can't those Germans feel the same way?

MR. ROOSEVELT AND DEMOCRACY.

With incredible effrontery, Mr. Roosevelt reopens the whole question of packing the Supreme Court and of "reforming" the Federal judiciary, and sets it up as unfinished business of his administration.

We say "with incredible effrontery" because it shows the President's complete contempt for the processes of democracy and his uncurbed ambition to wreck the independence of the judiciary.

Only a few days ago, at Roanoke, Va., the President told of his devotion to democracy. "My anchor," he said, "is democracy—and more democracy."

Let us examine this piece of rhetoric in the light of the President's actual performance.

He sprang his revolutionary scheme to destroy the balance of power in the Federal Government in a message to Congress last Feb. 5. He did not consult the members of Congress beforehand and he even withheld his plan from his official family, the Cabinet, with the exception of Attorney-General Cummings. This was divulged by the President himself at his press conference on Feb. 12. According to the President, only three men were privy to the scheme—himself, Mr. Cummings and Solicitor-General Stanley Reed.

Is it anchoring to democracy to concoct in secret a plan to impair the structure of American government, as set up by the Constitution?

The whole strategy of the President's message was to catch Congress by surprise and to cause the scheme to be railroaded to passage, as so many other of his proposals had been railroaded.

Is that anchoring to democracy?

Congress, however, refused to be stampeded. On this great issue, it refused to be a rubber stamp. Members of Congress took the issue to the country, and there ensued a nationwide debate of unprecedented thoroughness. On the one side were the President, his yes-men and his trigger-men, like Mr. Farley; on the other were gallant members of the Senate and House, who, in opposing the President, were taking their political lives in their hands.

Democracy was at work. A full, free, uncensored discussion of a public question—the primary safeguard of democracy—put the President's plan to the test.

The fight was led from beginning to end by distinguished members of the President's own party, including such outstanding progressives as Senator Wheeler of Montana.

Last month, came the crucial test when the Senate killed the court-packing plan and passed instead the mild measure which the President has signed.

No other presidential proposal in history has been so soundly repudiated by a legislative branch in which the President's own party had a huge majority.

Never was there a more clear-cut operation of the processes of democracy.

Yet Mr. Roosevelt now ignores the outcome of a national debate that raged for six months. He contemptuously dismisses the considered action of Congress.

Is this anchoring to democracy?

We have no fear that the President's statement of yesterday will revive the court scheme. It has died a death from which there is no resurrection.

But does not the statement expose the sham and hypocrisy of the President's professions of devotion to democracy? Does it not increase the suspicion that the President is not satisfied short of complete mastery over all the branches of the Government? Does it not place the country on guard against this ruthlessly ambitious man?

"HAMLET" WITHOUT THE PRINCE.

If the public stays away in droves from Monday's fight between Joe Louis and Tommy Farr, the public will show an excellent sense of discrimination. If it packs Yankee Stadium at prices ranging from $1.50 to $23, it deserves the bilking it is getting. For even though, contrary to expectations, Farr proves to be a worthy foe, the man who should enter the ring to oppose Louis is Max Schmeling, who knocked out Louis in June, 1936. Schmeling thus earned the right to meet Braddock for the championship. He was shouldered aside by the promoters. When the washed-up Braddock fell an easy prey to Joe, Schmeling, by all the rules of sportsmanship, was the logical contender. Again he was shouldered aside. Boxing, however, is not a sport but a big business—a big and dirty business, and it does not know the name of sportsmanship. The fight Monday will be a performance of "Hamlet" without the Prince.

FOUND: TWO HONEST TAXPAYERS.

There has been so much double-crossing, evasion and misrepresentation in connection with Federal income tax disputes that it makes news when a plaintiff in such a suit is absolutely honest about it all. Two such individuals have turned up at a hearing in New York City, and the Judge recognized their uniqueness by heaping praise upon their candor, though he could not, largely as a result of their honest testimony, rule in their favor.

These rare characters are Mrs. Lucy Sprague Mitchell, former dean of women at the University of California, and her husband, Dr. Wesley Clair Mitchell, professor of economics at Columbia University. Mrs. Mitchell was suing to recover $2729 in income taxes paid in 1930. Both she and her husband, Judge John M. Woolsey pointed out, refused time and again to shade their testimony in their own favor, though he purposely gave them every opportunity to do so. The Judge expressed appreciation of "such an exhibition of high-minded decency."

Mighty and influential persons have been exposed in recent months as resorting to every imaginable trick to avoid paying their just obligations to Uncle Sam—and getting away with it. Their performances become even more repugnant alongside the good citizenship shown by this couple.

FALL OF SANTANDER.

The capture of Santander, last stronghold of the Spanish loyalists on the Northwestern coast, had been foreshadowed ever since the fall of nearby Bilbao, on June 19. In a campaign beginning last September, the rebels had used all their might to crush the stubborn resistance of the Basques. Bilbao put up an epic defense, but at last succumbed to the overwhelming odds. The pressure on Santander was relaxed when the loyalists began a counter-offensive action west of Madrid, which diverted rebel forces from the North. But after that campaign eased off, and fresh levies of Italian troops reached the Northern front, Santander's fate was sealed.

Major action may be expected to center, at once or very soon, on the Madrid sector. Franco must leave sizeable bodies of troops behind to hold down the turbulent Basques, but he can send considerable forces to Madrid for another attempt to capture the city. It is there that the issue will be settled. It will be a better drilled and disciplined loyalist army against a Franco force generously reinforced by his Fascist allies—reinforced because the non-intervention farce has permitted the enemies of democracy to have their way in the war to destroy the legitimate Spanish Government.

THE TEST.

The test of the slot-machine drive launched by Gov. Stark and Attorney-General McKittrick will come in Kansas City. The machines' current disappearance from that city is meaningless. State and local authorities had nothing to do with it; the owners themselves pulled in the one-armed bandits. Are they only temporarily in hiding? Or will the widespread racket be smashed and the machines driven out, never to return? Only by supplying an affirmative answer in the State's most corrupt and vice-ridden city can the State officials claim a successful campaign.

Thus far, the outlook in Kansas City is not promising. A great wave of apathy engulfed the key officials when the announcement of the drive came. The Prosecutor, after lengthy pondering, promised "co-operation." The Chief of Police, questioned by a reporter, asked innocently, "Is there gambling in Kansas City?" The Sheriff said: "I'm still studying the situation and I have issued no orders about slot machines."

Why this doubt and indecision? Because slot machines constitute one of the protected grafts in boss-ridden Kansas City. This is a result of the vicious tie-up between politicians and the underworld. A Kansas City Times news story on the system says:

> . . . In the higher brackets, there are ward and district men whose consent is necessary for the operation of the machines in the ward or district. At the top of the heap is the "syndicate," all of its members being men in positions of political influence.

The only action that has resulted thus far has been by the owners of the machines. The devices are valuable property, worth between $85 and $750 each. The racketeers take no chances on losing their mechanical gold mines, so their emissaries, the "spooks," went around the city hastily gathering them up. They are now in storage. What will happen next? The State law gives officers the right to issue search warrants for the seizure of "any gaming table or gambling device prohibited by law." Will the local authorities do their duty and confiscate the slot machines? Will the Governor and Attorney-General compel them to do so?

When the Governor hits at the slot-machine racket, he hits at a mainstay of the corrupt Kansas City machine. Will he follow through?

THE THREATENED BARNES HOSPITAL STRIKE.

If organized labor wants to hand itself another black eye, it will call a strike at Barnes Hospital and disorganize the care of the sick.

We hasten to say that the pay of hospital employes is miserably low and that the hours of work are often far too long. It is no defense of this to point out, as the hospital authorities do, that the institution is devoted to the service of the community and is operated without profit. This is to argue that employes of such an institution should be martyrized.

But if ever a labor dispute should be confined to the conference table, it is in the case of a hospital, where the services of even the least important employe may affect helpless patients who lie on the hospital beds. In New York recently, striking hospital employes were sent to jail under a State law which protects the sick against hospital walkouts.

We trust union leaders will have the common sense not to call this strike.

Meanwhile, at the root of this particular dispute is the haywire state of medical economics which makes a great hospital like Barnes a mendicant, on the one hand, depending largely on charity for sustenance, and an unreasonable and unjust employer on the other.

THIS YEAR'S VEGETABLE GARDEN.

It is beginning to look more or less ragged now, the vegetable garden is, and two or three good rains wouldn't go amiss, but, taken all in all, this has been a year to make the amateur with the hoe hereabouts shout with joy. The wet spring which bothered the house painters no end, to mention only one set of objectors, was the making of a crop of crisp red radishes, succulent onions and lush lettuce that would have been reward enough in themselves. Yet these May dinner delights were only the forerunners, the hors d'oeuvres, as it were, to the bounties to come.

The bush bean and the pole variety as well began to bear early and are still at it; with a chunk of fat bacon, a mess of meaty Kentucky Wonders from behind the house is a bowl of ambrosia—nothing less. Cabbage worms got only the outside leaves; the green heads came on so firm and hard that the pests finally gave up in disgust. The golden bantam corn—well, its juicy sweetness, dripping melted butter, stole the show at many a table. Next to the waving corn, peppers, cool and green, and beside them milk-white Bermuda onions—the combination side dish supreme.

And then the big red tomatoes, or the pink ones if you prefer, and okra and burgundy beets and carrots and crinkly endive and chard! Each one trying to outdo all the rest. Now the turnips are coming on, and the celery and the rutabagas, purple above the soil line and minted gold beneath. Last summer may have been too dry. Next season may be too wet. An outpouring of blessings from the kitchen garden like those your dilettante farmer knows this year makes up for all the failures that ever were or ever may be.

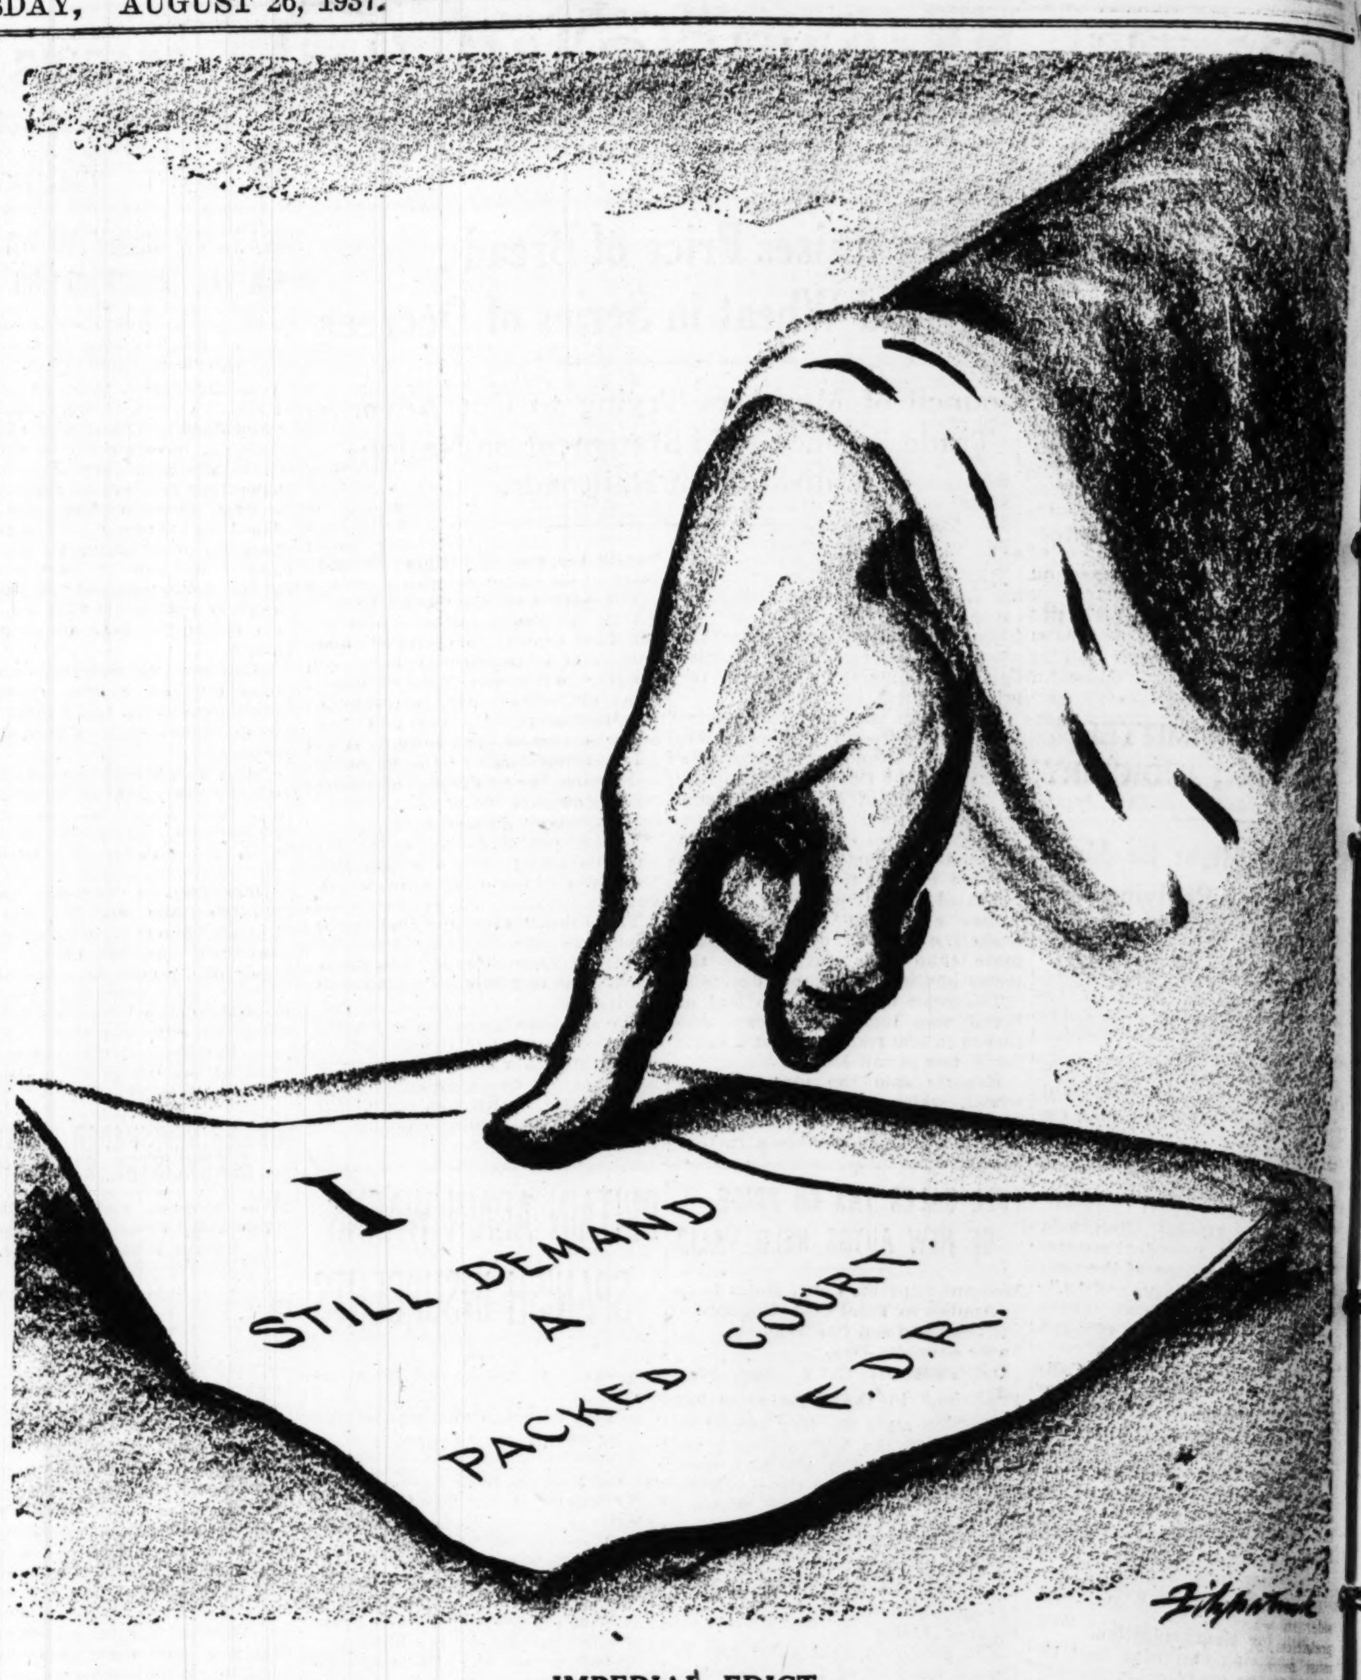
EAST ST. LOUIS: CORRUPT AND CONTENTED.

It remained for East St. Louis to furnish the frank and unashamed explanation for the continuance of organized gambling, political corruption and general lawlessness that characterizes American cities today.

Members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, headed by Rex Fisher, launched a campaign to run out the slot machines and otherwise clean up their gambling-infested city. Did civic groups come to their aid? Did the churches take up the campaign? Did leading citizens volunteer support?

Just the contrary. Instead of helping the young business men in their commendable cause, the older leaders began to threaten the young crusaders with the loss of their jobs if they did not "lay off." Slot machines mean profit for the operators of small businesses and profits pay rents. As young business men are dependent on the older business men for their livelihood, the campaign has been cut short. Such is the Junior Chamber's explanation for abandoning the fight it had begun.

What a method for making a city a decent place to live in! What a way to improve American citizenship!



IMPERIAL EDICT.

Those Sporting British

After treatment of ex-King, English can no longer boast of sportsmanship, writer says; concedes right to force his abdication, but contends he was "kicked when he was down"; critical also of behavior of prelates and of coronation fanfare; asserts Britons have debunked selves by failure to live up to touted ideals of fair play.

Katherine Fullerton Gerould, Essayist and Novelist, in the American Mercury.

PROBABLY the sooner we lose the illusion that John Bull and Uncle Sam belong to the same clan, the better. We have been adequately warned, often enough, by people who really know the British; but the fact that we can land at Liverpool without a dictionary has made us neglect the warnings.

Nothing, perhaps, could have been more useful to the thoughtful American than the spectacle of British behavior since last December. During that period, the British people have neatly debunked the reputation that they have, for decades, been busily building up for foreign consumption—acting, in the most amazing way, as their own counter-propagandists.

This was really the disillusioning fact: not that a few people in power behaved badly—people in power often do—but that a nation of "sportsmen" (as the British are so fond of calling themselves) should have applauded their bad behavior and given themselves up, 20,000,000 strong, to an orgy of kicking a man after he was down.

Let me say at once that I am not criticising the British for getting rid of Edward VIII. I do not know the secret history of the abdication.

However, the next time a Briton announces that speech is freer in England than in America (citing those Hyde Park soapboxers) and talks about what is and what is not "cricket," I shall be tempted to make some mute, derisive gesture. Why be proud of permitting a tramp to preach anarchy from a soapbox when you forbid a King to state his case to Parliament, press or people?

No one, I think, who listened to Edward's farewell speech found, either in form or content, anything to criticise adversely. Within a few hours of delivering the speech, the ex-King was out of England, headed for Austria. He had solemnly renounced both throne and succession; politically speaking, he had become a private person.

Almost as soon as the tears of listeners were dried, the B. B. C. (Government-controlled) forbade the manufacture and sale of phonograph records of the speech. Edward had hardly settled in his Austrian retreat when the Archbishop of Canterbury went on the air to slander him. British newspapers did their best to suppress information about his movements.

Meanwhile, the Coronation Committee proceeded to imitate the late P. T. Barnum, and tried to "sell" George VI and the Empire to the world by every theatrical device—from the ritual in the Abbey to Cinderella's glass coach and the Kohinoor.

After the coronation was over and the debris swept up, Britons became aware that, all legal obstacles to Edward's marriage having been removed, he would presently marry. Those powerful individuals who had already deprived Edward, as far as they were able, of liberty, good report and fair dealing, settled down to perfect their vengeance. They had, naturally, no difficulty in keeping Edward off the civil list and flinging him back on his relatives for support.

They announced that they were going to deprive Edward of the services of an Anglican clergyman for the ceremony. They also forbade the attendance at the wedding of any member of Edward's family, and extended the prohibition to all individuals in Government service.

Then came the most extravagant of all the gestures: the extraordinary document in which George VI proclaimed that the lawful wife of H. R. H. the Duke of Windsor will not be H. R. H. the Duchess of Windsor. This proclamation was issued just as Stanley Baldwin left office and Neville Chamberlain took over. It was implied that, though Chamberlain approved, the proclamation was really Baldwin's last act as Prime Minister.

One almost wishes that Mr. Baldwin had consented to sit in the House of Lords as Earl of Bedlam. Only thus could a Prime Minister who, in December, 1936, told his monarch that a morganatic status does not exist in British law and that any woman he married would necessarily and automatically take his rank, and who, then, in May, 1937, announced that the woman he married did not take his rank—only thus, one feels, could such a Prime Minister begin to explain himself.

The part played by the Archbishops is even uglier. For while it is not part of a Prime Minister's job to be a Christian, presumably Christianity is expected of prelates.

It is none of our business that English dissenters should be taxed to support the church of a minority, or that Bishops of that minority should sit ex officio in the upper house—but those are not facts that rouse the sympathy of a free people.

The English have put about a certain estimate of themselves. In a recent crisis, they failed to live up to that estimate. Nor was it a case of momentary hysteria. They made an under-dog of the most popular man in the Empire, and, after they had got him down, they kicked him, not once, but many times. They kicked him over a period of months, and, as far as we know, they have not yet got through kicking him.

The Duke of Windsor is not our affair, and we Americans have no right, no desire, to complain of what the British do to him. What we have a right to complain of is any pretension on the part of the British people to being clear thinkers or good sportsmen.

There is a sentence of Kipling's in his posthumously published book which it would do Americans no harm to ponder. In that sentence, Stanley Baldwin's cousin tells us what he really thought of us:

"And always the marvel—to which Canadians seemed insensible—was that on one side of an imaginary line should be safety, law, honor and obedience, and on the other frank, brutal decivilization; and that, despite this, Canada should be impressed by any aspect whatever of the United States."

The American, musing on recent events, will perhaps not regret his "decivilization" too much.

Costly Side Show at Shanghai

From the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

THE battle of Shanghai, military experts declare, is a relatively minor incident in the Chinese war, and can have little bearing upon the progress and probable consequences of the Japanese advance upon Northern China.

This somewhat ominous forecast is doubtless based upon sound military opinion. None the less, the attack upon Shanghai and its present amazing defense cannot fail to have the effect of attracting a great world attention to the Japanese invasion to a greater extent than would have been possible if the Nipponese army had continued its Northern campaign without a sideshow at Shanghai.

Whether this will have any restraining effect upon Japan may be open to doubt. Tokio is not afraid that the Western nations, now having plenty of troubles of their own, will interfere seriously with her plans of conquest, any more than they did when she grabbed off Manchuria. Probably Tokio is right.

But the effect of the Shanghai events upon the solidarity of the Chinese is another question. Until a fortnight ago, the Chinese resistance to her invaders in the North had been spotty, to say the least. Many of the individualist Generals who comprise the Chinese army were apparently not at all keen to get in the way of Japan. It is more than possible that Tokio planned to buy a few of them off.

Now the situation is changed. The Chinese valor has amazed the Japanese, and upset their plans. A considerable part of the original landing force at Shanghai has literally been driven into the river. Many more Japanese troops are on the way. They may be able eventually to crush the Chinese resistance at Shanghai. But the rest of the nation is stirred as it was not a few weeks ago.

The outside world has the ugly facts of an indefensible invasion held before its attention. All of which may eventually make the cost of the Shanghai sideshow much more than Tokio had expected to pay.

THAT $50,000 MUST BE SAVED.

From the Kansas City Times.

THE bid of the St. Louis syndicate on the State building bonds demonstrated again the danger in selling bonds by private arrangement, instead of by competitive bidding. On this sale, the State stood to lose more than $50,000 by the private action of the board in charge of the bond sale.

It would be impossible to explain such a loss to the satisfaction of the people of Missouri.

By inviting bids, the State now has an offer of $50,500 in excess of that made by the firm with which it had been negotiating. To be sure, certain conditions are attached to the offer. The syndicate asked that the prior contract be canceled and that delivery be made by Sept. 10. These conditions seem reasonable, or at least to offer the basis for a sale. Naturally, the syndicate cannot afford to tie up its funds pending the settlement of a lawsuit.

Fifty thousand dollars is a large sum of public money to be allowed to go to a favored private bidder. The State will look to Gov. Stark and the board to save this money for the people of Missouri.

The President's Political P

THIS question of what constitutes democracy, what form of government, what political procedures and what social goal, is the question of the times in which we live. For it must have become apparent to all that all modern governments call themselves democracies, although they share no common system of ideas.

Russia calls itself an "economic democracy" and the only true peoples' government, and Mr. Browder, American Stalinist-Communist, calls Communism "twentieth century democracy." Mr. Hitler informed the people of the United States in a broadcast early in his administration that "Germany is the truest democracy in the world today, for nowhere is a greater percentage of the people behind their chosen 'leader.'" Mussolini assails liberal "democracy," but claims that the democratic principle of mass support is inherent in the Fascist system. And now President Roosevelt, in the Roanoke Island speech, defines democracy as majority rule, pure and simple.

In that speech and that statement, the President breaks, it seems to me, with the American tradition and the American ideology, which are based on eighteenth-century liberalism. He moves a step closer to the conception that democracy is ruled by the masses.

The implication is tremendous. For it is a simple fact that in the highly complicated modern world, no political technique has been found whereby the masses, or, to use the President's own words, "the majority," can rule directly.

The modern conception of rule by the masses is not the conception of self-government by the people. In practice, it amounts to ratification or rejection by the masses of programs conceived and put into operation from above.

A ruler, or leader, presumes to know what the main objectives of the masses are. His election is taken to be a popular mandate to express those objectives in legislation. He asks for full authority for this purpose. And then, from time to time, he submits himself and his program to a popular plebiscite. If a majority ratifies it, he claims that the democratic principle is sustained.

In another article we shall consider in what direction this interpretation of democracy inevitably must move, and we shall consider how far in that direction this country already has moved. But today we are interested only in showing that this conception of democracy is not in the American tradition, and that it represents a radical, even a revolutionary break with that tradition.

For the American tradition conceives of democracy, not as something which functions periodically, in the form of ratifying or rejecting plebiscites, but as something which functions continually; which derives authority, not from the majority, but from the whole people; which has its springs in a public opinion which shifts constantly and has constant expression through free speech, a free press and free assembly; which provides careful protection to minorities, and checks on majorities, in society, in the Constitution and in the Government itself; and which avows that every individual is invested with certain natural rights which not even a majority of 99 per cent can divest him of.

From the founding of this Republic until the twentieth century and until the present time, this thesis has been accepted by all American statesmen, including those of the Left and those of the Right. In his Roanoke Island speech, the President, by the strongest inference, claimed Thomas Jefferson as the advocate of unchecked majority rule. But these words are Jefferson's:

"The will of the majority is in all cases to prevail, but that will, to be rightful, must be reasonable; the minority possesses equal rights, which equal laws must protect, and to violate which would be oppression."

And Jefferson plainly saw that unchecked majority rule, and the concentration of power in the hands of the executive with or without the support of the majority, would amount to despotism. He said so:

"All the powers of Government, legislative, executive and judiciary, result in the legislative body. The concentrating of these in the same hands is precisely the definition of despotic government. It will be no alleviation that these powers will be exercised by a plurality of hands, and not by a single one.

"One hundred and seventy-three despots would surely be as oppressive as one. Let those who doubt it turn their eyes on the Republic of Venice.

"An elective despotism was not the Government we fought for, but one which should not only be founded on free principles, but in which the powers of government be so divided and balanced among several bodies . . . that no one could transcend their legal limits without being effectually checked and restrained by the others."

Nowhere has the doctrine that unchecked majority rule is democracy been more brilliantly or convincingly attacked than by James Madison, "the Father of the Constitution," who took up this whole fallacy at length in the tenth paper of "The Federalist."

"Complaints are everywhere heard that the public good is disregarded in the conflicts of rival parties and that measures are too often decided, not according to the rules of justice and the rights of the minor party, but by the su-

The President's Political Philosophy: II

THIS question of what constitutes democracy, what form of government, what political procedures and what social goal, is the question of the times in which we live. For it must have become apparent to all that all modern governments call themselves democracies, although they share no common system of ideas.

Russia calls itself an "economic democracy" and the only true peoples' government, and Mr. Browder, American Stalinist-Communist, calls Communism "twentieth century democracy." Mr. Hitler informed the people of the United States in a broadcast early in his administration that "Germany is the truest democracy in the world today, for nowhere is a greater percentage of the people behind their chosen 'leader.'" Mussolini assails liberal "democracy," but claims that the democratic principle of mass support is inherent in the Fascist system. And now President Roosevelt, in the Roanoke Island speech, defines democracy as majority rule, pure and simple.

In that speech and that statement, the President breaks, it seems to me, with the American tradition and the American ideology, which are based on eighteenth-century liberalism. He moves a step closer to the conception that democracy is ruled by the masses.

The implication is tremendous. For it is a simple fact that in the highly complicated modern world, no political technique has been found whereby the masses, or, to use the President's own words, "the majority," can rule directly.

The modern conception of rule by the masses is not the conception of self-government by the people. In practice, it amounts to ratification or rejection by the masses of programs conceived and put into operation from above.

A ruler, or leader, presumes to know what the main objectives of the masses are. His election is taken to be a popular mandate to express those objectives in legislation. He asks for full authority for this purpose. And then, from time to time, he submits himself and his program to a popular plebiscite. If a majority ratifies it, he claims that the democratic principle is sustained.

In another article we shall consider in what direction this interpretation of democracy inevitably must move, and we shall consider how far in that direction this country already has moved. But today we are interested only in showing that this conception of democracy is not in the American tradition, and that it represents a radical, even a revolutionary break with that tradition.

For the American tradition conceives of democracy, not as something which functions periodically, in the form of ratifying or rejecting plebiscites, but as something which functions continually; which derives authority, not from the majority, but from the whole people; which has its springs in a public opinion which shifts constantly and has constant expression through free speech, a free press and free assembly; which provides careful protection to minorities, and checks on majorities, in society, in the Constitution and in the Government itself; and which avows that every individual is invested with certain natural rights which not even a majority of 99 per cent can divest him of.

From the founding of this Republic until the twentieth century and until the present time, this thesis has been accepted by all American statesmen, including those of the Left and those of the Right. In his Roanoke Island speech, the President, by the strongest inference, claimed Thomas Jefferson as the advocate of unchecked majority rule. But these words are Jefferson's:

"The will of the majority is in all cases to prevail, but that will, to be rightful, must be reasonable; the minority possesses equal rights, which equal laws must protect, and to violate which would be oppression."

And Jefferson plainly saw that unchecked majority rule, and the concentration of power in the hands of the executive with or without the support of the majority, would amount to despotism. He said so:

"All the powers of Government, legislative, executive and judiciary, result in the legislative body. The concentrating of these in the same hands is precisely the definition of despotic government. It will be no alleviation that these powers will be exercised by a plurality of hands, and not by a single one.

"One hundred and seventy-three despots would surely be as oppressive as one. Let those who doubt it turn their eyes on the Republic of Venice.

"An elective despotism was not the Government we fought for, but one which should not only be founded on free principles, but in which the powers of government be so divided and balanced among several bodies . . . that no one could transcend their legal limits without being effectually checked and restrained by the others."

Nowhere has the doctrine that unchecked majority rule is democracy been more brilliantly or convincingly attacked than by James Madison, "the Father of the Constitution," who took up this whole fallacy at length in the tenth paper of "The Federalist."

"Complaints are everywhere heard that the public good is disregarded in the conflicts of rival parties and that measures are too often decided, not according to the rules of justice and the rights of the minor party, but by the superior force of an interested and overbearing majority. . . .

"A factious spirit has tainted our public administrations. By a faction I mean a number of citizens, whether amounting to a majority or minority of the whole, who are united and actuated by some common impulse or passion or of interest adverse to the permanent and aggregate interests of the community.

"It is vain to say that enlightened statesmen would be able to adjust clashing interests and render them all subservient to the public good. Enlightened statesmen will not always be at the helm.

"When a majority is included in a faction, the form of popular government enables it to sacrifice, to its ruling passion or interest, both the public good and the welfare of other citizens. To secure the public good against the danger of such a faction, and at the same time to preserve the spirit and form of popular government, is the great object to which our inquiries are directed.

"A pure democracy can admit of no cure for the mischiefs of faction. A common passion or interest will, in almost every case, be felt by a majority of the whole; a communication and a concert result from the form of government itself; and there is nothing to check the inducements to sacrifice the weaker party or an obnoxious individual.

"Hence it is that such democracies have ever been spectacles of turbulence and contention; have ever been found incompatible with security and the rights of property; and have, in general, been as short in their lives as they have been violent in their deaths."

To these quotations could be added innumerable others. The parents of American democracy never advocated mass rule or the will of the majority as the final and sole authority. The whole conception of the masses, or of a majority endowed with some mystic natural right of its own, was so obnoxious to Thomas Jefferson that he fought to keep the United States a purely agrarian economy, with government diffused into the hands of local assemblies, where the people, as individuals could directly govern themselves.

To Jefferson, the concentration of government power in the hands of a strong central authority would inevitably lead to government, not by the people, but by a horde of officials who would use the people's tax money to perpetuate themselves, and to delude the people into thinking that they really functioned through such a bureaucracy. He thus conceived the function of government, and stated it in his first inaugural address:

"A wise and frugal government will restrain men from injuring one another, shall leave them otherwise free to regulate their own pursuits of industry and improvement, and shall not take from the mouth of labor the bread it has earned. This is the sum of good government."

And he further advocated: "The suppression of unnecessary offices, of useless establishments and expenses, enabling us to discontinue our internal taxes. These, covering our land with officers, and opening our doors to their intrusions, have already begun that process of domiciliary vexation which once entered is scarcely to be restrained from reaching successively every article of property and commerce."

The form of commonwealth which Jefferson envisaged, in which every individual should be free by reason of holding land, and in which government could therefore be reduced to an absolute minimum of restraining men from injuring one another, and maintaining public order, never developed in this country. Hamilton, with less idealism, but a more accurate vision, foresaw more closely the development which actually occurred.

Had Jefferson lived and kept his philosophy without fundamental change, he would have favored every measure tending to break up monopolies, restrict the powers of banks and stock exchanges, end land tenancy and divest big business of special privileges, subsidies and tariff protection, but he could never have been for the wholesale distribution of compensating privileges through the medium of a powerful and highly centralized state kept in power by appeals for support to subsidized masses. To call a system of general state regulation based on majority ratification "Jeffersonian" is a total perversion.

The conception that the majority's ratification of any executive program is the final expression of the democratic principle is, therefore, a revolutionary idea. Its adoption will inevitably lead to a change in the spirit and the form of American government.

It will necessitate the abolition of the Supreme Court, in fact, if not in form. It will reduce local government of all kinds to a minimum. It will deprive minorities and individuals of equal rights before the law. It will, that is to say, unless some political technique is worked out which is not, so far, in existence. It will lead either to the "spectacles of turbulence and contention incompatible with security" which James Madison foresaw, or it will lead to despotism as a refuge from that turbulence.

That, at least, has been the result of the principle wherever it has been applied. The appeal to that principle is what Machiavelli recommended to his prince. The German Socialists taught it to Hitler. And Aristotle was familiar with it, in the fourth century before Christ. It is revolutionary, but it is not liberal. It is, I believe, deeply reactionary.

'PERFECT GEM' WINS CITY GARDEN AWARD

100 Varieties of Flowers and Rock-Lined Pool in Miss Katherine Spindler's Yard.

A garden, arranged and cared for by Miss Katherine Spindler, 6370 Murdoch avenue, was awarded first prize yesterday in the annual city garden contest, conducted by the St. Louis Horticultural Society.

Described by one of the judges as a "perfect gem" in design and arrangement, it encompasses the brick bungalow with a bent grass lawn, borders of blooming plants, and evergreen plantings. A rock-lined pool, in which plants grow, is in a corner of the back yard.

The garden presents a collection of more than 100 varieties of blooming plants, selected so as to provide flowers from early spring to late fall. The border plantings are curved attractively, and a brick garage at the rear of the yard, as well as the rear wall of the house, are screened with shrubs, perennials and flowering vines.

Many Foliage Plants.

Miss Spindler's planting for the foundation of the house consists of arbovitae, junipers, spruces, red-leafed barberry and colored foliage plants as a foreground for the dark evergreens.

In last year's contest, the garden, which Miss Spindler has been developing for the last three years, was awarded second prize.

Second prize this year went to Oscar Hallenberg, 6115 Coronado avenue, and third prize to Mrs. L. Arthur Frank, 3100 Kimberly place. Both gardens were judged outstanding and ranked only a few points less than Miss Spindler's garden.

All Details Considered.

Besides general design and arrangement, the factors on which the judging was made, are the selection of flowers, shrubs and trees; screen and foundation plantings; location and outline of beds; the lawn; care of the yard; the strip between the gutter and front sidewalk, and special features of the garden, such as rockeries and pools.

Other awards in various classifications of the contest were as follows: Rose garden, W. A. Schumaté, 4325 Gannett avenue; best lawn, Mrs. George Rupprecht, 4761 Idaho avenue; rock garden, Mrs. H. D. Steimke, 1102 Dover place; best display of flowers, Mrs. Alexander Hihn, 3239 Tennyson square, and foundation planting, Mrs. E. L. Hoffmann, 5857 Delor street.

Cups for the first three best gardens generally will be presented by the Missouri Botanical Garden. Other prizes will be given by the Horticultural Society. Chairman of the contest committee was Fred J. Rebholz.

MOVIE SUBSIDIARY TO OPEN THEATERS TO STAGE PLAYS

It Also Will Co-operate With Artists' Bureaus in Presenting Concerts.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—National Theaters Corporation, a subsidiary of the Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corporation, agreed yesterday to open between 40 and 50 of its movie houses to plays, musical comedies and concerts. National Theaters is one of the largest motion picture chains in the country, operating more than 400 theaters in the Midwest and Northwest and on the Pacific Coast.

Aubrey Schenck, assistant film buyer for National Theaters, who will head the firm's new road show and concert department, said the corporation believed "there'll be a revival in legitimate shows." Citizens in towns where the firm's theaters are, he said, already have evidenced a desire for first-class concerts. National Theaters will cooperate with the United Booking Office in presenting plays and musical comedies and with the Artists Bureaus of the National Broadcasting Co. and Columbia Broadcasting System for concerts.

"In many of the small towns where we have theaters there are no auditoriums and the people have turned to our theaters," Schenck said. "We feel that, being a community institution in those towns, we should open the doors to road shows and concerts on nights when they would not conflict with the presentation of films. For example, instead of running a double feature on both Wednesday and Thursday, we might present a stage show on Thursday."

SERVICES FOR FRANK MENKE WILL BE HELD SATURDAY

Funeral services for Frank Menke, a Justice of the Peace in Normandy Township, will be held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Baumann Bros. Mortuary, 2504 Woodson road, Overland. Burial will be in Friedens Cemetery.

Mr. Menke, 61 years old, died Tuesday, the day on which the St. Louis County Court asked for his resignation along with those of 15 other Justices of the Peace appointed in 1934 by a previous court. The court made the request on the ground the appointments were defective.

A former architect and builder, Mr. Menke died of tumor after an illness of 10 days. Recently he had held court at his home at 9411 Tennyson avenue, Overland. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Emily Menke.

BERGER RE-ENGAGED BY MUNICIPAL OPERA

Productions Manager Given Contract for the Seasons of 1938 and 1939.

Richard Berger has been re-engaged as productions manager of the Municipal Opera for the 1938 and 1939 seasons. This is the first time in the 19-year history of the outdoor theater that a productions director has obtained a contract for more than a year.

"Mr. Berger has had a phenomenal season," said former Mayor Henry W. Kiel, president of the Municipal Theater Association. "This brilliant young man has done in the short time he has been here what others would take a decade to accomplish. His outstanding achievements and ability have been recognized by opera goers as well as by the association through the 12 splendid musical productions which have been presented during this successful summer."

Berger rose to his present important post in the theatrical world by way of the box office. About eight years ago Laurence Schwab, who was productions manager of the Municipal Opera during the 1935 and 1936 seasons, now associate producer of the Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corporation, selected Berger as his personal assistant in the casting and staging of plays for New York theaters. Berger came here with Schwab and when the latter resigned at the end of last summer Berger succeeded him.

The engagement of Berger for more than a year is in keeping with a new plan established by the Municipal Theater Association to make its productions organization permanent in personnel.

Following a brief vacation in Hollywood, Berger will return to New York to start work on the plans for next year's productions.

FUNERAL SERVICE TOMORROW FOR VICTOR J. ALBRECHT

Head of Flour Company Was Member of Merchants' Exchange for More Than 50 Years.

The funeral of Victor J. Albrecht, president of the Eberle-Albrecht Flour Co., who died of infirmities yesterday, will be held tomorrow morning at 8:30 o'clock from the residence, 7071 Forsythe boulevard, to Our Lady of Lourdes Church, 7148 Forsythe. Burial will take place in Calvary Cemetery.

Born in France, Mr. Albrecht came to the United States at 14 and obtained a clerical job with the old Imbs, Meyer & Fusz Flour Co. In 1870 he formed a new flour mill firm with William Bulte. Thirty-one years later he formed his own company. He was 86 years old. He was a member of the St. Louis Merchants' Exchange for more than 50 years.

Surviving are a daughter, Miss Mary Albrecht, and five sons, Julius J., Joseph H., Edmund C., Henry J. and Aloysius B. Albrecht, all of St. Louis.

SOVIETS' TEXTBOOK TAKES KINDLY VIEW OF CZARIST PAST

book tones down some of the earlier Bolshevik vituperation against Russia's past, it gives little support to any theory that the revolution has been abandoned.

Its closing pages explain to the children that the Soviet Union has achieved Socialism, "under which all citizens work according to their capacity and receive according to their work." The problem now before the country, it says, is the achievement of Communism, "under which all citizens will work according to their needs."

It is also significant that, for the first time in a major textbook, Russia's minor nationalities are treated equally with their Russian conquerors. It is not a Russian history but a history of the Soviet peoples.

THE NEW MOVIES IN ST. LOUIS FOR THIS WEEK

THREE BILLS CHANGE; 'STELLA DALLAS' STAYS

Ambassador to Show Leo McCarey Drama, "Make Way for Tomorrow."

WITH "Stella Dallas" remaining at Loew's and two of this week's features moving to the Missouri for continued run, only two picture houses have new first-run programs for the week beginning tomorrow. The Ambassador plays "Mountain Music" and "Make Way for Tomorrow," the Fox "It's All Yours" and "Make a Wish."

"Make Way for Tomorrow" probably is the most unusual film experiment of the week, since it offers a serious drama by one of the screen's most successful directors of comedy. Leo McCarey, who brought forth "Ruggles of Red Gap," "The Milky Way," "Belle of the Nineties" and who has directed Marx Brothers and Eddie Cantor pictures as well, this time handles a story of the "Over the Hill" variety, telling how two old people are separated by their children.

The screen play, by Vina Delmar, comes from a novel, "The Years Are So Long" by Josephine Lawrence. Victor Moore and Beulah Bondi play the old folks, with Thomas Mitchell, Elizabeth Risdon, Minna Gombell, Fay Bainter and Porter Hall among their sons, daughters, sons-in-law and daughters-in-law. McCarey, who decided on the script while he was in a hospital recovering from a serious illness, chose a cast without a big box office star and made up of actors who have played both sympathetic and unsympathetic roles in order that he would not have to "pull any punches" in production. The film, delayed in reaching St. Louis, has been strongly praised elsewhere for its realism.

In "Mountain Music," Bob Burns is member of one of two warring Ozark clans. It is arranged that he will marry Terry Walker of the other clan in order to settle differences. But on the wedding day, he loses his memory and wanders away to the big city. His younger brother, John Howard, in love with Miss Walker, is accused of murdering him. In the city, Burns has met up with Martha Raye, who discovers that he loses his memory when he is hit on the head and keeps hitting him to keep him in town. When she learns that Howard is on trial for murder, however, she takes Burns back home and settles the feud in her own way.

Making his debut in pictures is Rufe Davis, hill-billy comic of vaudeville and night clubs, and as much of a "mugger" or face-maker as Miss Raye. Also in the cast are Charles Timblin of "Tobacco Road" experience; Wally Vernon, former St. Louis master of ceremonies; Fuzzy Knight and Jan Duggan, comedienne of long training on stage and screen, who was born in St. Louis.

Fox—"Make a Wish," With "It's All Yours."

BOBBY BREEN, boy singer, is the star of "Make a Wish," which the Fox Theater places at the top of its bill for tomorrow. In supporting roles are Basil Rathbone, Marion Claire, Henry Armetta, Leon Errol and Ralph Forbes. The action takes place in the Maine woods and in New York. Rathbone is a writer of operetta who can't get a new idea; Bobby a visitor at a summer camp. In the lad's singing and in a visit of his mother, Miss Claire, Rathbone finds inspiration for his show. But his manuscript is lost and mother and son are required to put the show over, from memory.

Music, including the title song, "Music in My Heart," "Birchlake Forever" and "Campfire Dreams," was written by Oscar Strauss, famous European composer of "The Chocolate Soldier," who was summoned to Hollywood especially for the Breen film. Straus was no stranger to the film center, having written the music for Chevalier films there. Miss Claire, who has appeared previously in operettas over the country, including a visit to the St. Louis Municipal Theater several seasons ago, is making her first appearance in pictures. One of Master Breen's boy associates in the film is Billy Lechner of St. Louis.

"It's All Yours," second film at the Fox, is a comedy in which Francis Lederer plays a San Francisco spender and Madeleine Carroll secretary to Lederer's uncle, a millionaire. The uncle dies, leaving his fortune to the secretary, in a scheme to bring secretary and nephew together. But Lederer is in love with a showgirl, Grace Bradley, and Miss Carroll is pursued by a foreign nobleman, Mischa Auer. Much has to happen before the romantic conclusion is reached.

An added item on the Fox program is the September issue of the "March of Time," discussing the lessons in warfare arising out of the Spanish confl[illegible], the campaign for civil service reform and summer camp activities of American youth.

"Stella Dallas," second screen version of the Olive Higgins Prouty novel, stars Barbara Stanwyck in the title role, with John Boles as her husband, Ann Shirley as her daughter, Barbara O'Neil, formerly of St. Louis, as Boles' second wife and Alan Hale as Mis Stanwyck's lowbrow friend. Remaining at Loew's with the feature are a Disney cartoon and Pete Smith short subject.

"Easy Living," comedy now at the Fox, and "Love Under Fire," comedy melodrama at the Ambassador, move to the Missouri Theater tomorow. "Easy Living" stars Jean Arthur and Edward Arnold with Ray Milland and Mary Nash; "Love Under Fire" co-stars Loretta Young and Don Ameche, with Borrah Minevitch and his gang, Walter Catlett, Frances Drake and E. E. Clive.

OCEAN WAVES BRING GRIEF TO COLOR PHOTOGRAPHERS

Blue Waters Look 120 Different Shades With Changing of Daylight.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Aug. 26. — Color movies may be an advance in art, but they only bring new grief into the life of the director. James Hogan, embarked on the adventure of making Robert Louis Stevenson's "Ebb Tide" in all-color, is finding that out as his craft, Golden State, tosses off Catalina Island. Once he takes a snap of the ocean, he's got to keep on snapping it until the scene is done. No laying off for a rest or for luncheon, or anything like that. The sea just won't wait. It changes color every 15 minutes, like a chameleon, almost.

Sea-water, so Hogan has learned, is largely blue, when it isn't green or slate-color. Not just one kind of blue, but 120 different shades of blue, which all show up on the screen.

He admits this is the very devil. Once upon a time all sea looked alike—just water and waves in shades of black and white. If a director wanted some ocean background for his picture, all he used to do was go to the film-stock library, get out some sea material, cut off what he needed and work it in. The sea shots in "Man of Aran" and "Peter Ibbetson" and "Cavalcade" looked much alike. But sea pieces in color are too hard to match.

Hogan finds a pale blue in the morning, a turquoise follows it, then ultramarine, then a changing band of tints all afternoon, like the succession of colors on hot steel. The coast of California is famous for fluctuation in color. Late afternoon may see as many as 10 different hues before darkness comes. So when a scene is shot, say with Oscar Homolka and Barry Fitzgerald, as the two derelicts, lolling over the rail—that's the way it must stay. No patching up afterwards, or retakes—for that same color may not come around again inside of a week.

Color Feature on East Indies.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Aug. 26.—The East Indies will be subject of a pioneering feature motion picture marking Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's entrance into the color field, the studio announced today. The picture, to be the first outdoor film made in color and sound with an all-native cast, will be produced by Merian C. Cooper and directed by Ernest B. Schoedsack.

COTTAGE CHEESE PIE

Two and one-half cups cottage cheese.

One cup evaporated milk.

Six eggs, separated.

Juice from one-half lemon.

One package zwieback, rolled into crumbs.

One teaspoon cinnamon.

Three tablespoons sugar.

Three tablespoons melted butter.

Mix the cheese and milk. Add beaten egg yolks, vanilla and lemon juice. Fold in the stiffly beaten whites. Pour into a pan lined with a mixture of the zwieback crumbs, cinnamon, sugar and melted butter. Bake one hour in a moderate oven (350 degrees). Serve warm with a spoonful of strawberry jam atop each serving.

Summer Relish.

A smart summer relish can be made by cutting the stem-end from a fine green pepper, removing the seeds and stuffing with a hard-boiled egg, left whole. Fill in around the egg with a gelatin mixture containing chopped celery and pickle or a little red pepper hash. Set in refrigerator to become hardened and when ready to serve, slice the peppers with a very sharp knife.

PICKLED STRING BEANS

One pound string beans.

One cup vinegar.

Three-fourths cup sugar.

One tablespoon flour.

One teaspoon mustard.

One-eighth teaspoon celery seed.

One-eighth teaspoon mustard seed.

One-half to one teaspoon yellow coloring.

Cut the beans into one-inch lengths. Cook in boiling salted water until tender. Mix flour, sugar, celery seeds and mustard together. Stir in hot vinegar. Mix until smooth and cook until thickened. Pour over beans and seal immediately.

Fish Sandwich.

Spread well seasoned crabflake salad between two slices of toast. Spread mayonnaise on top of the second slice. Cover with a slice of Swiss cheese and a third piece of toast spread on under side with mayonnaise.

Lime Sherbet.

Three-quarters cup sugar.

Three-quarters cup water.

Two cups evaporated milk.

One-half teaspoon vanilla.

One-quarter to three-eighths cup lime juice.

Boil sugar and water to a thin syrup. Cool and put into ice cream can with the milk. Add vanilla and lime juice. Freeze with a 1:8 salt-ice mixture. Serve on halves of peaches, fresh or canned. Yield: One and a half pints.

Creamy Chicken Croquettes.

Four tablespoons flour.

One tablespoon salt.

One-eighth teaspoon pepper.

One teaspoon Worcestshire sauce.

One cup milk.

French Fried Caulifloweretts.

Separate one firm head of cauliflower into separate flowerets. Cook in boiling salted water, or steam, until tender. Then dip each floweret in a batter made of:

One cup flour.

One-half teaspoon salt.

Two-thirds cup milk.

Two eggs, well beaten.

Mix flour and salt. Add milk gradually, then eggs, and beat until smooth. Fry in deep fat heated to 375 degrees Fahrenheit until delicately browned, 3 to 5 minutes. Remove and drain on crumpled soft paper, or on paper toweling. Serve immediately.

Peach Marshmallow Ice Box Cake.

Two egg whites (stiffly beaten).

Two cups crushed vanilla wafers.

Soak gelatin in cold water for five minutes. Cream butter, add sugar and blend in egg yolks. Cook over a low heat, stirring constantly until thickened. Then remove from heat and add soaked gelatin. When slightly cool add marshmallows. Blend lightly and cool. Fold in sliced peaches and beaten egg whites. Put alternate layers of cookie crumbs and peach filling in a mold, beginning and ending with the cookie crumbs. Chill until set or when ready to serve. Unmold and serve with or without whipped cream.

Smothered Hamburg Patties.

Combine one tablespoon melted butter with one cup soft bread crumbs, then mix with one and a half pounds round steak, ground, one and a half teaspoons salt and one-quarter teaspoon black pepper. Form into eight flat cakes. Surround each with a narrow slice of lean bacon, securing with a short toothpick. Dip patties in flour. Fry until brown on both sides in a small amount of fat. Add one small can onion soup, cover tightly and bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees) for 30 to 40 minutes. Pour off excess fat and thicken gravy if necessary.

LATE SUMMER USHERS IN APPLE JELLY

In Combination or Alone These Jellies Add Much to the Store Already in Jam Closet.

Long shelves loaded with jellies and preserves had their place beside the potato bins and apple barrels in the old fashioned cellar. Cellars aren't as important now as they used to be but fruit jellies are just as tempting as ever. The summer fruits, strawberries, raspberries and blackberries are already in the jelly glasses and now is the time for apple jellies, jellies made from the juicy crisp fall apples, rich in pectin to make a strong jelly and full of flavor.

Apple jelly may be made from parings and cores of tart apples used in other canning. Discard all faulty parts. Cover well with water and cook until fruit is quite done. Strain twice. Add three-fourths cup sugar to one cup of boiling juice. When it reaches the jelly stage skim and pour at once into hot jelly glasses.

Apple Sauce Jelly.

Three dozen apples.
Two ounces stick cinnamon.
Juice of three lemons.
Sugar.

Wash apples, cut in quarters. Put in kettle, add cold water to come nearly to top of apples. Cook slowly until apples are soft. Drain in a sterilized bag. Add lemon juice to extracted juice and cinnamon tied in cheesecloth. Boil 20 minutes and remove spice. Measure, add equal quantity of sugar and boil until syrup falls in heavy drops from spoon. Pour into hot jelly glasses.

Apple Mint Jelly.

One cup apple juice.
One cup mint leaves (packed tightly).
Three-fourths cup sugar.
One cup boiling water.

Pour boiling water over mint leaves and allow to steep one hour. Press the juice from the leaves and add two tablespoons of this extract to apple juice and sugar. Let boil until the syrup jellies. If desired, tint with green vegetable coloring. Pour into hot jelly glasses.

Apple Marmalade.

Pare the apples, put through a meat chopper, and use one and one-half pounds of sugar to three pound of fruit. Cook slowly until stiff enough not to run when placed on a cold saucer as a test. Spices, as cinnamon, cloves, ginger, may be added to suit taste.

Apple Jam.

Pare, core and chop one pound of apples. Add one pound of sugar, one cup chopped raisins, chopped rind and juice of an orange and lemon. Cook until the apples are clear and the mixture thickens like jam when cool.

Apple and Cranberry Jelly.

Take equal parts cranberry and apple juice. Add an equal amount of sugar. Boil until it forms a jelly when cool. Pour into sterilized glasses.

Spiced Apple Jelly.

Wash and slice sour apples. Put into a preserving kettle with a little vinegar and a spice bag containing mixed ground spices. Let boil until the apple are soft. Strain and take equal parts of juice and sugar and boil until it jells. This is fine jelly to serve with meat.

TREAT FAMILY TO NEW WAFFLES FOR LATE SUNDAY BREAKFAST

Bran Waffles.

One cup milk.
One cup bran cereal.
Three-quarters cup sifted flour.
Three and one-quarter teaspoons baking powder.
One-half teaspoon salt.
Two egg yolks, well beaten.
Four tablespoons melted butter or other shortening.
Two egg whites, stiffly beaten.

Pour milk over bran and let stand five minutes. Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Add egg yolks and butter to bran mixture. Add flour and blend. Fold in egg whites. Bake in hot waffle iron. Makes four 4-section waffles.

Bacon Bran Waffles: Add one-third cup chopped cooked bacon to waffle batter just before folding in egg whites.

Cottage Cheese Deserves Place on Food List

Mildly Acid Product Which Is Rich in Calcium May Be Turned Into a Number of Tempting Dishes.

Cottage cheese isn't what it used to be! At least in most parts of the United States. What grandmother made on the back of the kitchen range, what old-country folk called smearcase or schmier kase, is in a decline. The fine grained, mealy product with its distinctly acid flavor is found less and less.

Yet that acid type of cheese is good eating. Where it is still to be found, it is likely to be a temperamental product. Not only is there usually a wide variety of results from the same farmer's kitchen or the same milk distributing center, but also from one home or factory to the next. And because it starts its career with a high acid content, it will spoil more quickly than the other type cottage cheese.

Probably 80 per cent of the cottage cheese of today is the mild flavored "popcorn" type, that is, the big flake, low acid kind made with rennet. The size of the flake varies according to local demand. In some sections it's an inch flake; in others, a quarter inch. The larger the flake, the more whey is retained in the center, the less readily heat penetrates it—and the sooner it should be used, as it sours more quickly.

Sweet rather than sour milk is used for the rennet type cheese, so naturally it keeps longer than the old fashioned acid kind. Its acidity increases gradually, but it can develop considerably and still be edible and nutritious.

Any type cottage cheese is a highly perishable product, however, and should be stored in the coolest possible place and eaten as soon as possible.

"The reason cottage cheese is not more popular in some communities is not hard to find," say specialists in the Bureau of Dairy Industry. "In too many places, dairies have not been putting out a uniform product. They've given cottage cheese the tag ends of their attention. One day they've given one man the job of making it and the next day another—whoever wasn't busy at the time. Naturally the product varied widely.

"Wherever dairies have stopped this haphazard way of making cottage cheese, have made it the responsibility of one well-trained man, and have put out a uniformly good product, cottage cheese is a well-liked food.

"Another thing,—some milk distributing centers have deluded themselves into thinking they can put out a high quality cheese, from low grade milk. And it can not be done."

Mild Acid Flavor.

A high quality cottage cheese has a clean, mildly acid flavor, a smooth uniform texture, and a tender curd. If a cheese is tasteless, or over acid, or bitter, or has a hard or tough curd, it is either old or has been badly made.

The greatest cottage cheese eaters are those on the Pacific Coast and in the east north central states. That is, if one can judge from data collected by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. In the Bureau of Agricultural Eenomics cottage, pot and bakers' cheeses are all lumped together; and these put the chief production states in order of their importance in 1935 thus: California, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Washington.

Data assembled by the Bureau of Home Economics in a food purchasing survey tell much the same story.

Figures have been totaled and fully analyzed for only one population group so far—for families of city workers spending between $1.85 and $2.50 a person a week for food. But here, too, Pacific Coast and east north central states show the most cottage cheese being eaten. In these two sections of the country, these city workers' families average about 2½ pounds of cottage cheese a person a year. Moreover, almost a third of all the cheese they buy is cottage cheese. Families of city workers of North Atlantic cities get only half that amount, and those of the South average only about a fourth of what those of the North Atlantic cities buy. As more money is available for food, more cheese is bought, however, as is shown from study of the other expenditure levels. Cottage cheese is an excellent and inexpensive source of protein, and a good source of calcium and phosphorus, say the food composition specialists of the bureau.

"And it is the calcium value of cottage cheese that is especially important," chime in the nutritionists. "The ordinary mixed diet of Americans is probably more deficient in calcium than in any other mineral."

Most nutrition specialists consider that the child needs an average of not less than a gram of calcium a day for the best rate of growth and for insuring good teeth. And a quart of milk has a little more than a gram of calcium in it—1:2 to be exact. A bit more than half the calcium of milk is left in the whey when it is tranformed into cottage cheese, but the almost-half left makes it still a good calcium food. A two-ounce serving of cottage cheese, and perhaps that is the average serving, would furnish about five-hundredths of a gram of calcium—.046 gram to be specific—pretty far short of the day's total quota.

Source of Calcium.

Cheese and milk are not the only good sources of calcium, of course; vegetables rich in this mineral are beet, dandelion, turnip and mustard greens and green cabbage and chard.

Cottage cheese certainly is a versatile food. It can be worked into delicious salads and salad dressings, into desserts and even into cooked dishes. Because of its high protein value, it may be the basis of the main dish of the meal, and as such cut down on the food bill.

As the cottage cheese flavor is pretty mild, it needs some judicious seasoning. A bit of onion juice does a lot for it. Chives chopped fine make another good addition. Still other excellent seasonings are horseradish, chopped olives or parsley, celery or cucumber, pimientos, green peppers.

Leftovers of bacon, ham and other cold meats can be nicely combined with the cheese. So can peanut butter.

Cottage cheese may be substituted for cream cheese in recipes, if the cottage cheese is pressed through a fine sieve. For instance, in cheese cake.

Here is a cheese-cake recipe suggested by the Bureau of Home Economics. Press through a fine sieve a half pound of cottage cheese. Mix thoroughly two cups fine rolled toasted bread crumbs, two tablespoons sugar and a half quarter teaspoon salt. Reserve some of the mixture for the top, and pat down the rest in a smooth layer over the bottom and sides of a deep pie plate. Beat well the yolks of two eggs, add a half cup sugar, a half teaspoon salt, the sieved cheese, one and one-half tablespoons flour and a half cup thick cream, beating them until smooth. Then add the beaten egg whites and a half teaspoon of vanilla, and pour into the pan lined with the bread-crumb mixture. Sprinkle the rest over the top. Bake in a moderate oven (325 degrees F.) for about 45 minutes, or until set.

If you can take the time to work out something artistic as well as delicious, you might try a cottage-cheese loaf.

Cottage-Cheese Loaf.

Cut a sandwich loaf lengthwise so that you have about four long slices. Between two of the slices use for filling cottage cheese mixed with chopped pimientos. For the next filling have onion juice and chopped nuts with the cheese. For the next use cottage cheese with ground ham. Then "ice" your four-decker loaf with cottage cheese, seasoned to taste. For both filling and icing the cheese has to be moistened with cream, of course. Slice and serve the loaf at the table, with a fruit salad.

Simpler ways of serving cottage cheese are: For stuffing celery, peppers, prunes, peaches or pears—in balls with pineapples—and baked in a cottage cheese-nut loaf.

As it combines equally well with meats, fruits and vegetables, its possibilities are almost limitless.

UNUSUAL DESSERT RECIPE INCLUDES TAPIOCA

Do you ever wonder, as you make a dessert, who besides the family will help in the eating of it? Here is an unusual ice cream recipe which includes tapioca for finer texture.

Raisin Almond Bisque.

One cup seedless raisins.
One cup milk.
Two tablespoons granulated tapioca.
Two eggs.
One-half cup brown sugar.
One-half cup finely chopped roasted almonds.
One teaspoon vanilla.
One-quarter teaspoon almond extract.
One cup whipping cream.

Boil raisins five minutes in sufficient water to cover, drain, and cool. Combine milk and tapioca and cook in top of double boiler until tapioca is cooked, about 15 minutes. Strain, but do not rub tapioca through sieve. Beat eggs very thick and light, then beat in the sugar. Remove beater, add milk strained from tapioca, almonds, flavorings, raisins, and then fold in the cream whipped thick but not stiff. Pour into refrigerator pan, place in freezing unit, and freeze. Stir once after standing one-half hour.

Lemon Coconut Filling.

Mix four tablespoons cornstarch and one cup sugar. Add one cup boiling water slowly, stirring constantly. Then add the juice of grated rind of two lemons and stir constantly until thick. Add one grated coconut or can of moist coconut. Cool and spread.

NATIVE SQUASH HAS COME INTO FAVOR

Summer and Winter Vegetable Lends Itself Graciously to Many Dishes.

Squash has come into its own in recent years. From the small white vegetable of early summer to the large green Hubbard or winter squash there has been discovery on the part of the housewife and squash again appears in many guises, in soups, muffins, pies and as a vegetable.

Squash is a native American plant. Indians grew them long ago and the same squash was adapted from the term meaning "eaten green." There are two types of squashes: summer and winter. These types cover a wide range of flavor, some being sweet and nutty, others strong.

Bush or scallops and crook necks are two of the best known summer squashes. Vegetable marrows, still another type of summer squash, are known to the Italians as zucchini and are much like cucumbers in appearance.

Young Squash Tender.

Summer squash should be eaten when quite young and it is possible to break the skin with the fingernail. The squash is cut without peeling, steamed and mashed and served with butter. These squashes are also very good when fried.

For pies, winter squash are best. The Hubbard with its tough green rind and yellow meat makes a pie that differs only slightly in taste from its cousin the pumpkin. Winter squash may be stored in a cool dry place provided they are placed on shelves and not heaped one on top of the other.

Fried Squash.

Cut two slices of bacon in small pieces and fry slowly. Have summer squash cut in small slices, sprinkle with salt and pepper and roll in flour. Remove bacon and fry squash in the hot fat, turning once or twice.

Squash Waffles.

One-half cup mashed cooked squash.
One egg yolk well beaten.
Five tablespoons flour.
One-half teaspoon salt.
Dash of paprika.
One teaspoon sugar.
One teaspoon baking powder.
One egg white beaten stiff.

Sift together the flour, salt, sugar, baking powder and paprika. Mix the squash and beaten egg yolk and add the sifted dry ingredients. Beat well and fold in the beaten egg white. Bake in a waffle iron until brown or fry in a pan like fritters. Serve hot with the meat or fish course.

Mexican Stuffed Squash.

Two large cook necked squash.
Three cups leftover meat.
One and one-half cups stale bread cubes.
Two tablespoons hot peppers.
Two tablespoons green peppers.
One egg.
Eight tablespoons ketchup.
One small onion.
Two tablespoons olive oil.
Two teaspoons salt.

Wash and parboil the whole squash until the outside rind may be pierced with a fork—about 30 minutes. Cut in half lengthwise, remove seeds, stuff with meat mixture which has been topped with bread crumbs.

To prepare meat mixture fry the onion to a light brown, add the ground meat and other seasonings. Fry the bread cubes lightly and mix in the egg. Fill the squash with the mixture, top with bread crumbs which have been tossed in melted butter. Brush the cut surface of the squash with melted butter and bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) for about 30 minutes or until slightly browned. This amount serves six.

DOUGHNUT PUFFS A BREAKFAST POSSIBILITY

Doughnuts for breakfast may be like steak and pie for the same meal. They are intriguing when served with maple syrup and bacon fried in the same deep fat.

Doughnut Puffs.

Six tablespoons butter.
Two and one-half cups water.
Pinch of salt.
Four eggs.
Two cups sifted flour.
Three tablespoons sugar.
Grated rind of one lemon.

Bring water, butter and salt to a boil in a sauce pan. Remove from stove and stir in the flour until the mixture leaves the side of the pan. Then beat in the sugar. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Then add lemon rind. Use a cookie press or pastry bag to drop the batter in deep fat. Temperature of fat should be about 350 or 400 degrees. Fry until golden brown.

SPONGE CAKE

Two eggs.
One cup sugar.
Grated rind of one lemon.
One tablespoon butter, softened.
Three-eighths cup hot water.
One cup flour.
One and one-half teaspoons baking powder.
One-quarter teaspoon salt.

Beat eggs until light and lemon colored. Add sugar and grated rind with butter and hot water. Sift flour with baking powder and salt and fold into the first mixture. Line shallow pan with wax paper and turn in the batter. Bake in oven 350 degrees F. for 20 minutes.

To remove red ink stains from table linen spread freshly made mustard over the stain and leave for half an hour. Sponge off and all traces of the ink will have disappeared.

DINNER SALAD

One small head lettuce.
One-half bunch watercress.
One-third cup diced celery.
One cup shredded cabbage.
One pimiento, minced.
Two carrots, grated.
One-half cup French dressing.

Arrange lettuce leaves in bowl. Sprinkle with remaining vegetables, grating carrots on last. Pour over the dressing and mix thoroughly at the table before serving with a salad fork and spoon.

Piquant Liver Sandwiches.

Mash six slices of liver sausage with four hard-cooked eggs, chopped fine. Then mix with one-half teaspoon mustard, one-half cup chopped boiled ham, six sweet pickles, chopped, and enough French dressing to moisten. Spread between thin slices of buttered bread.

MOCHA MOLD

One tablespoon granulated gelatin.
One-fourth cup cold water.
One-fourth cup sugar.
One and one-half cups hot, freshly brewed coffee.
One cup sliced dates.
One-third cup chopped English walnuts.
One-half teaspoon vanilla.
One-third cup whipping cream.
Whipping cream for garnish.

Soak the gelatin for five minutes in the cold water. Add the hot coffee and sugar, stirring until the sugar and gelatin are completely dissolved. Chill in a shallow pan until the mixture is slightly thickened. Stir in the dates, nuts, vanilla and one-third cup cream, which has just been whipped until stiff. Pour all this into individual molds, or into one large fluted mold, and chill until firm. When just ready to serve, quickly dip the molds into hot water and turn out immediately onto dessert plates. Top with swirls of additional whipped cream and serve.

Food Service.

When serving food from dishes be careful to see that the rims of the dishes are perfectly clean. Food left on rims or edges detract much, making foods look unappetizing.

THIS LUNCHEON DISH WILL APPEAL TO THE YOUNGER GENERATION

Creamed Peanuts and Rice.

One cup rice.
Two cups chopped peanuts.
Two teaspoons salt.
Three tablespoons flour.
One-half tablespoon paprika.
Three tablespoons butter.
Three cups milk.

Wash the rice thoroughly. Boil. Drain. Make a white sauce of the salt, flour, paprika, butter and milk. Combine all ingredients. Bake in a buttered baking dish in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 20 minutes, or serve the sauce in a bowl with a dish of hot rice.

BANANA-ORANGE MOUSSE

Two ripe mashed bananas.
Three tablespoons orange juice.
One-eighth teaspoon grated orange rind.
One-quarter cup coconut.
Four tablespoons brown sugar.
Pinch of salt.
One cup whipping cream.

Combine mashed bananas, orange juice and grated orange rind. Add coconut, sugar and salt. Whip cream until fluffy and fold in the fruit mixture. Freeze in tray of automatic refrigerator until firm. Serves six.

Dessert Note.

To make a gelatine dessert in layers, divide the jelly in three portions and put one portion in the bottom of the mold. When that is firm cover with a layer of plain jelly. Mold, chill, cut in layers and serve. The different layers may be colored pink and green.

CARE OF MEAT IS ESSENTIAL IN HOME

A Perishable Product Requiring Low Temperature If Quality Is to Be Kept.

When you purchase meat at your favorite retail shop, you may be certain that it has been given the right care and stored at the correct temperature to keep it unspoiled. But from the time it reaches your home, the responsibility is yours. Many housewives confess themselves perplexed over the best ways of keeping the meat before it is cooked, also about keeping left-over cooked meats and the ready-to-serve, and packaged and cured meats which are purchased to be kept on hand for some time.

Every housewife, who buys in quantities for the average family, has her problem in caring for the meat after she has purchased it. Should she put all meat in the refrigerator, cooked as well as fresh? Should the meat be wrapped or unwrapped, kept in a covered or uncovered dish? In what part of the refrigerator should it be placed? How can she prevent it from drying out?

Needs Low Temperature.

Meat is perishable food and is best kept at a low temperature. Fresh meat should be placed at once in the refrigerator, and should be put in the coldest, or the next coldest place there. Meat spoils more quickly than vegetables or fruit, but less so than milk and butter. Therefore the coldest place in your refrigerator belongs to these dairy products, and the next coldest to meat.

Unwrap the meat when it comes from the shop. There is no advantage in leaving it in that paper, which is usually porous, and which is apt to stick to the meat, besides taking up room in the refrigerator.

If you are going to cook the meat within a reasonably short time, you may place it in a covered container. But the circulation of air allowed by a perforated container, or loosely wrapped waxed or parchment paper aids in keeping the meat fresh. Therefore if it is to be kept for a longer period, wrap it loosely in waxed paper. Or it m... be left uncovered and unwrapped.

Care of Cooked Meats.

Cooked meats will of course keep for a longer period at higher temperatures than fresh meat, but it is desirable to place these, too, in the refrigerator. Small pieces, such as left-over steak, chops or meat cakes, do not keep as well as roasts. Cooked meats should be cooled before being placed in the refrigerator in order not to raise the temperature of the box. They may be cooled in a covered container and thus the drying and shrinking will be somewhat lessened.

As with uncooked meat, for a short period they may be kept in a covered container, but if they are to be kept for a longer time they should be loosely wrapped instead in parchment or waxed paper. This is true of the ready-to-serve meats from the shop, also dried sliced beef.

Large Purchase Is Economy.

If your means of refrigeration is good, you will often find it advisable to purchase the meat supply for several days at one time. Often this is an economy, and it is usually a convenience for the busy housewife. Meals may be planned and partially prepared ahead of time when the "source of supply" is right at hand. Moreover, there is economy of fuel and effort when meat is cooked in larger quantities.

Broiled Deviled Roast Beef.

Six slices roast beef.
Three tablespoons butter.
One teaspoon mustard.
One teaspoon vinegar.
One teaspoon Worcestershire sauce.
One-half teaspoon salt.
Pinch cayenne pepper.
One egg yolk.
Buttered bread crumbs.

Mix thoroughly the butter, mustard, vinegar, Worcestershire sauce, cayenne, pepper and salt. Moisten with egg yolk. Spread a little of this deviled butter on both sides of each slice of roast beef. Roll in bread crumbs and place under a broiler flame long enough to heat the meat.

Lamb and Pineapple Salad.

Two cups diced cold lamb.
One cup pineapple, diced.
Two sprigs chives, diced.
One-half cup whipped cream.
One tablespoon Roquefort cheese, finely chopped.
French dressing.
Paprika.
Romaine.
Mayonnaise dressing.
Salt.
Pepper.

Marinate cold diced lamb with French dressing. Drain and combine with pineapple, chives and seasoning. Chill and just before serving, mix with mayonnaise which has been thinned with whipped cream and flavored with Roquefort cheese. Toss until well mixed, then heap on crisp romaine leaves. Arrange pineapple slices around it and decorate with radish roses.

Pork a la King.

Cut left-over cold roast pork into small dice. Make a medium cream sauce by combining flour with melted butter, gradually adding milk or veal stock, and cooking slowly until thickened. Season with salt and pepper, finely diced green pepper and pimiento, and paprika. Diced celery, cooked peas, or other left-over vegetables may be added, if desired. Cook slowly until the meat and vegetables are heated through. Serve in toasted bread baskets, patty shells, or on toast points. Decorate with parsley and strips of pimiento and green pepper. Top with a cube of currant jelly.

Remove Spots.

Ink spots on rug: Take three tablespoonfuls baking soda to one quart lukewarm water. Saturate spot well with water and soda and use several clean cloths to mop it up. Not a trace of ink remains, no matter how old a spot is.

PENOCHE

One cup brown sugar.
One cup white sugar.
two-thirds cup milk.
Two tablespoons butter.
One-half cup maraschino cherries, chopped.
One-half cup chopped nuts.

Put sugar and milk into a saucepan and cook, stirring constantly until the mixture forms a soft ball when tried in cold water or 112 degrees C. with a candy thormometer. Remove from fire, add butter and set aside without stirring to cool. When lukewarm or 43 degrees C. beat until thick and creamy. Add chopped maraschino cherries, which have been well drained, and chopped nuts and mix thoroughly. Pour into a buttered pan and when cold cut in squares.

SCHOOL PLAYGROUNDS EXHIBIT HANDICRAFT

The annual exhibit of handicraft by children of the 57 public school playgrounds, in which more than 5000 articles are shown, opened yesterday afternoon at the Gallaudet School, 1600 South Grand boulevard. The exhibit will close tonight.

Ingenious youngsters have fashioned baskets, mats, ash trays and toys out of scrap materials. Tin cans, cheese boxes, orange crates, bits of string; brightening scraps of cretonne and dabs of paint and water color were used in making scores of useful gadgets.

The boys' exhibit includes the inevitable tie rack, magazine racks in conventional and fantastic designs, dozens of table lamps and smoking stands and broom holders. Popeye the Sailor is featured in bookends and other wood cutouts, with Big Chief Wahoo running a close second.

Girls Exhibit Dolls.

The work of 57 little girls, each representing her own playground, was given a prominent place in the exhibit. The exhibit is made up of cloth dolls representing Mother Goose characters—Humpty Dumpty, Jack and Jill, the Cat and the Fiddle and a dozen sinister witches.

The boys of the Field playground, aided by a former sailor, contributed four ships to the exhibit. Two are anachronistic Mayflowers, rigged with billowing canvas and equipped with electric extensions to light the portholes.

A group of girls bent old phonograph records to make plates with fluted edges. Others carved bits of cork, making delicate little dolls. Crepe flowers, hand-painted paper plates and scores of cleverly woven reed and raffia articles make up other parts of the exhibit.

Gundlach playground children were assigned to the making of scrub and hand brushes, several of which are shown in the exhibit. That project and the making of crepe paper and plaster objects and of articles from old inner tubes and cork were new on the playgrounds this year.

Made Puppets for Show.

A puppet show, "Cinderella," was given in the school auditorium yesterday and will be repeated tonight. The puppets used in the show were made by the children.

More than 15,000 children took part in activities on public school playgrounds this year. The articles in the exhibit are grouped according to type, in contrast to the practice of previous years, when the various schools had booths. Instructors said the new plan had eliminated duplication and enabled them to show only superior handicraft.

Procter and Gamble makes this remarkable offer—a regular fifteen-cent package of DREFT for 1¢—for the sole purpose of inducing more women to try this amazing and utterly new washing creation. Banishes Troublesome, Dingy, Color-Dulling, Hard-Water Scum
If you enjoy keeping your dainty, delicate, expensive things looking fresh, colorful and gay—even after scores of washings—you owe it to yourself to try DREFT—(Process and product patented U. S. letters patent, 1,968,793 to 7 inclusive) the most amazing washing discovery in over 2000 years! For DREFT brings an entirely new conception of how long you can wear lingerie, chiffon hose and fine woolens without seeing them grow dim, dull and lifeless. And the chief reason for this is because DREFT can't possibly form any hard-water "scum."

This "scum" which you always see in your rinse water, is unnoticeable in your wash water—yet it is there, doing its vicious work, wash after wash, dulling the lustre of your sheer lingerie, spotting and streaking silk stockings. And this is true even though you have used what, before the discovery of DREFT, was recognized as the best, most expensive, soap known for washing fine fabrics.

Amazing as this may seem, DREFT ends all this because it can't form scum. And even more amazing, DREFT actually removes the stubborn, clinging scum particles that failed to rinse away in previous soap washings—lets "scum-dulled" colors come up to their true brilliance. You'll be thrilled to see the delicate colors and feel the silky softness of your sheerest stockings "wash back" in DREFT suds.

5 Times Greater Suds
In addition, DREFT does these three remarkable things no single soap has ever done, or can do now:
Makes 5 times greater suds than any soap in the hardest water.
Cleanses thoroughly—even lipstick and so-called "impossible" smudges!

By comparison DREFT makes even the purest soap you have ever known seem harsh—because DREFT suds contain no alkali. Alkali in soapsuds is what fades colors. DREFT suds are the only suds you can get that do not contain alkali. You'll be astonished how, wash after wash, silk stockings actually seem like new when you use DREFT. It's economical too. For instance, in hard water, you need only use half as much DREFT as you would the finest soap flakes. We don't ask you to take our word for these amazing claims. Prove them for yourself at our risk.

Take Advantage of 1c Sale Today
Please take special notice that this unusual 1¢ bargain sale is limited. You can only get 1¢ DREFT while your dealer's stock lasts. Remember to get DREFT today. Your money back if you're not satisfied. Act quickly and avoid disappointment.

NAVY AND MARINES' PLANES CRASH; 'CHUTES SAVE 3 MEN

By the Associated Press.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Aug. 26.—Three men escaped death yesterday when a navy scouting plane and a marine single-seater fighting plane crashed in the air during maneuvers.

The two pilots leaped with parachutes after the collision. A passenger in the navy plane, J. R. McDaniels, radioman, suffered a broken leg in a third parachute landing. Pilot of the navy plane was Lieut. W. P. Fortune, attached to Scouting Squadron 40, U. S. S. Ranger. Capt. L. H. Sanderson, U. S. M. C., piloted the fighting plane.

Witnesses said the pilots apparently mistook signals while flying at each other.

Monday night a large navy flying boat crashed into a derelict hull in the bay. Six persons were killed and two men were injured.

James A. Roan Heads Legion Post.

James A. Roan yesterday was elected commander of Navy Post 294 of the American Legion for the coming year. He succeeds William A. Klee. Elmer A. Schreiner and Clarence A. Hartwig were elected first and second vice-commanders.

FOOT ITCH

(Athlete's Foot)

A Soldier's Find

A soldier came back from France with Athlete's Foot or Trench Foot. It is caused by ringworm germs which bare feet pick up, in swimming pools or golf clubs. Victims convey it to their loved ones, often through bath-rugs.

It calls for something which will kill those ringworm germs. Many things will do that, but they fail to reach the germs. Those germs dig in, and thus escape most surface applications.

But this soldier, searching for 18 months, found a specialist who solved the problem. His remedy is now offered to all who suffer, under the name Ring-Rout. It is so right, so sure, that all druggists guarantee it.

It gently removes the outer skin, without harm to the real skin. It gets down where the germs lie, and reaching them kills them in a minute. Try Ring-Rout under your druggist's warrant. It is the real way to end foot itch.

WOMEN FILE SUITS CHARGING MOB ACTION

Two Ask $10,000 Each, Accusing Rice-Stix Co. Executive of Being Instigator.

Alleging they were attacked in their home at St. James, Mo., Aug. 13, by a "mob," incited by the manager of the Rice-Stix Dry Goods Co., factory there, Mrs. Agnes Shevlin, a former employe, and Mrs. Theodosia M. Huber, 73-year-old widow, with whom Mrs. Shevlin rooms, filed suits in Circuit Court today asking $10,000 damages each against the company.

Mrs. Shevlin's petition alleges she was fired as a seamstress Aug. 10 because Henry Meyer, plant manager, erroneously suspected she was instrumental in an attempt to organize a union under auspices of the Committee for Industrial Organization. Three days later, she said, Meyer assembled the women employes and incited them to march from the factory to Mrs. Huber's house.

When they arrived there, Mrs. Hubert stepped into the yard and told them to leave, but instead, the petition asserts, she was knocked unconscious. Mrs. Shevlin said she then retreated to her room and locked the door, while the crowd, which by that time consisted of about 130 persons, milled about, threatening to kill her and demanding that she turn over a supposed list of employes who had joined the union.

About this time, the petition continues, Meyer entered the house and stood outside her door, saying, "You'll never work again; we have your social security number and will have you blacklisted in every other factory."

Meantime, several women opened a window and one of them reached in and grabbed Mrs. Shevlin's dress, whereupon the latter, in self-defense, struck at the woman with scissors, the petition said. Meyer then called a policeman, who took Mrs. Shevlin to jail, but she was released two hours later after a warrant against her, sought by Meyer, was refused, the petition continues.

Because of nervousness and humiliation Mrs. Shevlin says she suffered and particularly because of the alleged "blacklisting," by which she has lost her means of livelihood, Mrs. Shevlin seeks $5000 actual and $5000 punitive damages.

Mrs. Huber's suit, asking damages in the same amounts, states she was unconscious six hours after being struck and that she suffered a bruised left hip and side.

Fred Eiseman, vice-president of the Rice-Stix firm, which has its main office at 1000 Washington avenue, said to a Post-Dispatch reporter that all plant managers have been under strict instructions not to interfere with union activities of employes, and that he placed little credence to allegations in the suits.

New Weather Service Planned.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26. — The Weather Bureau is to open a unit at the South Bend (Ind.) airport to give 24-hour service for airways. Delbert M. Little of the aerology division said C. L. Dannheiser, Springfield, Ill., will have charge. Four other persons will be transferred or recruited for duty at the new unit. The unit will make hourly weather observations and furnish information to landing and departing pilots. Little said the office will be located in quarters now available at the airport.

FINED $55 ON HIS SIXTH CONVICTION FOR SPEEDING

David Brown Asserts Policemen Arresting Him, Beat Him; They Deny Charge.

A fine of $55 was assessed against David Brown, 4355 Wilcox avenue, yesterday, when a jury in Police Judge James F. Nangle's court found him guilty of speeding. Brown testified the policemen who arrested him at 1:30 a. m. July 15 beat him before taking him to the Police Station. The policemen, Fred Luntzer and Frank Eike, denied this. They said they pursued Brown a mile and a half and that he drove through an alley with his lights off in his effort to avoid arrest.

Brown, who has been convicted five times previously of speeding, and driving without headlights, said he received a threatening telephone call several days before his arrest. Because of this, he stated, he became frightened when he saw an automobile following him, not knowing it was a police car.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 26.—The City Council in a unanimously adopted resolution appealed to the United States Senate Civil Liberties Committee yesterday for an inquiry into reported pro-Nazi activities here.

PUXICO, MO., PRESS PLANT IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

Editor Believes Flames Were Started in Retaliation for His Activities Against Crime.

By the Associated Press.

PUXICO, Mo., Aug. 26. — The plant of the Puxico Press, operated by J. R. Derby as editor, was destroyed last night by fire believed to have been of incendiary origin. Loss of the publishing plant and building was placed at $8000.

Derby, who is also a Justice of the Peace, said today he is confident someone set fire to the building in retaliation for his activities in a drive on crime.

"Officers have been active against criminals during the past few months," Derby said, "and some of them have been brought before me as either a Justice of the Peace or Police Judge. The highway patrol has been active against alleged cattle thieves in this area. Some men accused of that crime also have been brought before me."

Derby said he had been the target for a number of threats but that he thought little about them.

Man Returned on Check Charges.

James Kennedy Hicks, who was arrested recently in Covington, Ky., was brought back to St. Louis last night to face charges of passing worthless checks for $148.93 and $136.95 last January at the Sears Roebuck store, 3708 South Grand boulevard.

DEPOSITOR HOLDS UP BANK BUT RETURNS LOOT LATER

Turned Over to Federal Agents; Says, "I'm Crazy," as He Takes $350.

By the Associated Press.

CALHOUN, Mo., Aug. 26.—Charles Francis Hill, 28 years old, a respected business man, surrendered shortly before midnight, Sheriff Dalton Davis said, and returned $350 taken in holdup of the Citizen State Bank late yesterday.

C. F. Morrow, cashier, and Maynard George, assistant cashier, said a depositor they identified as Hill walked into the bank, drew a small revolver and commanded: "Mr. Morrow stand back, Mr. George, get a sack and fill it with all the money you have. I mean it. I'm crazy, but I mean every word I say."

Hill was turned over to Federal agents and taken to the Henry County jail at Clinton.

WELL, I'LL TELL YOU—By BOB BURNS

THRILLS and excitement depend a whole lot on what kind of a life you're use'ta living. I'll bet the people who have swum the English Channel didn't get as much thrill out of it as I did when I swam across the 30-foot swimming hole back home. And these automobile race drivers don't get as much thrill as you got the first time you actually sat back of the wheel in your own automobile and started and stopped your car yourself. I was at a dinner down home one time given in honor of a big game hunter, who had just returned from Africa, and he made quite a talk explaining that his very nature craved excitement. He said his very soul fed on dangerous thrills, where one false move might mean sudden death. When he finished talking, My Cousin Purdie went up to him and shook hands and says, "Brother, I know exactly how you feel. I'm one of those devil-may-care fellas myself. Many a time when it looked like rain, I have deliberately gone out without my umbrella."

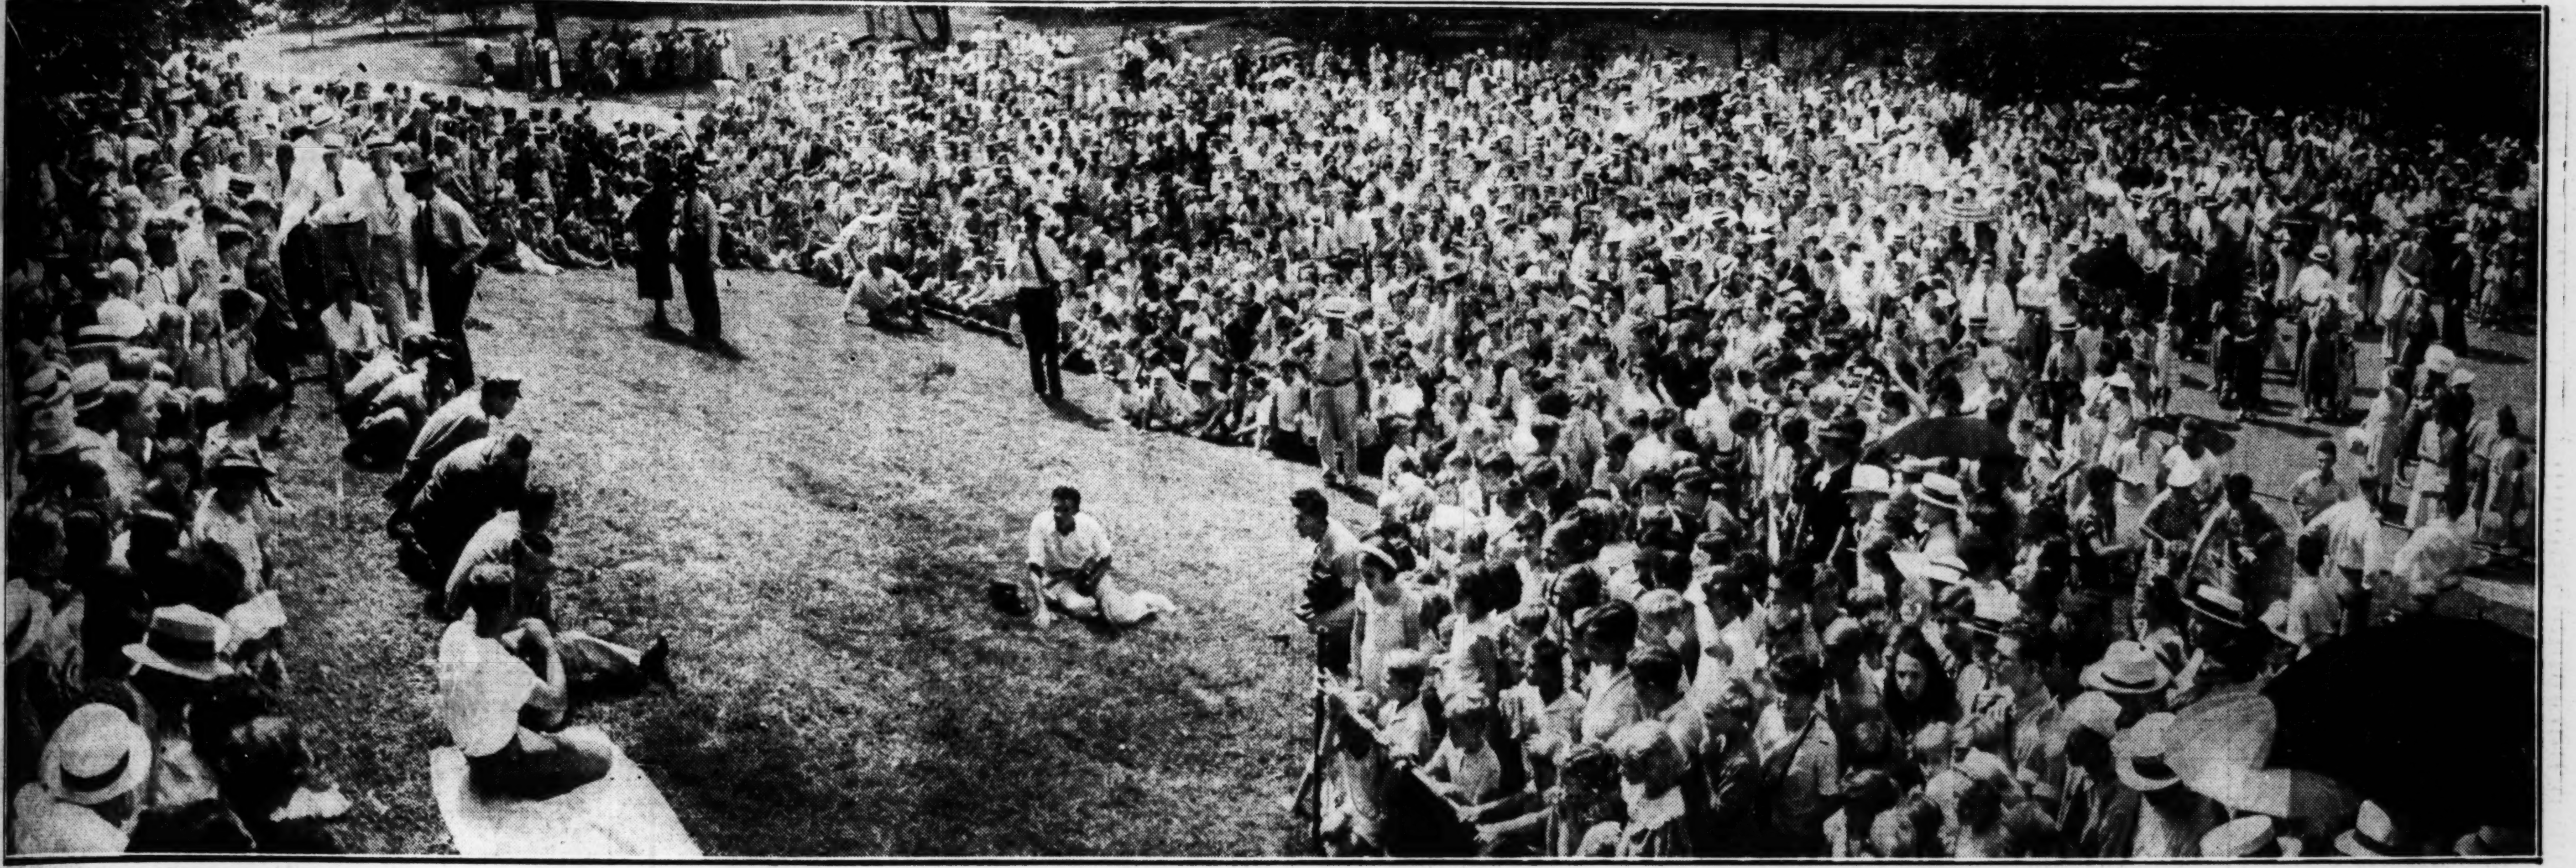
THEY GATHERED TO SEE THE ZOO'S BIG PYTHON GET A FORCED FEEDING



More than 2000 persons gathered near the Reptile House in Forest Park yesterday to see attendants feed Maharanee of Whangpoo, 250-pound python, through a rubber hose. Twenty-one pounds of rabbit meat were administered with a plunger, enough to last a month. Her cage-mate "Blondie" has been fed by tube for the past 10 years.

A Sad Tale

By Ely Culbertson

(Copyright, 1937.)

APPARENTLY bad luck, besides being no respecter of persons, doesn't care in which hemisphere it operates. Here is a sad tale all the way from Australia:

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: Playing rubber bridge the other day, the following hand was dealt. First I will show you only my own and partner's cards:

NORTH
♠Q8753
♥9642
♦A3
♥AQ3
♦Q2
♣AQJ3

"With the opponents remaining discreetly silent, my partner and I bid as follows:

SOUTH	NORTH
1 spade	3 spades
4 clubs	4 diamonds
4 hearts	4 spades
5 diamonds	5 spades
6 spades

"When my four club asking bid elicited that North had first round diamond control and second round club control, besides excellent spade support as evidenced by his jump raise, a small slam, of course, became an odds-on chance. Despite partner's negative response to my four heart asking bid, I thought that there might be a play for a grand slam if he held the king of diamonds in addition to the ace. Hence, my five diamond asking bid. The denial to this held my next bid down to a small slam.

This was the entire deal:

♠Q8753
♦A3
♣K10

♠J10 ♥None ♦10864 ♣9876542	NORTH WEST EAST SOUTH	♠92 ♥KJ10875 ♦KJ975 ♣None

♥AQ3

"East ruffed the club lead and returned a heart. I suppose I should have finessed rather than having abandoned all chance for success, but to keep the loss down I decided to play the ace. West strangled this with a trump and I then had to lose not only another club ruff but the king of hearts and a second heart ruff.

"Looking at the hand afterward, I discovered (very sadly) that a grand slam can be made on any other lead or even at no trump. On, let us say, a diamond lead dummy's ace wins and the club suit is run off, dummy discarding two hearts. Four rounds of spades, ending in dummy, would leave the following position: Dummy would have left one spade, two hearts, and a low diamond. East would have left only the K-J-10 of hearts and the king of diamonds. Declarer's holding would be the A-Q-3 of hearts and the queen of diamonds. West's cards would not matter. The lead of dummy's last spade would now force East to unguard one of the red suits and declarer would make the rest of the tricks on a heart finesse.

"Do you think that our bidding and the fact that we ended in spades instead of no trump are open to criticism?

"Yours very truly,
"C. E., Auckland, Australia."

No, it seems to me that the final contract was a logical one and that only the demon of hard luck prevented its fulfillment.

FALL HATS FOR MEN

By Esquire

THE days have passed when a man could make one model hat serve for every purpose, and it's more than mere fashion that designs a variety of hats for a well balanced wardrobe. They're different because the different uses for which they are intended have varying requirements. For example, a Homburg hat would not be ideal in the country as it does not shade the eyes as well as a snap brim. Then, too, in case of rain it is liable to collect water on the brim while a snap brim hat will shed it.

The Homburg hat shown in the lower right hand corner of this illustration will be very smart this fall for town wear. There is not much of a possibility of being out in the rain for very long when one is in the city and the necessity of shading the eyes is not as apparent. So, the Homburg hat in gray, black or brown should be reserved for use in the city, where it is appropriate for almost all types of suits.

The latest development in the snap brim hat is the model shown in the center of the picture. This hat has a lower crown and a wider brim than in previous years. The brim is welt edged, and the color in which it is most popular is the new snuff shade. This hat is essentially designed for country wear, but might be worn in town with informal clothing.

In the upper left hand corner of this picture is shown the bowler hat. Popular bowlers nowadays have very low crowns which "bell": that is, they taper in toward the brim. The brim is narrow and quite thick and has a small curl on either side. The bowler hat is correct for all type of town wear but not for evening wear. It also may be worn riding and at horse shows and race meetings in the country.

One of the newest hats is the Cavalier model shown in the left hand corner of the illustration. The Cavalier model is made if lightweight felt and carries a narrow band. It has a low edge and the brim rolls just as much as a Homburg, even more so. This hat is ideal with semi-sports suits in the country, and it can be worn with the brim snapped down, though most men prefer to wear it in the manner shown here. The Cavalier hat has achieved great popularity with sporting men in England, and it makes a good appearance in town with semi-sports suits. It has achieved liberal recognition in this country, and its comfort, its casualness, and its general air of style assures a lasting success.

THE TRAILER GAZETTE

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Here is trailer information for the various states of the Union. We shall start with California.

The motto of California is Eureka. Meaning I have found it. It doesn't explain what they have found—the right road, the can-opener or a good parking spot.

The colors of the University of California are blue and gold. The State is famous for Prof. Milliken, who can crack an atom with either hand.

The people are neighborly provided you keep moving.

The sun shines every day in the year and most of the night.

The leading exports are oranges, motion pictures and bums from othr states. The last commodity does not include trailers if you don't slow down.

The climate is so wonderful that Mae West was married 26 years without knowing it.

The main industry is motion pictures which are made in Hollywood. The best actors are the Barrymores and a mouse.

It is famous for its petrified forest. On second look you discover the petrified forest is eight of your former friends who borrowed money off you when you were a headliner.

Gold was discovered in California in 1849. It may be discovered again at Fort Knox in 1949.

The roads are the finest in the world and a native Californian has invented a trailer you can hitch on another man's car. You might call this thumbing with the kitchen table, parlor and bath.

Up at Sacramento, the State Capital, you can establish legal residence by throwing out an anchor and voting for the right man.

California, like the other 47 states, has many natural resources and gets the others by mail-order catalogue.

Frozen Fruit Salad.

An excellent dessert salad to be served with coffee buffet style or otherwise is made as follows:

Two three-ounce cakes cream cheese.

Two tablespoons lemon juice.

One-third cup mayonnaise.

One-eighth teaspoon salt.

Combine with:

One cup orange pieces.

One-half cup seeded and halved cherries or grapes.

Fold in:

One cup whipping cream, beaten stiff.

Pour into freezing tray, garnishing with orange segments and halves of cherry. Allow to freeze in electrical refrigerator without stirring, setting cold control for freezing. As soon as salad is frozen turn cold control back halfway to hold until serving time. Too long a freezing period gives an icy consistency.

Serves six.

How Child's Speech May Be Impaired

Look for Physicial Defect If Youngster Fails to Talk by Age of 2.

By
Logan Clendening, M. D.

CHILDREN may be unable to speak properly because of physical defects. Impaired hearing is one. A child's articulate speech usually begins at the age of nine months, but parents need not worry if the child does not talk before the age of two years, provided the delay is not due to impaired hearing. After two to two and a half years, however, there is something wrong if the child does not begin to speak.

Sometimes the deficiency is due to defects in the central nervous system, or muscular in-co-ordination of the vocal cords.

A pleasant speaking voice depends upon good hearing and the environment of pleasant speaking voices. As to what is a pleasant voice, we have the votes of a number of college students.

Answering the question: "Are you well satisfied with your speech as it is?" about one-fourth of any group responds "yes" and about three-fourths "no."

"In what way would you like to improve it?" was answered, aside from a small number who stuttered or lisped and naturally wanted to eliminate those faults, by a desire for these qualities: Enunciation, voice and tone quality, slower speech, distinctness, poise, clearness, diction, volume, fluency, lower pitch, pronunciation.

"Do you like to talk?" is generally answered in the affirmative.

THE peculiarities in the voice of others most readily noticed is in the order named: Pronunciation, personality, foreign accent and loudness.

"What can you tell about a person from his speech?" is answered thus by a group of college students: Education, affectation, culture or refinement, where the speaker comes from, character, breeding, environment, training, intelligence, interests, social status, sense of humor, interest in subject, moods, politeness, type, leadership.

"The pleasantest voice you know" has the following characteristics according to different people: Low pitch, clear, soft, well modulated, animated, mellow, vibrant, rich, resonant, expressive, quiet, slow, good enunciation, distinctness, good diction, musical.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

Answer: Sampson Handley, of London, recently wrote as follows:

"The most important of all the problems of breast cancer, and perhaps the one which has received the least attention, is how to prevent the disease. How can the fatal progress from simple lymphstasis to carcinoma be arrested? It is impossible to re-establish the potency of the blocked lymphatic channels, and so to restore the normal environment of the tissues of the breast. But fortunately we can administer to the abnormally stimulated tissues a dose of radiation sufficient to depress without destroying their vitality and proliferative activity.

"In the Practitioner for April, 1910, the reviewer advocated the X-ray treatment of chronic mastitis. It is frequently followed by disappearance of the mastitic induration and by relief of pain. Only a short course of treatment is required, but the radiation should be of high voltage (180,000). Since the introduction of high voltage X-rays, out of some hundreds of cases, I have not observed a single one in which a carcinoma subsequently developed in the radiated breast. It seems a fair inference that we now possess a weapon which, properly employed, is able to prevent breast cancer."

TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE

» by WYNN «

For Friday, Aug. 27.

TILL Monday: added benefits to be had through your best concepts of harmony, love and beauty. Today: strongly constructive all day, chiefly in matter of inner development, society, mental pursuits, inspirations.

A Familiar Error.

It is like so many of the opposites which we harbor within our minds when we say, if we do make this error: "I do not see how man could be affected by the sun and moon—he is only a physical body, like the earth." Of course, this is false logic, for every one sees more to man than his body, we see his mind, and we also see the earth influenced by sun and moon.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead can bring you beneficial new slants and chances for change, if this is your anniversary, but be wise first two months of 1938. Cultivate inferiors. Danger: Dec. [illegible] to Jan. 31; and April 22 to June 8.

Saturday.

ON BROADWAY

By Walter Winchell

The New York Scene.

The First Nighters: Richard Watts Jr., is back from Madrid, and his colleagues who sit on the theater aisles are dusting off their typewriters in preparation for the play season's approach . . . Clifford Odets, who has been assigned to ready two new opuses for the Group Theater, admits to interviewer George Ross that "the movies have taken over the field of entertainment in this country and that the theater has dwindled to a squeak." . . . Odets, however, has returned to it, he explained, because it is "important that the theater be kept alive." . . . Producer James Ullman, who co-offered the Pulitzer medaler, "Men In White," announced that he is quitting the show business because he couldn't make a satisfactory living out of it. . . . He had to decide (he wrote in a letter to the editor) between critics and eating three meals a day, and he chose the latter . . . Mr. U. was so gentle with his belittlers (the critics, he added, ruined all his later shows) that many of us felt perfectly wretched about his retirement from the Brodway cemetery. . . . The best melodrama of the Twenties was "Broadway" . . . Those who saw it at a barn along the rural Rialto the other week-end report that its prohibition theme makes it as dated as "The Old Homestead" . . . When actors complain of how the oppressive heat retards their desire to give a good performance, they are reminded of the national tour of "Trelawney of the Wells" . . . Which completed its route despite the most stifling temperatures on record. The stars were John Drew and Mrs. Whiffen. He was 73—she was 85.

The Press: Walter Duranty is probably the N. Y. Times' best known reporter, and his coverage of the Soviet capital makes him valuable to his sheet. Yet his novel, "One Life, One Kopek," drew one of its most brutal lashings from the Times' reviewer, John Cournas by handle . . . Forrest Davis, one of Manhattan's better scribes before he became a Denver publisher, is clicking in the mags since quitting the Rockies . . . Best sports scoop of the week was Bill Corum's on the raise tilt given to Bill Terry of the Giants . . . Ed Neil's war dispatches from Spain in the Sun rate respectful salutes . . We enjoyed reading about the winner of the title: "Best Rural Correspondent in America." . . . He is "Fin" Petrie, a Wyoming storekeeper, whose jottings out there earned him a visit to New York and a suite in the toney Waldorf-Astoria hotel . . . When a neighbor paper, the Laramie Boomerang, heard of Petrie's award, it headed its piece: "You Can Have Winchell, We'll Keep Petrie" . . . Besides his wage as a reporter, "Fin" does a column for $6 per month.

The Magzeens: Parker Morrell, writing in Cosmopolitan, reveals that Saratoga was settled by Southern aristocrats who came North in August to dodge cholera, malaria and yellow fever . . . John Steinbeck has a story in Harper's that'll break your heart, if any. It is christened "The Promise," and deals with a ranch kid and his horse . . . Damon Runyon debuts some new slanguage (to us) in his Collier's tale, a "Piece of Pie" . . . He submits, "Taps Out" for going broke, and his doll is now a "Judy" . . . The yarn has a number of guffaws in it . . . The photo mags no doubt will be happier when the folks now in the country return to the night clubs. . . . The same faces now figure in all the snapshots made in the joints, which adds to the suspicion that they are part of the wallpaper . . . We blundered the other day and credited Rupert Hughes with a nifty pulled by Irvin S. Cobb . . . Beg pod'n . . . Richard Sherman is back in the Satevepost with "Serenade For a Wealthy Widow." a fascinating article, and almost as good as his renowned "To Mary—With Love."

The Magic Lanterns: Surely Jean Arthur isn't to be lost to the screen because of her current quarrels with producers? . . . Her performance in "Easy Living" ranks with the most natural acting seen in a long time. . . . And she is very pretty, anyway. . . . It was good, too, to learn that Mr. Goldwyn's "Stella Dallas" hung up a money record in New York. . . . Almost $100,000 a week, it appears. . . . We had it reported it was destined for big business when we covered it. . . . "The Life of Emile Zola" is the first prestige picture in a long time to also earn the distinction of making its makers money. . . . "Captains Courageous" — another fine production—wasn't that fortunate at the box offices. . . . "Too many fishes," as one observer put it, "and not enough women." . . . Too bad that "High, Wide and Handsome," always a good story, turned out so slow. . . . "High, Wide and Irksome" better describes it.

The Wireless: Walter O'Keefe's pinch-hitting for Fred Allen is satisfying to these ears, particularly O'Keefe's indifference to a gag that "lays there." . . . Ken Murray manages to hold on to his auditors with some of the dizziest puns. . . . The punnier they are, the lustier the laughter from his studio spectators, too. . . . "The new generation," it was explained to us, "never heard of them—therefore they click." . . . So that's it? . . . Virginia Verrill's rendition of "I Get That Old Feeling" is something that clings to you long after you hear it. . . . The insolence of Edgar Bergen's "Charlie McCarthy" is now this bureau's favorite radio diversion. . . . "Showboat" needs something to lift it out of its current small-time manner. . . . The Shakespearean events on the networks leave me numb. . . . Frances Langford's appeal is one of the saner reasons for having a radio in your shack. . . . Tyrone Power's salary for his first coast-to-coaster will be $4000 per. . . . Ben Pollack's rhythms emanating from Sebastian's at Culver City are toe-ticklish. . . . Hint to sponsors seeking an audience-holder: Ross McLean, whose tones are delightful, at the same place. Seeing talent like his wasted, irks me.

The Proletariat: Freddie Bartholomew is 13 now. . . . There have been only two kid stars that made fortunes. Jackie Coogan and La Temple. . . . In another year Freddie will be gawky, and then what? . . . Jolson lost five pounds pacing the hospital corridors where Ruby is on the mend. . . . The Simone Simon-Gene Markey matter is strictly for laughs. . . . One of the first items Dorothy Lamour tells every interviewer is about the elevator she used to run at a Chicago dep't store. . . . They keep linking Dorothy Mackail with this one and that one, but the heart still is that New York broker. . . . Rumors that Ginger Rogers and Lew Ayres got a secret divorce long ago are denied by intimates, who say the couple have certain reasons for not melting completely. . . . The California community tax statute? . . .

Rhubarb Betty

Two cups cut rhubarb, two cups crumbled fresh bread crumbs, one-fourth cup seeded raisins, one cup sugar, one tablespoon butter. Into a buttered baking dish place one-third of the bread, half the rhubarb and half the raisins and sugar. Sprinkle with another third of the bread, then the remaining ingredients in the above order ending with the remaining bread. Dot liberally with butter, cover baking dish and bake for an hour in a slow oven. Remove lid and cook until lightly browned. Serve hot with hard sauce.

Tomato Sauce

When a particularly rich tomato sauce is desired the following will answer the purpose. Three tablespoons butter, three tablespoons flour, one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon paprika, one cup tomato puree, one-half cup rich brown stock. Melt the butter, add flour and seasonings and then gradually the puree and stock. Stir until boiling and smooth.

Mixed Greens

A very healthful vegetable along the "green" line consists of two parts chopped spinach to one part each of chopped beet tops and chopped broccoli. Cook until all greens are tender, chop finely and combine with a light cream sauce, seasoning with salt, pepper, a little lemon juice and a dash of nutmeg.

Sealing Preserving Jars

One housewife solved this problem by putting a piece of old inner tube in the palm of her hand, wetting the rubber and then with the tube on the jar top, she screws it as tightly as possible. It gives a splendid firm grip and consequently means a tighter top.

If you are fond of the flavor of cloves add a few to the fat when frying doughnuts.

Most Humans Have Little Originality

Writer Asks What Would Become of Average Person if Left All Alone!

By Elsie Robinson

(Copyright, 1937.)

SUPPOSE you were dropped on this earth all alone, without anyone to tell you what to do or what to think—what to like or dislike. What would become of you?

Did you ever happen to ask yourself that question? I'll wager you haven't! If you're like most of us, you consider yourself a "self-made" man or woman . . . and you're pretty well pleased with the job. You're quite sure that you are a "self-starter" . . . and able to make the grade on your own gas.

You are also certain that your tastes and opinions are all your own . . . that you're "able to think for yourself" and don't need anyone to "tell you how to run your own business."

As a matter of fact, unless you are a very rare specimen, there's hardly an original thing about you. You're made, as most of us are, from "beggings and borrowings" . . . this person's mannerism and that person's style. And you'd have the deuce of a time if left to shift for yourself.

Edna St. Vincent Millay—that penetrating poetess who knows our human weakness far too well—has made some extremely frank remarks on this subject in her latest book. I warn you in advance—they're hard to take. But mighty good for what ails us all.

CERTAIN mythical characters are speaking together. . . . Merton, the snobbish stockbroker; Carl, whose opinion of capitalists is peckish, to say the least. Merton has been rooting for his side—decrying "regimented minds." Whereupon Carl busts out thusly:

"You, an individual?—you, you regimented mouse?

"You Harvard Club, Union Club, white tie for the opera, black tie for the theater,

"Why, you're so accustomed to being flanked to right and left by people just like yourself

"That if they ever should step aside you couldn't stand up!"

You couldn't stand up if they should step aside—that's not a flattering thing to think—is it? But it's all too often true—and it's the cause of most of our mortal misery.

Why don't people give us the love and respect which we think is our due? Why don't they admire our opinions, applaud our taste and aid us in our schemes? Because they regard us as phonies! We're not the real goods. . . . We're synthetic substitutes and bum copies. We sound swell but we lack the ring of authority. And a sham is always bad medicine—both for himself and the fellow who depends upon him.

IF YOU Ask My Opinion

By Martha Carr

Dear Mrs. Carr:

YOU have helped us so many times before, I am again coming to you. Through your column about two years ago, one of my boys who is now 13 years old, got a nice place in the country. He stayed there for about one year (of course, visiting us once in a while). He had to come home because of the ill health of the mother in the home. He has been begging me ever since to write you. He loves the country and country school as it seems he gets along better there.

I am a widow and the mother of seven nice children—five boys and two girls. I am not able to give them very much in life as I have to work to help support them, so if any of your readers know of a good home in the country where my boy could be treated as one of the family and be sent to school, in exchange for light work on a farm, we would appreciate hearing from them. I am sure he would try very hard to please and it would make him very happy. Of course, we could exchange references and I would not like to have him very far from St. Louis. As school time is very near, we would appreciate hearing from you as soon as possible.

We wish you the best of luck and again thank you for kindness and help already shown us.

L. R. AND FAMILY.

Deaf Martha Carr:

TWO years ago I asked you for help and received it and want to thank you again. Now, my mother is down with fever and we really are in need of gowns and linens. If some of your readers had them to spare, Mrs. Carr, it won't matter if they are worn as they will be a change. You know this fever lasts so long. I have already sent you references.

Dear Miss Carr:

HAVE been reading your column for some time and now I would like some advice, too, about a wedding the last week of September. The bride and her attendants are wearing velvet gowns. What flower do you think would be most appropriate for this occasion — roses or chrysanthemums? Where does the matron of honor come in the procession?

ANXIOUS.

If your gowns are to be in the darker fall shades, then I think the chrysanthemums would be lovely —if you are carrying your flowers. Otherwise, the roses would be all right. The matron of honor follows the bridesmaids.

Dear Martha Carr:

I AM a girl 15 years old and know a boy who is about 18. We have known each other for some time but have never had a date. Once he said something to me that I thought was insulting. Since then we have never spoken to each other. My sister tells me I am wrong to be so offended. I would like to be friends with him again but do not know what to do. Can you advise me?

KAREN.

The only thing for you to do is speak to the boy. Tell him you are sorry there has been a misunderstanding and that if you have done anything to hurt him you want to apologize. He probably is just as anxious to be friendly as you and is only waiting for a chance.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

IN answer to the lady troubled with fleas in the basement of her house, I will say that if she goes to the drug store and asks for a flea remedy, they have all kinds for 25 cents a box and some for only 10 cents.

A READER.

Another reader has advised that she got rid of fleas by sprinkling a lavish supply of very coarse salt around the basement.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

IS THERE any reason why one person should hold two jobs virtually the year round? The person in question has very little expense—yet holds two jobs, and has an income from another source besides. I would like to know if it would be unjust to apply for one of these positions. It is my opinion that when one person has more than one job, he is depriving another of a livelihood. Am I correct?

In applying for this employment, the applicant would, quite likely, lose the greedy one's friendship—but then no one can live from friendship. I was to get one of the jobs many years ago, but it was given to this person before I even knew it was open. Would it be advisable to inform one or both of the employers of this fellow's unfair practice? And would they do anything about it? I shall be very grateful if you will tell me what steps to take, and closing with thanks in advance,

SOUTH BROADWAY.

There is no way I can tell what the two employers you refer to Letters intended for this column must be addressed to Martha Carr at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Carr will answer all questions of general interest but, of course, cannot give advice on matters of a purely legal or medical nature. Those who do not care to have their letters published may enclose an addressed and stamped envelope for personal reply.

I was to get one of the jobs many years ago, but it was given to this person before I even knew it was open. Would it be advisable to inform one or both of the employers of this fellow's unfair practice? And would they do anything about it? I shall be very grateful if you will tell me what steps to take, and closing with thanks in advance,

SOUTH BROADWAY.

There is no way I can tell what the two employers you refer to would do if they were informed that your friend is holding two jobs at the same time. As for the advisability of your taking this responsibility upon yourself and thereby risking the loss of a friend, that is a matter that is entirely up to you. Are you absolutely sure that your friend does not need the money he earns from both positions?

Those who do not care to have their letters published may enclose an addressed and stamped envelope for personal reply.

My dear Mrs. Carr:

WILL you please answer these questions for me? In a double ring ceremony who buys the bridegroom's ring? If a wedding takes place outside one's home town, should the name of the church and of the town be included on the announcement? I have heard that olive oil can be used to cleanse the face. How is this done?

A DAILY READER.

The bride buys the ring for the bridegroom, just as he buys hers. It is best to include the name of the church and town as well as the date of the wedding on the announcements. Olive oil is simply applied with a little cotton or a soft cloth and removed with some astringent.

Dear Martha Carr:

I WROTE you about a week ago asking advice about how I could get an artificial leg or help of some kind and you asked for references. I am now giving them to you. I have lived in St. Louis since 1913 and surely will appreciate any help you can give me.

Family Fun to Promote Peace In the Home

Games and Music Help Preserve Harmony Between Parents and Children.

By Angelo Patri

THERE are bound to be quarrels in a family of any size. When children have nothing else to do in the evening they fill the time with a hearty fight. That does no good to the family spirit. The time might better be used in having a little family fun.

A family orchestra is one of the finest arrangements for family harmony and general good times that can be found. Singing to the accompaniment of a well-played instrument will soothe the angry beat in the most turbulent breast. And playing together dissolves all difficulties.

Of course the violinist can berate the cellist for a sour note, and everybody can blame the pianist for whatever hurts him most, but the extra grievance is played out in a final burst of harmony and good will. By all means have a family orchestra if there is even one among you who can play a tune. Pianos are so cheap these days that everybody can have one. And an orchestra can be built around it without half trying.

Playing games is the next best way to maintain peace and promote the general welfare. They may not promote the general peace, but they certainly will prevent the boredom that brings on battle. There are as many kinds of games as there are people to play them. The old ones are just as good as ever, better even, when compared with some of the new ones like Hunting the Slipper in the Dark. Keep the lights on and play the games with the whole family in on them.

Parents' Magazine published a little book that I thought just the thing for a family who needed to get together, as what family does not? In this book, "Family Fun," you will find about every game that ever was played. Parlor games, group games, games for two, indoor and outdoor, for any and every occasion. That book ought to be handy. Opening it will bring a suggestion for a good time.

CHILDREN need to play games together. When the Old Man in one rises and he makes a new law to cover his particular case and so allows himself to win, instead of a pitched battle with loud cries for Mo-ther, the rules are applied. What the book says goes. The impersonal rule keeps a firm hand over the proceedings and discipline is maintained. There is no finer discipline than that gained by adherence to the rules of good sportsmanship.

There is always a child who wants to break the rules. He is the one who needs them most and he should be held to them. The rule is "what the book says;" is his only satisfaction as far as the others are concerned, and in time, when he learns that the rule applies to all, that he gets a fairer chance that way, he accepts it.

Try having family fun. Everybody in the game. There is always one night, or there ought to be, when the whole family, father and mother and the Grans, are at home. Get together and play. Have some fun. Laugh together. There's nothing like it for restoring family tone. Nothing like it for creating and maintaining family unity.

SHE DIDN'T WANT TO BE AN ACTRESS

Frances Drake Scoffed at Dramatics During School Days but Fate Shoved Her Into the Movies—She's a Descendant of the Pirate, Sir Henry Morgan.

By H. H. NIEMEYER

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Aug. 26.

MOST Hollywood movie actresses can spin yarns about the hardships they suffered in their early screen days—about how they fought and struggled to get to the top. But not Frances Drake. When she starts chattering about her movie career, the talk centers around one merry accident after another that has shoved her to screen fame.

It's a story of how some goddess of fate took a fleeting glance at the dark-haired, dark-eyed girl and decided that she was too frolicsome a young woman with too few worries. The goddess mixed up some coincidences that would rival fiction, and out walked a bit of pulchritude to add to the glamor of the movies.

Frances Drake didn't want to become an actress. She scoffed at dramatics during her school days. She was literally forced on the stage.

Once on the stage, she was satisfied with life when along came fate to shove her bodily into motion pictures.

"I'm just like 'Grand Hotel,'" said Frances. "Nothing ever happens to me—much."

Even in motion pictures, good luck keeps cutting off the brambles for her. Under contract to Twentieth Century-Fox films, studio executives have been casting her for more and more important roles. Then "Love Under Fire" came along, a picture that the studio considers as one of its outstanding films of the year, and she was chosen for one of the leading roles along with Loretta Young and Don Ameche.

"I must have picked a four-leaf clover early in life," she remarked. "Life is always tumbling good things into my lap—and don't think that I take it all with a wave of my hand. I think I appreciate everything that comes my way just as deeply as though I had fought for it, perhaps because I realize how fortunate I have been."

That's where Frances Drake differs from many people who are born to gold and gayety. She sees the somber side of life, too, and, what is more, she herself tries to play the goddess of fate to those about her. She is always talking about some young artist or writer or inventor whom she is encouraging, often in a financial way, to reach the top.

When she does make a "talent discovery," as she likes to phrase it, she glows with more happiness than when she is cast for a role she likes. But woe to any publicity writer who dares to mention specifically her assistance to any "discovery." She plays the good luck role because she enjoys it, and not because she hopes to gain anything by it personally.

Although she was born in New York, Frances Drake is more English than she is American. Because her father had mining interests in Canada, she went with her parents to Toronto. She was sent to England for the later years of her education, and after completing courses at a finishing school in that country, she went to London to live.

That's when fate stepped in and started guiding her course.

Ever since she was a child, she has liked to dance, and in London she danced her way over many a ballroom floor. One afternoon at a tea, she danced with a young English actor, Gordon Wallace, who was captivated by her darksome beauty, her long, bewitching eyelashes, and by the grace with which she glided over the floor.

"We ought to dance together on the stage," he remarked. She laughed and poked fun at the idea.

Unknown to her, Wallace arranged that a British impresario should watch them dance together when he escorted her to a social function a few days later. The theatrical producer was so impressed that he offered both of them a contract. Frances refused, and refused again, but at last, more because she wanted to be a good sport and not keep Wallace from a lucrative contract, she accepted.

Frances Drake was then launched on a stage career, although she never thought for a minute that here was a vocation to follow.

"I kept thinking from day to day that I would quit the stage," she said. "Not because I didn't like it but because I thought it was so ridiculously funny that I should be dancing and acting before a public."

From dancing with Wallace in musical comedy revues, she gradually moved into straight acting roles.

"My first dramatic role came in 'Little Earthquake'," she recalled. "Here I was, an American, and cast for the role of a cockney maid. I had lived in Canada and England long enough, of course, to have some conception of the accent, but it wasn't without some trembling that I began to master the part."

"Little Earthquake" definitely established her. The English critics not only praised her acting ability but they wrote reams about her slender, willowy beauty of form and the expressiveness of her dark, gray eyes.

ATTRACTED by the praise, British film producers sought her for a movie contract. She was hesitant. "I was happy on the stage," she said. "I didn't want to leave the theater, and I told the producers just that.

"One of them took me out one day to look at a movie set. That man was a genius as a psychologist. He knew that the excitement of making movies would appeal to me. I gradually became intrigued with the thought of seeing myself on the screen.

"Still, I was doubtful and wasn't convinced until I figured out how I could make one picture and then return to the stage."

The film, "The Jewel," was seen by an American director, Paul Stein, who was visiting in London. Without telling her, he quietly gathered test films of the young brunette and sent them to New York. Shortly after, her agent received a cable telling him to sign Frances Drake at once for an important role in "Bolero" with George Raft and Carole Lombard at Paramount.

"The thought that it would be exciting to go to Hollywood and make a movie was what started me packing my bags," she said. "I never dreamed that I would remain in the United States. I thought it would be one picture and then back to London I would go."

HOLLYWOOD had other ideas, though, and the studios tempted her with one offer after another. At last along came a part in "Les Miserables." After seeing the picture, Darryl F. Zanuck at Twentieth Century-Fox, offered her a long-term contract, believing that she had the material of which movie stars are made. Since that time each of her roles has become larger until in "Love Under Fire" she was given one of her strongest dramatic opportunities, playing the part of a mysterious, frightened girl who offers contrast to the comedy of Loretta Young and Don Ameche.

"It's the excitement that I like about Hollywood," she confessed. "Something is always happening on the movie sets. I guess I must have inherited some of my love of adventure from Sir Henry Morgan. I am a lineal descendant of the old pirate.

"Not that I have ever wanted to be a pirate, even in a small way, but I do hate routine. As long as Hollywood keeps providing thrills for me, and wants me, I am going to stay here. But, movies or no movies, though, if it gets too dull, I am going back to London."

Horseback riding appeals to the little actress, as does walking, but when it comes to other sports, she is just an interested watcher. Two of her vital interests in life consist of Bill, who happens to be a Pekinese, and Jonathan, who is a cat.

She still likes to dance better than almost anything else, and she continues to study singing, although Hollywood never has given her a role with either singing or dancing as an important part of the characterization.

As clever as she is before the camera, is she as a designer of beautiful gowns. She designs most of those that she wears. One of her favorite stories is about the time she created a gown for Princess Ingrid of Sweden, whom she knew in London and who was particularly upset at the time because she couldn't find anything she thought becoming. Frances took it on herself to fashion one and send it to the Princess anonymously. Not until the Princess wore it to a reception did she disclose that she had made it.

Celebration of Two Birthdays At One Party

Cake for Each Child, One at Either End of the Table Would Be Nice.

By Emily Post

Dear Mrs. Post:

I HAVE a little girl who will be 6 years old soon, and a little boy who will be 5 a week later. As their birthdays are so near together I would like to give a party for both on the same day. But what date would be best? I am not exactly sure what I should do about their birthday cakes? Should I have a cake for each?

Answer: I think it would be very nice to give the party on the later date. Have a pair of birthday cakes, one at either end of the table. Or if you are not having the children sit at the dining table, you could put the cakes side by side on a small table. They would of course play games and then each child would have a small piece of each cake and some ice cream.

Dear Mrs. Post: My son and his new wife will soon return from their wedding trip, and as she is a stranger here we would like to give a party for her. An afternoon tea would be the best type of party to entertain more than a hundred people but so many of our friends are apt to find it inconvenient to stop by after a hot day in their offices, and as so many of them go away week-ends, that an afternoon party then would not do either. But could an evening party be equally simple, with people coming and going and the atmosphere friendly? And what do you suggest for the invitations?

Answer: Certainly. A simple evening at home is exactly the same as an afternoon tea except that the invitation is for early evening instead of later afternoon. Usually you write on your visiting card, "To meet Mr. and Mrs. Henry Smith Jr." and below your name in the left-hand corner, "Tuesday evening, Sept. 10, 8 to 10 o'clock. Or if you want to make the party more important you can of course have the cards engraved:

Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Smith and
Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Smith Jr. will be at home
on Tuesday evenng, September 10
from 8 to 10 o'clock

Dear Mrs. Post: My grandparents are strangers to most of our friends and I'm wondering what special recognition we can give them at my wedding reception.

Answer: It will be best that they receive with your mother, or at least stand or sit near enough to where she is receiving to make it easily possible for her to introduce all the special friends of the family to them. And it should also be your father's duty and that of other members of the family to see that they are not neglected and alone.

The world's record for eating hamburger, so far as we have been able to find out, was completely shattered the other day by George Millard who stowed away nine in less time than it takes to tell it. George and Pete Minor strolled into the Lamar drug store and ordered nine apiece. George walked out looking chipper, but Pete only got away with seven. George remarked if there was a bet up he could stow away three more. That, neighbors, is stowing away hamburgers.

NURSE -:- -:- Serial of a Girl Who Finds True Love -:- -: By KATHERINE CARSON

CHAPTER NINE.

"ONCE you have your cap, you are eligible for night duty," said Bert, as they dressed in the cold gray dawn of the next morning. "I can hardly wait."

"I'd be afraid of it," answered Maida, decisively. "Too much responsibility."

"Oh, they usually put the new ones on the 2:30 to 11 shift, and then you have someone with you most of the time. They have lots of fun. The internes come around after the evening nourishment is passed, and they have regular parties in the diet kitchens."

The girls straggled into the dining room, ate the coffee and sweet rolls and hurried for a peep at the bulletin.

"Back on colored," said Bert briefly. "But look here, Connell, you're to go on night duty. What a shame you had to get up and put on your uniform."

Maida pressed closed to the bulletin board; there it was, she was shifted to night duty on pavilion, and it was the 11 to 7, when she would be alone on the floor. She felt a little panicky at the thought of it, and partly to get her mind off the trial ahead of her, partly to exhibit her new cap, she made the trip across town to see her mother, the cap in a box under her arm.

Mrs. Connell tried politely to admire the cap and share Maida's pride in it, but it was apparent that the admiration was forced, and she soon gave up the pretense, and said frankly that she thought it a pity they could not have something prettier and less like a maid's cap.

"Are you feeling the heat much, Mother? I suppose there isn't much going on socially, and you can get a lot of rest."

"Oh yes, I am very comfortable; but Maida, you are quite wrong to think there is no social life in summer. Very informal it is, and of course many families are away for a part of the summer, but the young people are always on the go."

Mrs. Connell affected to sigh, but the sparkle of her eyes betrayed her as she told of Stanley's popularity.

"You wouldn't believe it if I told you the girls that call him up. I tell him he hardly has a chance to eat his breakfast for the phone calls. He's away now. Gone to the lake with Norine's family," added Mrs. Connell, with a significant nod of the head.

"Oh, I was wondering how that was coming on. Is he making progress there?"

Mrs. Connell put on the dignified air with which she subtly rebuked Maida for any attitude of levity toward Stanley.

"He pays her a great deal of attention. Further than that, I can not say."

"How do you like her, Mother?" asked Maida, naturally curious about the girl for whose sake Stanley had snubbed her.

Mrs. Connell said non-committally that Norine seemed sweet and pretty, but the fact that her mother did not launch into superlatives gave rise to a suspicion in Maida's mind that Stanley's Norine was probably impossible.

Maida went back to the hospital early in the afternoon and tried to get some sleep in preparation for her night's work, but sleep was almost impossible in the cement cubicle on Paradise Alley. Someone was always coming off duty with a shout, calling to girls in the other rooms as she entered the corridor. Even the girls who were presumably resting, gathered in each other's rooms and their talk was punctuated by giggles and songs. Maida could not foresee the time, although it was not far distant, when she could ever sleep through the bustle of a corridor full of girls making frantic efforts to get down for 6:30 breakfast. In spite of her failure to get any rest, she was wide awake when she reported for duty at 11.

"Nothing much doing tonight," said the girl Maida was relieving. "It's very quiet on the floor. Only one fresh post-operative, and he is sleeping. Twelve and 28 go up for tonsillectomies in the morning. Anything good for supper?" And she went off blithely to the dining room.

MAIDA made her rounds, looked over the order book, and settled herself at the desk with nothing to do but watch for lights. The night supervisor came by and told Maida that she was not to worry. Then Maida was alone, sitting forlorn in the little gleam of the light on the desk, the silence of the night unbroken save for an occasional snore from No. 32.

She began to get sleepy in spite of herself, and slipping into the diet kitchen, she made herself a cup of black coffee, hoping fervently that the supervisor would not come back and smell it. Thirty-two demanded a blanket. In this weather, thought Maida scornfully; and one of the tonsillectomies awoke and cried briefly for his mother. Having something to do had driven away Maida's sleepiness, and as the night wore on without further incident, she began to feel that she would get through her first night duty without mishap. Then the telephone on the desk whirred.

"Prepare a room at once for an emergency," said a curt voice. It did not sound like the night supervisor; perhaps she was already on her way to offer help.

Maida tried frantically to remember what she must do. She made up a shock bed, with blankets and hot-water bottles, she boiled a hypodermic needle and set it out in a sterile towel on the bedside table, she even got a restraining jacket and placed it handy, as she had no idea what the case might be. Thirty-two waked again and wanted a drink.

"What's going on next door?" he asked curiously.

Maida evaded his questions as best she could and hurried back to the desk. Yes, there was a strecher coming, wheeled by Retta Cook. It seemed a little odd that she should be the only one with the patient, but Maida was so new to night duty that she thought the procedure might be different than it was in day time.

The patient was groaning; his moans were not loud, yet he seemed to be in terrible pain. His head was bandaged, but there was already a horrible red seeping through the wrappings, and his face and even his blankets were gory.

Maida's heart stopped for a second, then raced madly. If only the supervisor or one of the internes would show up! What if the man should die while she was alone with him!

The two girls wheeled the stretcher beside the bed.

"Oh, don't leave me," begged Maida. 'Stay until someone from the office comes."

"Not me. He may go out any minute."

Carefully they eased the dreadful figure onto the bed and pulled up the blankets. Then for the first time Maida really looked at him. In spite of the bandages, in spite of the red that stained his face, she knew him. It was Johnnie, her old friend, endeared to her by years of childish friendship.

"Johnnie!" she screamed. "Dying! Oh, why didn't you tell me?"

And then, to her utter shame and embarrassment, she fainted. When she came to, Cookie was nowhere to be seen, and the gory figure of Johnnie himself was bending over her, his bandage askew above his anxious face. In her consternation Maida opened her mouth for another scream and Johnnie promptly put his hands over it.

"Shut up, you little nut," he hissed at her.

Into her dazed mind was beginning to creep the realization that this dying man was astonishingly vigorous.

"I'm awfully sorry, Maida," he went on. "I never would have done it if I had known it was you."

"What do you mean? How did you hurt yourself so terribly, Johnnie?"

"Don't you tumble yet? It was only a joke. Cookie is on night duty over on metabolism and she suggested it. Told me the dumbest probe in the hospital was on her first night duty here and she thought it would be fun to scare her."

"But the blood, and the bandages—I'll never forget how I felt when I saw it was you and thought you were dying."

"Mercurochrome and catsup," explained Johnnie briefly. "Maida, I swear I never would have done it if I had known you were the one Cookie said was the dumbest probe in the hospital. Darn her, anyhow! She knows you're a friend of mine. I can't figure out why she would want to pull such a stunt."

JOHNNIE was rapidly pulling off the soiled bandages, rolling up the blankets and putting himself in some sort of order. Maida watched his honest perplexity, thinking meanwhile that she could make a shrewd guess as to why Retta Cook had made a fool of her by the elaborate hoax. It was partly a malicious sense of mischief, for she was noted for hazing the younger nurses, but largely it must have been inspired by jealousy. Maida had had no difficulty in seeing, the night they had gone riding together, that Cookie wished to consider Johnnie her property, and she had probably felt her supremacy menaced by Maida, not crediting the fact that their friendship was friendship, pure and simple. She hestitated to tell Johnnie her suspicions; this escapade would doubtless disgust him with Retta Cook, but from an impulse of sex loyalty Maida did not care to have anything to do with bringing about the break.

"Stick these dirty bedclothes in the hamper and clean up the best you can," advised Johnnie. "I've got to scram before anyone walks in on the party."

The supervisor did not come by until an hour later, and by that time all was in order and Maida restored to composure.

By the time Maida had breakfast and had gone back to Paradise Alley, it was still and deserted, and she tumbled into bed, hoping for a few hours of uninterrupted sleep. She got up at 3, and after bathing and dressing, thought she would go out for a walk and get something to eat. She decided to wait until 3:30, hoping that Bert would have afternoon hours, but before that time Maida was summoned to the training school office.

"What now?" she thought, with the trepidation that always assailed her when she was summoned to the office. She did not think the episode of the previous night could very well have been discovered, as the room had looked as usual before the day nurses came on duty, yet there was really nothing else.

"What was the disturbance in Room 30 last night, Miss Connell?" she was greeted by Miss Burns. "The patient in 32 has been insisting there was a patient admitted during the night, and telling of groans and screams which disturbed his rest."

Maida flushed and answered confusedly, "There was no one admitted last night."

"I know that, Miss Connell," said Miss Burns sharply. "Just what did go on the first night you were intrusted with the responsibility of a floor? You have disturbed and alarmed the patients and you may find you have got yourself into serious trouble."

There was no use trying to conceal anything from Miss Burns. She evidently suspected the worst. If Maida did not wish to be considered guilty of moral turpitude, she had better admit to gullibility.

"I received a phone call to prepare for an emergency patient, and as he was fixed up rather artistically, I am afraid I was silly enough to faint," said Maida with a rueful smile.

"This is no laughing matter. Who brought in this patient? Was it one of the nurses?"

"He was brought in on a stretcher. It was only a joke, Miss Burns, and I was stupid to be taken in. I am sorry it happened, and I did not know the patients were annoyed."

"Who were the perpetrators of this little joke?"

"I would rather not say, Miss Burns."

"You must say, for your own sake. How can I take your word for what happened if you have no proof to support it?"

Maida drew herself up haughtily. "If you cannot take my word I am sorry, but I refuse to make myself a tale bearer for my own protection."

"You may have tonight to think it over. Please bear in mind that if the matter is not cleared up, it may result in the loss of your cap."

How Thinking Affects Our Views on Life

By The Rev. J. F. Newton

RICHARD MANSFIELD, the actor, suffered a breakdown when he was playing "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde." He acted a double personality until at last it tore his personality in two.

Sir Henry Irving died of heart failure a few hours after playing the part of Matthias, in "The Bells," a terrible drama in which he died of heart failure, slowly and painfully.

"Every time he heard the sound of bells," says Ellen Terry, "he used to turn quite white—there was no trick about it. His eyes would disappear upward, his face grow gray, his limbs cold."

No wonder his doctors had forbidden him to enact the part. So intensely did he imagine death that he died, exactly as he had pictured Matthias dying only a few hours before.

If there is such power in concentrated thinking about disease and death, by the same law there is equal power in persistent thinking about health, happiness, and success.

Let a man think he is a failure and he will be a failure. Let him think of himself as weak, incompetent, unworthy, poor, and it will show in the squint of his eye and the hang of his coat.

The very drag of his feet will testify to this estimate of himself, and people who meet him will take him at his own estimate. Fear, inferiority, defeat will be written in his face.

In the same way, let a man think of himself as worth while, as a person of power and purpose; let him go to bed with that thought and get up with it; and it will show in his gait.

It is not silly self-conceit, much less a foolish kind of self-kidding, but a right attitude toward life. If he makes that way of thinking a habit, he can overcome fear, dismay, defeat.

In other words, a man can direct his own life, and the way to do it is to direct his thinking, and to hold that direction in spite of all temptation to let it go, let down and give up.

CAUGHT THE SAME FISH AT THE SAME TIME

The Shilluks of Central Africa are intriguing because of their extreme body heights and extra-slender physiques. None are less than 7 feet tall. They stand on one leg, with the other foot on the knee, leaning slightly on the long sharp lance each one carried. They find this the most restful position they can assume, and always rest standing up on one leg. They have been known to sleep in this position, either day or night.

In November 1930, a freak tornado hit the town of Bethany, Oklahoma, leaving in its path of destruction one of the strangest pranks of a storm ever known. It twisted the limbs of a tree so tightly into a spiral shape that an auto tire caught on the top and slid down over the trunk to the ground, leaving both the tree and tire undamaged. The tree in its normal state measured a little over 15 feet in diameter.

BUTTERFINGERS

Five tablespoons sugar.
One teaspoon vanilla.
Two cups flour.
One tablespoon water.
One cup nuts, chopped.

Cream shortening and sugar. Add vanilla. Add flour gradually and beat after each addition. Add water and nut meats of any preferred kind (we like black walnuts). Shape into oblong cookies about the size of a finger, or a little larger. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees Fahrenheit) 15 or 20 minutes. When cool, roll each cookie in granulated sugar. This recipe makes about three dozen cookies.

Crabapple Jelly

Four quarts water.
Granulated sugar.

Wash apples. Cut in quarters. (Do not peel.) Remove any decayed portions. Add water. Cover and let simmer until apples are very soft. (About 20 minutes.) Pour into jelly bag and drain thoroughly. Measure the juice. For each cup of juice measure out one cup of sugar. Boil the juice one minute. Add sugar and boil gently until a small portion congeals when tested on a cold plate. Pour into sterilized jars and seal when cold.

Washing the Girdle

These warm days the girdle must have many washings if milady wishes to keep dainty and sweet-smelling. Make a lukewarm suds and immerse the girdle. Do not let it soak in the water on account of weakening any elastic that may be on it. Scrub vigorously with a hand brush, going over all parts of the garment. Rinse thoroughly in tepid water and hang in a sunny, windy place to dry, turning the garment occasionally so that it dries quickly.

Bermuda Is Real Paradise for Dogs

By Albert Payson Terhune

EXCEPT for a few slow-moving Government trucks, there are no motor vehicles in Bermuda. The average horse-driven carriages or wagon moves at leisurely pace. Therefore, Bermuda is a paradise for dogs.

Last spring, I was jogging along a shady country road, there. Across the middle of the highway sprawled a gigantic Newfoundland dog. Forgetting where I was, I waxed sick with anger—as many a time before—at a sight too common in the United States. Judging by past observation, I could visualize how this majestic dog had been smitten lifeless by some whizzing car as he was pacing in stately fashion from one side of the white road to the other.

Then, as we came alongside, the Newfoundland opened one drowsy eye and wagged his plumed tail in sleepy greeting to us; and went back to his slumbers. This, before I remembered I was in one of the too-few places on earth where a dog is immune to motor-death.

How long would a dog in America be allowed to take a nap, unmolested, in the middle of a much-traveled thoroughfare? What chance would he have of waking again, without a broken back? For dogs there are a million worse conditions than "the horse-and-buggy days."

Rubber Overshoes

The life of rubber overshoes will be greatly prolonged if a little glycerine is rubbed over them occasionally, especially if the rubbers are to be stored for a length of time.

Shopping

Unquestionably the housewife who goes out to do her marketing has a more varied table than the one who does hers entirely by telephone, as she sees things that are in market that perhaps the other woman does not know or realize have arrived. But the woman who is very busy in her own home and who does not really have time to do extensive shopping can be informed these days by means of newspaper and radio as to prices of the things in market and can really do a fine job of marketing by using her intelligence and save that valuable time for important things at home.

Scrambled Eggs With Clams

Saute one tablespoon minced onion and three tablespoons butter until lightly browned. Add one cup chopped tender clams and cook for just a few minutes. Add six well-beaten eggs that have been seasoned with one teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper and one tablespoon minced parsley. Cook as you would plain scrambled eggs and serve on slices of hot toast.

It is a mixing gin, we think, when you neither smell nor taste it in the finished drink

TO HIT JUST THE RIGHT SPOT in a smooth Tom Collins, gin must blend its strength with the other flavors—give lemon and soda a chance to do their part—never knock them down with a heavy gin smell or gin taste.

Mixed drinks are an American idea. To meet the American taste for smooth mixed drinks, Fleischmann's Gin is distilled especially for mixing—from American grain.

BEAUTIFUL NAPLES

By Bruno Lessing

NAPLES, Aug. 26.

THE Roma is alongside the swellest landing stage I ever beheld. Compared to it, the docks of New York, San Francisco and London look cheap and untidy. It is nearly half a mile in length, built all of dazzling white stone, in keeping with the color scheme of the city and is surmounted by a series of stately halls all lined with marble. Three of the world's biggest ships could tie up comfortably on one side with lots of space between the bow of one and the stern of another.

It was completed last October. I do not know the first thing about its history. But I'm willing to bet that Mussolini just said, "Let's build a new dock and while we're about it make it the biggest and best in the world." Whether you approve of Mussolini or not you are impressed, here in Italy, with the fact that he gets big things done—and promptly.

Aside from a few modern improvements—mostly in the building lines—it is the same old Naples. A white city on a hillside with one of the most beautiful harbors in the world. Vesuvius stands close by—it was smoking today—and you can see Capri and Sorrento across the bay. In half an hour you can reach Pompeii. I do not know how others rate the wonders of the world, but to me Pompeii has always been first.

"See Naples and die," runs the old saying. On the other hand, if you have any urgent business to transact here between noon and 3 p. m. you would save yourself a tremendous amount of irritation by dying first. During those hours Naples eats and sleeps. At 2 p. m. I drifted into the writing room of a hotel and saw three men and one woman seated at tables, fast asleep. It being too hot to wander out into the streets, I selected a comfortable sofa and followed their example. In Rome, Tokio, Singapore, Lisbon, Paris—everywhere, in fact, I always do as the Neapolitans do. When it's hot and I feel sleepy, I sleep.

Having seen all the sights of Naples about 30 times, I took it easy today. Just sat gaping at the panorama of the city. Its beauty is actually overpowering. Whenever I go to Sorrento and see Capri I'm sorry that I didn't go to Capri. And vice versa. From the slope of Vesuvius—in an automobile, of course—I enjoy the multitudinous shades of green—living colors that sparkle and keep constantly changing from one hue to another—on the surface of the bay. And when I'm out in a boat—I used to fish in this bay—I enjoy the spectacle of Vesuvius.

HAVING only one day ashore here and not being able to take in everything, I decided to take in nothing, but just sit and contemplate and think. I wished that young Keats could have been with me. He wrote "A thing of beauty is a joy forever." I would have loved to discuss Naples with him. I'm afraid, though, that he wouldn't even have been aware of my presence. He would have been like a squirrel in a circular cage. So I say unto all the world, please do not die until you have seen Naples.

And every time my gaze returned to Vesuvius and I saw that huge volume of smoke rising from its crater I lit another cigarette. If I ever give up smoking I'm going to keep away from Naples.

The greatest feast for the eyes here is Pompeii. A favorite resort of the Romans who built magnificent villas, theaters, baths and many public buildings, all in the highest type of classic architecture. It was all buried in the year 79 by a flood of lava spouted up by Vesuvius. And yet, today, you can see exactly what the place looked like 20 centuries ago. The sight brings those ancient Romans to life more clearly than does any page of written history.

The greatest feast for the mind is the thought that, on a hillside of Naples, Virgil lies buried. He has been called "the purest-minded poet of all ages." He ranks high among the greatest minds of which we have any record.

"Facilis descensus Averno," he wrote, 2000 years ago. The descent to Lake Avernus which, in his day, was supposed to be the gateway to hell, is easy. The gate, he goes on, is open night and day. But, "to retrace one's steps and escape to the upper air, this indeed is a task; this indeed is a toil."

Wherein, with a few words, and in the simplest way, he condenses all the experience of mankind and paints the whole picture of yielding to or resisting temptation. In all of Virgil's poems and epics there is great beauty of thought and much philosophy. But if all mankind were to study Latin in order to grasp that single passage and profit by it—the force and majesty of it are enfeebled by translation—the effort would be worth while.

If the family is fond of onions, they will enjoy roasted ones. The next time you roast beef put a dozen or so small onions in with the roast. They get deliciously brown and add so much to the flavor of the gravy.

Old-Fashioned Chili Sauce

Twenty-four large ripe tomatoes.
Eight large green peppers.
Four red peppers.
Four cups chopped onions.
Four cups chopped celery.
One-half cup salt.
Two-thirds cup granulated sugar.
Two tablespoons cinnamon.
Three tablespoons white mustard seed.
Four cups vinegar.
One cup water.
Half teaspoon pepper.

Peel and chop tomatoes. Cut peppers into halves. (Discard seeds and pulp.) Chop peppers. Drain tomatoes and add all the rest of the ingredients. Allow to boil slowly for about one hour or until the sauce thickens. Pour into sterilized jars or bottles and seal immediately.

Dandelion Plants

If you have difficulty keeping dandelion plants out of your lawn, try punching the center of each plant with the ice pick and pouring a few drops of gasoline in the heart of the weed. You will soon discourage further growth and new plants.

Make your next set of pot holders round instead of square. You will keep them clean longer as there are no corners to dip into the gravy, batter, etc.

Meat Cakes

One and one-half pounds top of sirloin ground, three tablespoons butter, one finely chopped onion, two well-beaten eggs, one tablespoon minced parsley, one-fourth pound grated cheese, one cup crumbled bread crumbs, salt, pepper. Cook onions in butter until lightly browned. Then combine all together, mixing well. Form into smalil cakes, dip in flour and fry in hot drippings until nicely browned. Garnish with strips of crisp bacon and sprigs of watercress.

Onion Sauce

Delicious over the flaked leftover fish or crisply fried egg plant. Cook a finely chopped Bermuda onion in three tablespoons butter for four minutes, stirring constantly. Add two tablespoons flour and blend. Add gradually one cup milk. Bring to boiling point and then add one beaten egg yolk, salt and a little cayenne. Let simmer for a few minutes and then serve.

Blueberry Tarts

Wash and pick over berries. Stew in very little water until the fruit breaks, then sweeten and cool. When cold turn into pastry shells with a top of puff paste. Brush over with beaten egg and return to oven long enough to glaze, about three minutes. Serve cold.

ANDREW MELLON DIES; FUNERAL IN PITTSBURGH AT 2:30 TOMORROW

ONE OF COUNTRY'S WEALTHIEST MEN

Latest Occupation Was With Art Gallery He Planned to House Collection of Pictures He Gave to the Public.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SOUTHAMPTON, L. I., Aug. 27.—Andrew W. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury from 1921 to 1932, former Ambassador to the Court of St. James's and one of the leading industrialists of the country, died last evening at 8:10 o'clock at the home of his daughter, Mrs. David K. E. Bruce. He was 82 years old. Mr. Mellon died of uremia and bronchopneumonia. Mrs. Bruce, her husband and her brother, Paul Mellon, were with him at the time of his death. Dr. T. J. Abernethy of Washington, Mr. Mellon's physician, was with him also, with a trained nurse.

Funeral services will be held in Pittsburgh where he had his home, at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow at the East Liberty Presbyterian Church, a magnificent edifice made possible by benefactions of Mellon and his brother.

The body will be started for Pittsburgh about 9 p. m. today aboard the Pioneer, a private car to be attached to a special train to New York bearing members of the Mellon family.

In New York the group will board a regular train, leaving for Pittsburgh at midnight and due in the Pennsylvania city at 8:05 a. m. tomorrow.

During most of the summer Mellon had been staying at the home of his daughter here. In recent weeks he had been unable to leave the house. Within a week or so, however, Bruce had striven to allay fears concerning his father-in-law's health. Mellon, he said, was not ill, but was suffering merely from weaknesses of his advanced age.

Worked on Art Gallery Plans.

At that time, Bruce said he was able to be up and about the house daily and devoted most of his time to planning for the National Art Gallery in Washington, which, with an art collection valued at many millions, is to be his gift to the American people.

This gift had been in his mind for years, and he had added to his collection with the gallery in view always. Excavation for the building, which is to cost $15,000,000 and have a $5,000,000 indowment fund, has been started.

Although he had been far from active since last fall, he went to Pittsburgh in May to speak at the dedication of the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research, which he and his brother, Richard B. Mellon, gave. He remained in Washington during June to keep in close touch with plans for the National Gallery of Art, though he suffered from the severe heat.

In July he came to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Bruce, who had acted as hostess at the American Embassy in London when he was Ambassador from Feb. 5, 1932, to March 17, 1933.

Mellon had intended to make announcement of his plans for the National Gallery of Art in 1933, when he returned from England, his term as Ambassador at an end. He deferred making the announcement, however, until hearings in his income tax should be completed before the Board of Tax Appeals.

Decision in Tax Case Pending.

Charges of tax evasion in 1931 were presented to a Federal grand jury in Pittsburgh in 1934, but that body refused to return an indictment. The Treasury Department, however, renewed its charge of evasion, instituting a suit to recover $3,000,000 in taxes and penalties. Mellon countered with a claim for a refund of $139,000. Final arguments were heard June 11, 1936, and a decision by the Board of Tax Appeals is pending.

In addition to the tax suit instituted by the Government, the Federal Government named Mellon, 36 other individuals and 37 corporations in April, 1937, in an action designated to break the al-
